Six-Year Improvement Schedule Presented by St. Louis Planning Firm

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A custom, $32 million, six-year, capital improvement program was recommended for the City of Appleton Monday.

Starting in 1966, it is geared to have a heavy physical impact on the city, including a $4 million urban renewal project in the College Avenue business district.

The sweeping plan, complete with recommendations for financing improvements "within the city's ability to pay," was formulated by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis, Mo.

Planning Recommendations

About 40 city officials and business leaders Monday afternoon heard the capital improvement recommendations for the period 1966-1971 outlined by Malcolm Drummond, an associate partner with the nationally known St Louis firm.

Last month a plan for rejuvenating the central business district was presented to the city, received considerable support and has since been adopted by the Appleton Council.

Drummond cautioned Appleton residents not to become alarmed by the $32 million figure, emphasizing the five-year program would not present a tax rate hardship if sound financial practices are employed to implement it.

However, Drummond indicated Appleton could not afford holding back on the several proposed projects geared to help the city progress in a sound, orderly manner in the face of rapid growth.

$32 Million Package

The $32 million package — the biggest in the city's history — calls for:

—New water supply via Lake Winnebago, $3.2 million, with construction to begin next year on the pipeline and additional water plant facilities.

—Storm sewers, $3.3 million, and new sanitary sewers, $1.2 million, starting in 1966 and continuing over the next five years.

—Construction of a bridge over the Fox River parallel to Oneida Street, plus approaches, $4.7 million, starting in 1968.

—An Appleton-Oneida Street connection, $170,000, work scheduled in 1967.

—Reconstruction of College Avenue, $500,000, with the first phase beginning in 1967.

Calumet Extension

—Extension of Calumet Street from Oneida Street to Memorial Drive, $500,000, with a 1967 target date.

— General paving projects for the next five years, $3 million, the first phase covering $500,000 worth of work in 1966.

— New public library, $1.4 million, scheduled for 1971 as a start of the proposed downtown civic center.

— A new northwest side fire station, $150,000, to be built next year.

— A sludge incinerator, $250,000, in 1967.

— General park and recreation site improvements, $660,000, over five years.

New Pool

— Construction of a new municipal swimming pool on the city's west side, $300,000, in 1967.

— Central business district improvements, $5.2 million, con-

Johnson First To Vote in His Hometown Poll

LBJ Looks Fit, Keeps His Ballot Hidden From Newsmen

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was the first man to vote in his home polling place today, setting a citizenship example for millions who are casting ballots in off-year elections.

Johnson, deeply tanned and looking fit, showed up to vote a few minutes after the polls opened in this small town — population 611 — where he grew up.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, voted in a bright, flourescent-lighted demonstration kitchen at the headquarters building of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative he helped build nearly 30 years ago.

Big Issue

The big Texas-wide issue in the election was whether to back Gov. John B. Connally's proposal to add two years to the present two-year term for the governor and other state officials. The AFL-CIO campaigned strongly against the Connally proposal to amend the state constitution.

Johnson did not disclose his feelings on the matter. And he carefully shielded his ballot from a group of newsmen and photographers who were permitted to watch him vote.

Red Terrorism in Indonesia Spreads

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist terrorism spread to west Java today as the army strove to put down Red violence in the central and eastern areas of the island, Antara news agency reported.

The agency reported the Communists were attacking the homes of non-Communist organization leaders in the west Java area of Tasikmalaja and had desecrated local mosques.

This was the first reported terror activity in west Java, where several Communist party branches earlier dissolved themselves.

Antara also reported a clash in east Java between 500 members of the youth wing of the party and security forces at Dukuh Karanganjar. The agency said one soldier and four rebels were killed and 16 Communist youths were captured.

The situation was still reported serious in central Java. The newspaper Api said that at least 450 persons have been killed by terrorists in the Bojolali and Klaten areas of central Java.

President Sukarno, in the face of mounting Communist acts of terrorism, belatedly sanctioned Monday martial law that was proclaimed by the army in Java areas.

Sukarno said he decided to sanction the state of war in the two areas becuse the rebel movement that tried to overthrow him Oct. 1 still "threatens the safety of the state, nation and revolution. Immediate and firm actions were required to restore order."

Diplomatic sources said Sukarno's approval of the state of war measure does not necessarily mean that he approves the army's crackdown against the Communists. But the diplomats added Sukarno's latest stand obviously will strengthen the army's hand in suppressing the Communists.

Polaris Sub Successful In First Sea Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The new Polaris nuclear submarine Kamehameha successfully completed its first sea trials Monday.

The Kamehameha is equipped to fire the most advanced Polaris missile, the A3, which has a range of 2,500 nautical miles.

92 Viet Cong Guerrillas Reported Killed in Battle

Cavalrymen Battle at Plei Me, Long Besieged Viet Nam Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat troops reported 92 Communist guerrillas killed and 26 captured in fighting in central Viet Nam today and Monday.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, who arrived in Viet Nam only seven weeks ago, fought three engagements against an enemy force of between 500 and 600 men near the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me, 210 miles north of Saigon.

The airborne cavalrymen reported they killed 88 of the enemy, captured 26 others and picked up 26 suspects. A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese regulars were among those killed and captured.

There was no word on American casualties.

The Plei Me camp underwent a week-long seige before the Communists were routed last week. The cavalrymen have been hunting down Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the area since then.

The Viet Cong attacked an outpost near Qui Nhon, on the coast 260 miles north of Saigon, but a U.S. spokesman said paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division fought off the assault and killed four Viet Cong. The Americans suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

In the northernmost sea rescue of the war, Capt. Norman P. Huggins of Mullins, S.C., was picked up after his plane was hit by conventional ground fire over a Communist surface-to-air missile site 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, a military spokesman reported.

Bailed Out

Huggins headed out over the South China Sea and bailed out 57 miles east of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. He spent an hour in a life raft before he was rescued by a plane piloted by Capt. David P. Westenbarger of Fairfield, Ohio.

Soviet, Chinese Conflict Fatal To Summit Talks

ALGIERS (AP) — The second African-Asian summit conference finally fell apart today, a victim of the fierce political conflict between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Foreign ministers of the African-Asian world buried their hopes for the projected meeting and shelved it indefinitely. Already delayed twice, it was to have opened Friday.

The foreign ministers reluctantly concluded that a summit could not be held now because it would be boycotted by their most powerful member, Red China, and a number of other members.

Peking stayed away from the foreign ministers' conference and warned that it would not at this time attend any conference which included the Soviet Union.

Zealots Try To Halt Vote In Israel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Several hundred religious zealots tried in vain to halt Israel's national elections in Jerusalem today.

Members of the Naturei Karta extremist sect gathered at several polling places and handed out leaflets calling the elections treason and heresy against the Torah. A spokesman said they hoped by their presence to halt voters from entering the booths.

The bearded extremists disbanded quietly upon the arrival of police, and no violence was reported.

Most of the demonstrations took place in the Mea Shearim quarter of the capital, a stronghold of Jewish Orthodoxy. But the extremist action apparently had little effect as Orthodox voters continued to arrive at the polls.

With sunny, cool weather prevailing throughout most of Israel, a good voter turnout was reported. The Israelis were voting for a new parliament, and a political deadlock was possible as a result of veteran David Ben-Gurion's new party.

Minnesota Governor To Start Proceedings Against State Official

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag and the state attorney general, Robert Mattson, announced Monday they will institute legal proceedings to remove Insurance Commissioner Cyrun E. Magnusson from office.

Magnusson was among 17 persons indicted on fraud charges last Friday by a federal grand jury which had probed American Allied Insurance Co., St. Paul.

Joint Statement

France, Russia Call For Peace in Asia

MOSCOW (AP) — France and the Soviet Union called today for a Viet Nam peace settlement based on an end to outside interference in the internal affairs of the divided country.

The proposal — restating a position which both the French and the Soviet governments have taken previously — was made in a joint communique at the end of five days of talks between French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and top Soviet leaders.

The communique contained no joint peace formula, however, and made no specific mention of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

It said the two governments expressed "growing concern" over the "new dangers" for peace stemming from the Viet Nam war.

Geneva Pact

It said the Viet Nam problem should be solved by strict application of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

These agreements, the communique said, "foresee respect for the principles of independence and sovereignty of the states of the Indochina peninsula as well as nonintervention in the internal affairs of these states."

The statement said the French-Soviet talks helped to build understanding between Eastern and Western Europe in a dialogue both sides said they hoped would continue.

The only specific agreement mentioned was a pact to be concluded later covering Soviet-French cooperation in space research It is believed this will apply to joint work on a communications satellite system.

The talks also covered questions of German reunification and the proposed multilateral nuclear force for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Both France and the Soviet Union oppose the force, and French sources said both sides exchanged views on these points and retained their earlier positions.

The sources said Couve de Murville repeated the Western proposal for unification of Germany based on self-determination by the German people.

The Russians again called for recognition of "both German states," but French sources said the Russians had no expectations that the French would recognize Communist East Germany.

They said the status of Berlin was not brought up by the Russians.

Grandfather, 2 Children Die in Fire

SUPERIOR (AP) — A grandfather and two small children died Monday as flames engulfed an aging two-story frame house so quickly that firemen were unable to attempt a rescue.

The three victims were Thomas Podgorak, 70, and his grandchildren, Lorrie Podgorak, 3, and Peter, six months old

The house was leveled by the blaze, and a fireman said, "I don't suppose we'll ever know the cause."

Podgorak was babysitting with the children while his wife and daughter-in-law was shopping The children's father, Peter Podgorak, a truck driver, was at work

Firemen said a woman turned in the alarm shortly after 2 p m By the time trucks reached the house in the Village of Superior, just outside the city, the dwelling was completely enveloped in flames.

Parishioners of Oneida Catholic Church

Brush Back Tears, Vow to Build Again

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ONEIDA — They came all day Sunday and Monday to church

Members of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, the curious, and passersby, came to view what remained of once the proudest, most modern building in a community predominated by aged and weary farm homes and buildings

"We'll build again," Donald Kleuskens, a DePere contractor, said as he stood among the debris which once was the church he supervised in building.

"It will be the same church," he said "We'll be ready to go at it as soon as the place is clear and the insurance is settled."

Hand Labor

"Not a single machine touched the high beams," Kleuskens recalled. "They were all lifted by hand one day when most of the men in the parish came down to help."

The beams, the furnishings in the church, windows and draperies, were all destroyed in the flames, whipped by near gale force winds early Sunday morning.

Authorities suspect the fire was touched off by an arsonist's torch. Two nearby barns owned by parishioners were also burned

The flames were driven by such force that they licked out across busy Outagamie County Trunk E and threatened to destroy the frame rectory across the road

A metal cross on top a bell tower outside the church was weakened by heat and lay bent, pointing the direction of the winds.

'Pull Together'

The "help" which built this church in nine months four years ago, will come again, Kleuskens said "This kind of thing pulls a church parish together."

The Rev. Adrian Traeger, pastor, was busy late Monday with insurance agents who surveyed the wreckage preparatory to making adjustments. Kleuskens said the building was "well insured" and the church will not be lacking funds when construction time comes, sometime in the sprng.

Even though, a strolling visitor, obviously not a member of this Catholic parish, suggested that a donation box, placed outside the church door, would be filled by other passersby.

'Built It Good'

Others, men and some women, said they would respond to a call to rebuild the church. Some, who had worked at the building the first time, four years ago, said "we built it good We didn't feel we would have to be rebuilding it"

"When I built that doorway," Kleuskens said, pointing to a pile of brick rubble near where the alter once stood, "I planned on being buried right through the door." The door leads from the church to a small parish cemetery only a few feet away.

The parish will celebrate mass in the basement of the immaculate Conception School. Nuns have already borrowed a portable organ from a church in Freedom A church goods supplier will provide an alter.

The parish has been offered services of the Freedom church as well as the building housing the Methodist church north of the burned out Catholic church.

Father Traeger, however, will keep the parish together for the time being, a nun said, "and we will make do in the basement."

Bells Silent

The flames damaged the bell tower rope and supports over the statue of the Blessed Mother in front of the church The bell, Sunday, was silent for the first time since the tower construction, two years ago. Farmers in nearby fields were used to hearing the bells before services and at noon.

One parish member, pressing close to the statue was pleased to learn "that She still smiled." The statue was unharmed except for some roof tar which dripped on its shoulder Witnesses to the fire said the flames at her back were the hottest in the fire."

One elderly lady, holding onto the arm of her husband, stood quietly beyond the roped area, and watched.

"It was too bad," she said. "It was a hard year—first the crops—and now this. It really was too bad."

She and her husband picked their way beyond the rope and stood at what once was the magnificent glass doorway. Twisted beams which once supported the doors to the church, lay curled at their feet. They did not talk, but the older man walked ahead into the damaged building.

The woman paused for only a second—to put a covering over her head—then she followed her husband into the church.

Luci, Pat Refuse to Comment on Romance Rumor

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You know I can't say anything," was Luci Johnson's reaction Monday to reports she has asked her parents' permission to marry 22-year-old Pat Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

And Nugent was similarly noncommittal when queried as to the state of his romance with the President's 18-year-old daughter.

"My private life is my own and so is Luci's," said the tall blond Marquette University graduate.

Luci was reached in person for the first time since the report Friday that she flew to the LBJ ranch in Texas to ask parental permission to marry Nugent.

On Way to Church

She was leaving a two-hour session in Georgetown University's science building at dusk and said she was rushing to church.

"It's a holy day of obligation (All Saints Day) and I have to get to 5:30 p.m. mass — if I miss it I'll be in trouble," Luci apologized. She entered a White House car and was driven away.

There has been no White House confirmation or denial of the report that Luci was trying to persuade the President to let her mary Nugent, who is about to enter military service.

Nugent, 23, from Waukegan, Ill., first dated Luci June 4 when he escorted the President's daughter, who was disguised in a wig, to the Marquette graduation prom.

Active Duty Soon

Nugent revealed that he is going on active military duty next month. His current draft status is 1-D, which indicates he is already a member of an armed forces reserve unit.

It Has Been disclosed that Irene Boyd McAlpin and John A. Roosevelt, the son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, were married Thursday at her parents' home in New York City. The couple is honeymooning for a month in Europe. They will reside at Hyde Park, N.Y. (AP Wirephoto)

Nugent said he had enlisted, but would not say in which branch.

He and Luci flew back to Washington Sunday night after weekending at the LBJ ranch with the Johnson family. Nugent, who is employed at the district commissioner's advisory Council on Higher Education, was in his office this morning and politely, but firmly turned away inquiries.

Nugent said, "It is strictly a personal thing."

Marriage Vows Said

NEENAH — John J. Bruecker claimed Miss Patricia Salter as his bride at 1 p.m. Oct. 16 at St. Gabriel Catholic Church. The Rev Michael J. Clifford celebrated the nuptial mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Salter, route 1, Unity. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bruecker, route 1, Black Creek.

A sister of the bridegroom, Miss Anna Jane Bruecker, acted as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Martin and Mrs. Alice Glodowski.

Mrs. Bruecker attended the Appleton Vocational and Adult School. She and her husband are employed at the Neenah Foundry Co.

Bride-Elect Feted at Shower

HORTONVILLE — Miss Joan McKeever was honored at a prenuptial shower Oct. 4 at the Silver Dome Ballroom. Greenville Co-hostesses were Mrs. Richard Haase, Mrs. James Griesbach, Mrs. Keith Griesbach, Mrs. Alan Bohl, Miss Judy Griesbach, Miss Sheri Griesbach, Miss Pat McKeever and Mrs. James McKeever.

The bride-elect, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McKeever, route 1, Hortonville, will become the bride of Elton J. Griesbach Saturday at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Griesbach, 210 Union St.

Not Enough To Just Beat Declarer

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you're defending at rubber bridge you make sure of the setting trick and then look around for extra tricks In tournament bridge you must sometimes look for the extra trick before you have made quite sure of the setting trick.

West opens the ace of diamonds and switches to the three of hearts. At rubber bridge East would take the ace of hearts and return a diamond for West to ruff. West would cash the king of hearts to take the setting trick, and both defenders would go on to the next hand glowing with satisfaction

This is not enough in tournament bridge, "The Complete

Book of Duplicate Bridge" points out This fine new book by Norman Kay, Fred Karpin and the late Sidney Silodor observes that East-West should try for 200 points.

If East trusts his partner, he should play the queen of hearts at the second trick instead of the ace of hearts If West is a fine player he will lead the three of hearts only if he has a high heart, which must be the king If West's hearts were headed by the ten he would lead the ten or some such high card to indicate that there is no future in the suit from his point of view.

Gets Two Ruffs

If East wins the second trick with the queen of hearts he can lead a diamond for West to ruff, and West then leads another heart to the ace to get a second diamond ruff.

The same result is accomplished if East takes the ace of hearts first and returns the ten of diamonds to indicate that he has a possible entry in the high side suit (hearts rather than clubs). West ruffs and leads a low heart to the queen instead of cashing the king of hearts

Either method produces 200 points instead of just 100 points for the defenders This is splendid and necessary in tournaments, but a waste of time at rubber bridge Suit your methods to the game you are playing.

Your Problems

Lavender Cadillac Worse Than A Hearse, Parents Tell Landers

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I didn't think much of your answer to the parents who complained about their daughter's boy friend. The young man worked for his uncle who is a mortician. When he went calling on his girl, he often rode over in a hearse and then parked in front of the girl's house. Our daughter should be so lucky. She is dating a shady character who appeared out of nowhere. He has plenty of money to spend but no one seems to know for sure if he works or where. My husband thinks he is a bookie.

lavender Cadillac with white sidewall tires and a built-in TV. If you think the hearse is a conversation piece, you should see the way our neighbors stand around and gawk.

Some parents don't know when they are well off. I would like you to print this letter. It may cheer those folks up.—Not Happy

Dear Not: Here's the letter and I hope it makes everybody feel better. I've heard from several funeral directors, however, and they don't feel so good. Please read on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You frequently state in your column that you welcome professional advice. As a funeral director I'd like to say that the young man who used the funeral coach for social calls was guilty of a breach of business ethics.

A family who has suffered a recent bereavement does not appreciate seeing a hearse employed as a vehicle of convenience or pleasure.

Every profession and trade has a code to guide the conduct of its members. If that young man does not know better than to go visiting his girl in a hearse, someone did an exceedingly poor job of training him—V.T.W.

Dear V.H.W.: Thanks for your letter. I agree—a hearse should not be used as a joy wagon and I'm happy you set the young man straight.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a woman who insists that her husband take his annual vacation when she goes to the hospital for a check-up so he can come and visit her every day?

The doctors put her through every test under the sun but they couldn't find anything wrong with her. Nobody was surprised. The woman is a constant complainer. This couple could have gone to Europe five times on the money he has spent on doctors and hospital bills in the last twenty years.

The husband who got gypped out of his vacation is a very good guy. His wife is a sour puss. This stunt is typical of her. I am in a position to give you facts, not gossip, because I'm a relative, but I'm not saying who. Please print your answer. Thank you.—Mad

Dear Mad: You don't need to say who. I can guess. So why did you let your wife talk you into it?

A person who is in the hospital for a cpeck-up is usually occupied and-or exhausted. One hour's visit after work would have been plenty for both of you. Too bad, Dad.

Oily Hair Problem

A lovely writes: I was led to believe that my teens and my oily hair would depart together. Not so! I still have the problem. What I hate most about it is the dull look of my hair. With all that oil, you'd think it would sparkle a little. Please advise.

The Answer: Teen beauty problems — hair, weight, skin — often carry over into adult years, particularly if they have been allowed to ride. A girl seldom "just naturally" outgrows anything, except her clothes.

Fortunately it is never too late to get working on the oily hair problem. Until the oil is cleared away, the hair will never sparkle for more than a day after shampooing. Excess oil dulls the hair, much like an overdose of oily polish dulls a table top. An efficient remedial program follows:

Shampoo Frequently

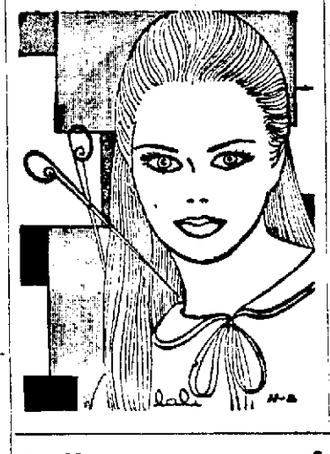

—Shampoo at least twice weekly and do use suds designed to treat oily conditions. Dry by fluffing with hands or with drier turned to low. To set, thereafter, dampen with clear lotion or gel and dry quickly. Take hair down as soon as it dries.

—To control oil between shampoos, apply astringent tonic to scalp and blot with terry towel.

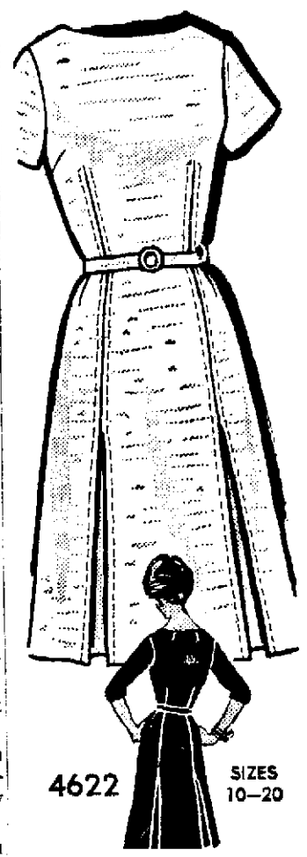

—Brush daily, with clean brush, so as to distribute oil from scalp to ends.

—Periodically sun and air hair, but avoid long exposure to heat and cold.

—To facilitate treatment, wear hair short. 1965 short!

Rust Streaks Could Come From Nails

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Although the TV antenna fastened to the chimney is aluminum, there are rusty streaks spreading away from its base. Before this condition gets any worse, I'd like to correct it, if you'll tell me how.

A: It's not the antenna's fault; it's the non-rustproff screws used to hold the fittings. The man could perfectly easily have used rustproof screws in the first place. Either remove them and substitute the non-rusting screws or dab spar varnish over the rusty screws so that the weather can't get at them.

Q: Once our fireplace gets going, it throws out very nice heat. But it's such a job getting a fire started in the first place. Is there any way to speed it up?

A: Try this: Get the fire all set to go. Then light a good-sized twist of newspaper and shove it well up the throat of the chimney—as far as you can comfortably reach. This quick heat will get the column of air in the chimney started upward. So when you light the fire itself, it should have an easier time.

To increase the draft, make the fireplace opening smaller by holding a large piece of cardboard or metal over the top third of the opening. This will give more concentration of air flow over the fire.

Q: In one spot, the veneer on a bureau top has bulged upward. Is it possible to flatten this bubble?

A: Not only possible but quite simple. Slice across the bubble with a razor blade. Through the slit, run a thin blade with clear epoxy adhesive and butter the underside of the bubble. Press down, wipe up any excess quickly, and weight down until cement hardens.

Challenge of Change

Mixed-Up World Sparks Revolution

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

In a few words, a famous psychiatrist summed up what many or even most people are feeling nowadays:

"We seem to be living in a crazy, mixed-up world," said Dr. William Menninger of Topeka, Kan.

"Things are changing so fast — it's no wonder we all feel confused or anxious or get browned off at times. Where are we going, what is happening to us?"

First of Series

Dr. Menninger was commenting on a basic human tribulation of our day — the fact that we are living through a great and dynamic revolution.

It is a revolution born out of accelerating advances in science, engineering and technology, zooming in an upward curve in the last 20 years especially.

It has created fantastic boons and powers and knowledge. And it still is only in its kindergarten stage.

Rapid Change

It also has brought topsy-turvy rapid change, new problems, fears and ethical dilemmas, frustrating questions and some shocking contradictions.

Yet it also is creating the greatest opportunity in history for human beings to realize their fullest potentials.

Are we any happier for it? Just what has this revolution done to us and for us, even against us? What lies ahead?

In interviews and in their writings, the views of dozens of specialists in many fields were sought for this series of articles.

"Well, I doubt that people are any happier now than 20 years ago," says Dr. John Enders of Harvard, who won a Nobel Prize for virus research that made polio vaccines possible.

"We are in a real transition period," he adds. "We have introduced new forces in human evolution.

"Now we have the power to override and change our old environment. Unless we learn how to manipulate that power, and to control our emotions, I think we are in for a bad time.

"If we act with foresight, all things should fall into place and make for more satisfying living. If that kind of influence is allowed to prevail, we have some hope."

Knowledge — and therefore new powers — follow along. In fact, our total amount of scientific and technological knowledge now is estimated to be doubling every 10 years.

This augurs tremendous new human abilities yet to come.

Some experts predict the conquest of cancer and heart disease . . . the transplanting of borrowed human legs, kidneys or hearts to replace missing or ill organs . . . "smartness" pills and drugs to jog sputtering memories . . . the ability to prevent or correct some congenital defects and inherited diseases . . .

But every change affects or upsets the old order or equalibrium, our ways of doing things, usually with unforeseen consequences.

More Adults

If in humanitarian steps babies are saved from dying unnecessarily, a society later may face the tragedy of more adults going hungry and jobless . . . automobiles let us travel far and fast but also into the morass of traffic jams . . .

Most Americans now are well-fed and comfortable but one-sixth of U.S. families live in poverty . . . automation and computers help send national productivity and wealth soaring but slice away former jobs . . . new and young nations and old countries also are eager to climb aboard the train of modern technology, and to possess stupendous new weapons of war . . .

Air and water become more polluted . . . social and economic blights fester in cities . . . insecticides and detergents bring unexpected boomerangs . . . how, we wonder, can anyone keep up with all he's told he ought to know . . . ?

Such are some dimensions, broad, confusing, unsettling, of the new revolution.

Is man, some people ask, destined to become merely a by-product of a technical society? Or can we bend these new powers to human benefit?

Much as we might nostalgically wish for it, the scientific revolution cannot simply be called off, even to give time to digest the changes so far, says Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Quit Research?

Quitting the search to find and use new knowledge would soon make this country a second-class power, weakening its security and its resources for maintaining and expanding employment and a higher standard of living, he says.

But what of the individual, human problem of living through a turmoil of change?

"Our value systems come into question in a time of rapid change," Dr. Menninger remarks. "Do we have the wisdom and emotional maturity to handle our new environment? And what can a person hold on to during change?

"Well, I have long held the opinion that individuals who reach an advanced age and stay alert and interested and curious, have reached this point because they were able to continue to grow even in their later years. To me this means they were able to change as change was demanded and this is the big challenge facing all of us now."

(Tomorrow: Revolution in Health)

Editor's Note: Can man cope with the dizzying changes wrought by the technological revolution of the last two decades? Scientific knowledge is estimated to be doubling every 10 years. What is the impact of upheaval on society? Alton Blakeslee, Associated Press science writer, examines the "Challenge of Change," in the first of a 10-part series on the scientific age — its problems, its promises and its future.

Soldiers Ignore Demonstrations

Amusement Ends As Aid Sent to Viet Cong

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — While some Americans are dying in combat in far away Asian jungles, others at home are getting their exercise by walking around carrying placards reading "Get out of Viet Nam."

No American probably would rather get us out of Viet Nam more than the one who is over there doing his sweaty duty.

During a recent visit to Viet Nam, I asked many soldiers what their reaction was to the campus agitation back home against our military policy.

Surprisingly, I found it rather tolerant.

"That's kid stuff," some said. "Anyway, it's a free country."

But there was a point at which their wry amusement ceased. That was when they read that some protestors were raising funds to send medical supplies to the Viet Cong.

Honest Anger

Invariably this stirred honest anger in every serviceman I talked to. They regarded such efforts as a form of home front traitorism that gave aid and comfort to the enemy. They felt such efforts were a danger to their own existence.

The right of protest against the conduct of his government is a right inherent to every man.

But the present minority protest against U.S. policy in Viet Nam has assumed a sinister pattern, in some cases.

It is not mere college cuteness that puts out information to young men on how they can beat the draft. This is a step against the pattern of our survival as a nation, and the government has a right to act in its own self-defense.

Service Uncomfortable

There is a difference between the conscientious objector who refuses combat duty because it violates his religious principles, and one who seeks to avoid service because he is a coward or finds such service uncomfortable.

It is quite possible to serve one's country without pulling a trigger. But it is another thing to avoid serving one's country by feigning illness or pretending homosexualism.

Such advice is being issued to our youth from some quarters, and this is an act of conspiracy against our national safety. Those who give such counsel are available to legal punishment.

I happen to know of one young man who escaped military service by pretending to be a homosexual. He was exceptionally brillant, and I never knew for sure whether he did what he did because he was a coward or because he thought he was being clever.

Fool Draft Board

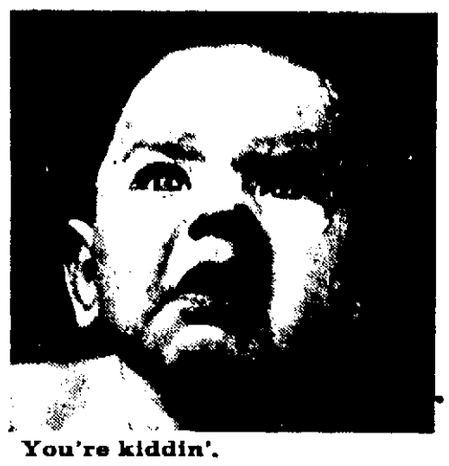

He managed to fool the draft board, but he could not fool himself—nor could he fool his friends.

His folly ruined his life. He became a prisoner of his own shame and guilt and came to hate himself utterly. And these feelings will kill any man's possibility of achievement.

He escaped wearing his country's uniform, but ever since then he has been unable to take off the hairshirt of his own disdain.

The plain fact of life is that any man who intends to remain a man must be prepared to protect his human herd whenever it is in peril—if necessary at the price of his own existence.

Avoidance of duty is always a form of self-mutilation.

K-C Opposed To Jet Service At Winnebago

Official Says New Craft Will Harm Flexibility, Traffic

OSHKOSH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. said today it is opposed to jet service by North Central airlines at Winnebago County Airport.

Roger Baird, corporation secretary, said jet service would undoubtedly cut down on flexibility of North Central schedules.

Jet service, he explained, would cut time off actual flying time but time needed for landing patterns, loading and unloading would remain approximately the same.

His firm, he said, would choose between airports on a selfish basis, the airport that would offer the greatest flexibility and number of flights would get the business

Jet service will cut down on the number of flights available. Continued Convair flights would undoubtedly increase, he said.

He told the board the county could expect to lose some business and possibly a decrease in revenues should jet service become a reality. He suggested the board seriously consider all advantages and disadvantages of the airport expansion before commiting themselves to the expenditure.

He said he was speaking only for his firm,, but that he was sure other large passenger users in the northern part of the county would choose the airport which offered the most schedule flexibility and number of flights.

A New House of Worship will soon stand at College Avenue and Meade Street. The new Memorial Presbyterian Church, designed by John Sonmerville and Associates, Green Bay, architects, will be completed by the fall of 1966 at the cost of about $360,000. The new unit will include a church seating 300 people, a church school, sanctuary, fellowship hall and an administrative unit. The present church, located at Drew Street and College Avenue, will be sold. The Rev. Clifford J. Pierson is pastor. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Supervisor Takes Exception To Twin City Airport Stand

E. G. Steinhilber Says Cost Figures on Airport Way Off

OSHKOSH — Supv. E. G. Steinhilber today took exception to the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce stand on airport expenditures and said Winnebago County has invested but between $800,000 and $900,000 in its port.

He made the statements at a Winnebago County Board hearing this morning on contemplated airport improvements expected to total $1.9 million.

If the county spends the funds requested, which he said are slightly under $1 million, "we would still be under what Outagamie County has paid for its airport."

Steinhilber said the additional cost to complete the Winnebago County airport would bring the county share to $1,845,765 compared with the $2,800,000 or thereabouts paid by Outagamie County for its airport — which has only one runway and none of the facilities Oshkosh has.

He said the terminal may have to be enlarged as time goes on.

Twin City Delegation

"I am glad to see some people here from Neenah-Menasha even though it is far from the 500 to 600 requested to be here," Steinhilber declared.

"I wish more from Neenah-Menasha were here, they would learn some facts they do not get in the news media they are subjected to there."

The present expansion request is a crash program, and the airport committee had only a short time to work on this, the Oshkosh supervisor continued.

He was critical of the Neenah-Menaha Chamber of Commerce opposition to budgeting for the airport expansion and quoted from statements of the chamber of commerce letter sent to supervisors and from the reply by the citizens committee for the Winnebago County airport.

Criticizes Newspaper

As to a downward trend in originating passenger traffic at the airport, Steinhilber declared there was a decrease in September due to weather conditions but that the October traffic was up from 3,044 in September to 3,348 in October.

He also criticized some of the Twin City News-Record and Post-Crescent stories and editorials. He asked why the Post-Crescent and New-Record were asking for a referendum in Winnebago County. "It never backed a referendum in Outagamie County, but wants to tell us what to do in our county," Steinhilber stated.

He objected to several statements made by Martin Kuether at a chamber of commerce meeting Friday in Neenah, as reported in the Post-Crescent Saturday. These statements were the airport would be of benefit to only a few citizens; that the county had $300,000 available from utility taxes and the airport investment was $5 million dollars.

Quotes Survey

Steinhilber quoted from the engineering survey made of the county airport which listed the entire cost to acquire and develop the airport from 1940 to 1963 was $2,524,000. Of this amount $747,000 was private money. This leaves $1,776,800 of which half at least was furnished by the federal government. The county tax money then is in the neighborhood of $800,000 to $900,000. "Figure it at $888,400

He then called attention to the relocation of State 26, which according to the state highway engineer, could be rerouted without hurting traffic. The need for a new State 26 is 10 to 15 years away, according to the state engineer.

He quoted LeRoy Empey, state highway commission district engineer as estimating the cost to upgrade the present highway at $406,000 and the cost of relocating being about $3,000 higher.

The county has to upgrade county Trunk I, Oregon Street Road, in any event, Steinhilber said The construction cost for the 1½ mile urban section of County Trunk I was run about $225,000 to $250,000 per mile.

LU Concert Band Host to Music Clinic

Lawrence University concert bandsmen will be host group to Wisconsin school musicians and their directors at a band materials clinic Saturday in the Lawrence Memorial Chapel. The program, an annual preview of school music festival scores, will begin at 1 p.m.

The Lawrence musicians will read from 35 newly published works, many of them by contemporary composers, including Aaron Copland and Norman Dello Joio.

Copland's composition entitled "Emblems" is his first for band. It was commissioned recently by the College Band Directors' Association.

Dello Joio, composer of "A New York Portrait," was recipient of a Lawrence honorary doctoral degree in music in 1957.

Lawrence band conductor Fred G. Schroeder, professor of music, has announced that both the visiting bandsmen and their conductors are welcome to participate with the university musicians in playing the festival materials.

Kimberly Man Is Fined $50 As Disorderly

Refusal to heed an order by county authorities who were investigating a car accident cost a 33-year-old Kimberly man $50 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge Monday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Harold A Tessens, 234 Darboy Road, Kimberly was fined following his plea of guilty.

Sheriff Calvin Spice, who made the arrest, said Tessens interfered with the investigation after a police chase and car crash on S. Sidney Street in Kimberly about 1 a.m Monday.

Tessens had refused to obey an order to leave the scene.

Inquest Set in Traffic Deaths

Witnesses Will be Questioned About Greenville Crash

An inquest into circumstances surrounding a triple fatality traffic accident in the Town of Greenville Oct. 1 will begin at 2 p.m. Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 3, Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said today.

Three members of a Park Falls family were killed in the two-car headon crash on U.S. 45. They were Charles R. Bradle, 19, driver of one of the cars; his sister, Ruth, 10, and brother, Michael, 2

Driver of the other car was Gregory R. Popke, 19, 604 Wallace St., New London. He was not seriously injured in the accident, which occured about 7:20 p.m.

Inspected Scene

A coroner's jury inspected the accident scene Oct. 9, and since then witnesses have been questioned, Kemps said.

Statements have been taken from Mrs Evelyn Bradle, 40, mother of the three vistims, who still is confined in Appleton Memorial Hospital, and Miss Sandra Wehrman, 16, Park Falls, who was a passenger in the Bradle car and who recently was transferred to a Park Falls hospital.

Five other witnesses have been subpoenaed and will be questioned, Kemps said.

Anticipate Less Than $2 Tax Rate Hike in Appleton

Budget Trimmed to $11,831,141 With $7,157,650 to be Raised Through Taxes; Hearing Nov. 17

On the basis of a slimmed down estimate, Appleton property owners can expect a tax rate increase of less than $2 for 1966.

The report came from city officials Monday as they made preparations for the $11,831,141 budget to be reviewed by the Appleton Council Wednesday night.

As the budget now stands, it calls for a levy (money to be raised by taxes) of $7,157,650.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell was the first to sound an optimistic note Monday afternoon when he said the increase in the rate should be less than $2 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

"A Real Job"

"Considering the new school construction and other projects, I think a real job was accomplished in holding the increase down this year," Mitchell said.

However, he noted some council committees are apparently thinking of recommending additions to the proposed budget which could boost the levy.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, feels the budget should remain as proposed by his committee which was originally faced with departmental requests totaling more than $12 million dollars and called for $5.98 rate hike.

When the finance committee met at the city hall Monday night, Tews inquired as to the state of the proposed budget and predicted surplus.

$250,000 Surplus

Finance Director Henry Schreve said he had time to make a final determination on the surplus that could be applied to reduce the levy and came up with a $250,000 figure.

Originally, it was estimated there might be a surplus of $375,000 but Schreve said he had some doubts about that figure. In checking out the various budget surpluses appeared in two places.

Schreve explained this accounted for over-estimating the surplus.

Schreve said by applying $250,000 (surplus) to reduce the proposed tax levy, it would mean the tax rate would increase by only $1.70.

"The increase should definitely be under $2 unless a lot of items are added to the proposed budget," Schreve commented.

Firm Estimate

Repyying to a question from Tews, the finance director said his $250,000 surplus estimate was now a firm figure.

Ald John MacDonald (7th), a member of the personnel committee, said his group intended to make recommendations to the council on salary and fringe benefits for municipal employes.

Money has been earmarked in the budget for salary adjustments and other municipal employee benefits during the coming year.

When holding a committee of the whole session following their regular meeting Wednesday night, aldermen will go over the proposed budget item by item.

The council will then authorize its publication and the public hearing will be held the night of Nov. 17 with the tax rate to be set then.

Tri-County Expressway Land Purchase Sought By Appleton Planners

Commission Asks Council to Okay, Negotiate for Transaction

Purchase of a second segment of the proposed Tri-County Expressway right-of-way along the city's southeast fringe was recommended Monday by the Appleton Plan Commission.

The commission acted after receiving an offer from Park Hills Investors, Inc to sell 34 lots to the city for $65,000.

Last month the common council approved purchase of a stretch of land reserved for expressway purposes in the area of the Colony Oaks subdivision—also on the southeast side.

The commission asked the council to okay the purchase and then instruct the board of public works to negotiate for the land. It is undeveloped, having been put on the city map a year ago and reserved for expressway purposes.

See Reimbursement

City officials have been led to believe Appleton will be reimbursed by the federal and state governments for land acquisitions once the expressway project is programmed and state-federal aids are available.

The commission also unanimously reaffirmed its recommendation that Appleton seek an urban planning grant from the federal government to prepare an annexation study and master plan for the park system.

At the last council meeting, Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) had the matter referred back to the commission because he wanted more information.

City's Share $7,000

Thompson attended Monday's meeting and was told the two studies will cost about $21,000 with the city's share amounting to about $7,000

It was explained that at one of the previous council meetings aldermen approved the cost of the studies and adoption of the grant resolution was a formality in applying for aids

"We need a long-range capital improvement program — like a master plan — for the park system," commented William Wachtendonk, park board president.

In other action, the commission recommended property owners be contacted to see if they will deed the necessary land to the city for extending Fremont Street and Bluebird Lane from Telulah Avenue to the Appleton High School East site.

4-Year-Old Boy Treated At Appleton Memorial For Accident Injuries

Ty Tyrrell, 4, 529 E. Lincoln St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of bruises he received about 4 p.m. Monday when he ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Ruth B. Nass, 2306 S. Carpenter St.

Mrs. Nass told police she was driving south on Lawe Street, near Lincoln Street, when the boy ran into the right front door of her car.

Children at Play Unattended Get Blame for Fire

Unattended children playing with matches in a bedroom were blamed for a fire at the Carol Pachinski home, 1945 N. Harriman St., shortly before 2 p.m. Monday. There were no injuries.

Appleton police received the first call on the fire, from a neighbor who said smoke was coming from the building.

Police went to the scene and found a youngster outside the building. They checked the inside of the home for other children, but soon were forced out by dense smoke.

Appleton firemen, who were summoned by police, extinguished the fire which was confined to the mattress and other bedding. A portion of a wall also was blackened, firemen said. Firemen remained at the home about a half hour.

Further investigation is being conducted, according to Appleton authorities.

Loitering Nets Term for Youth

Milwaukee Resident To Take Lie Test in Fire Investigation

Richard Cornelius, 19, a former rural De Pere resident now living in Milwaukee, was sentenced to 20 days in jail Monday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of loitering in a liquor tavern.

Cornelius appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a complaint signed by Undersheriff Norbert Marx, who told the court the young man was in Van's Valley Tavern, Town of Oneida, between 1:30 and 2 a.m. Sunday and again about 8 a.m. Sunday.

The Milwaukee man was taken to Madison this morning by Outagamie County authorities after he consented to take a lie detector test in connection with the fire that destroyed Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Oneida early Sunday.

Arsonist Sought

Cornelius has been questioned by authorities who believe the $110,000 church blaze and the fires that destroyed two nearby barns owned by parishioners, is the work of an arsonist.

Also taken to Madion for examination by specialists at the state crime laboratory were several items of clothing, footprint samples found near the church Sunday, blood samples and fingerprints found inside the newly constructed but not yet occupied convent on the grounds of Immaculate Conception Church

Cornelius is one of five young men picked up by authorities after the church fire The other four were released after questioning.

Mitchell Fills Board Vacancy

Walter Nissen, 129 W Foster St., was appointed the 10th Ward supervisor on the Outagamie County Board today by Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

The position became vacant with the death of Adam C. Romley earlier in the year.

Nissen, retired, will serve an unexpired term which ends May 1, 1966 He was a candidate for the position in the 1964 election.

Police Investigating Complaints of Fight, Driving Too Closely

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating two complaints reported over the weekend, one involving a fight outside a local beer tavern and the other improper driving by a young man.

Police were called to the Log Cabin Bar, E Main Street, Sunday night where they were told, a fight was in progress in the parking lot. On arrival police could find no evidence of trouble.

A woman complained to police Sunday afternoon, a young man followed her closely as she was driving through the business district and no matter how she tried to elude the man, he continued driving close behind her. She told police, his method of driving so closely to her car created a traffic hazard.

Police Investigate $75 Theft From Car

Appleton police are investigating theft of a "rally pac" from a new car at Van Steen Motors, 325 W Washington St The theft was reported Monday

The car from which the items, including gauges and a tachometer, were stolen was parked on a lot across from the garage Value of the loss was set at $75.

Oshkosh Group Cites 5 Points to Back Port Work

Expansion for Jet Service by '67 Backed by Winnebago Citizens

OSHKOSH — Five reasons why Winnebago County Airport should be expanded now to handle jet service in early 1967 were argued in a letter to the Winnebago County Board members this morning from the Citizens Committee for the Winnebago County Regional Airport

The letter was signed by M Edward Kelly, executive vice president of the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the citizens' committee

His points were:

That the Winnebago County Airport will be the major terminal for North Central Airlines in the Winnebagoland area regardless of the final decision by the federal court of appeals

If the court reverses the CAB decision, Kelly said the result will be that Appleton will retain its limited air service, Winnebago County Airport will retain its present service and Outagamie County Airport will not be named as the regional airport He based this last premise on a statement from CAB examiner Edward T Stodata to the effect that because of its location the Outagamie Airport could not properly serve as a regional airport

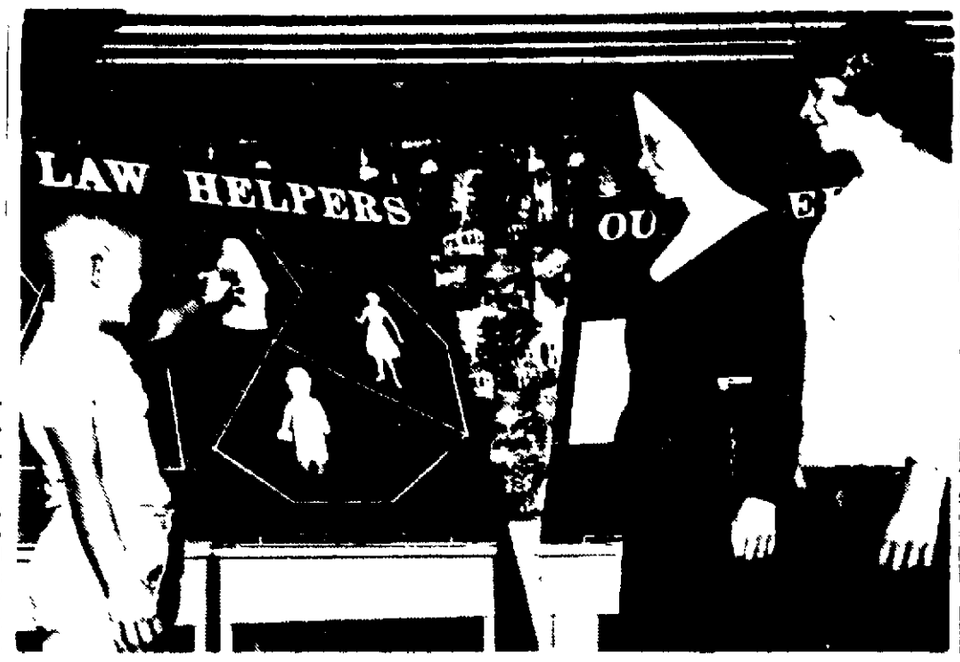

2 That North Central has already committed itself to future scheduled flights and equipment North Central has testified it has ordered DC-9 jet aircraft for scheduled use in Wisconsin in early 1967 and Winnebago County Airport is on the initial schedule while Appleton is not

3 The originating passenger trend is up, not down Kelly said in 1964 the number of originating passengers at the Winnebago County Airport was 34,470 for an average of 2,800 per month As of September 1965, a 9-month period, there have been 28 962 passengers originating for an average of 3,218 per month or 400 passengers per month more than in 1964

4 That a schedule of all contemplated airport improvements and expansions has already been published He said the engineering evaluation study of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff contained a detailed three-stage improvement program

Kelly said the citizens Aviation Committee of Neenah-Menasha in early 1963 agreed to support the continued development of the Winnebago County Airport in the Howard Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff study concluded the airport was safe and was capable of expansion to service the future needs for air service in the Winnebago County area

5 That the extension of the north-south runway and its effect on State 26 is a moot point He declared the state highway department now has shown State 26 can be rerouted on State 44 and that future plans to relocate State 26 may well cost less money than to reconstruct existing State 26.

Looking At a Bulletin Board showing various types of authority are from left Greg Levendosky, son of Mr. and Mrs LeRoy Levendosky, Sister St Mary, principal at St Pius X School, and Jeanne Kronser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Joseph Kronser A panel discussion by various persons responsible for maintaining law and order culminated a study by 100 fifth graders on the various types of law and authority. Panelists included John Zahn, a parent, Patrolman James Cotter, Rev Lyle Danen and Sister St Mary. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Schools Mark Book Week

All Classes at Kimberly Junior High Participate

KIMBERLY — National book week is being observed at John R Gerritts Junior High School this week in cooperation with teachers and the school librarians

Teachers are attempting to carry out some project or program in their subject which requires students to make use of library facilities rather than their normal textbooks. Bookmarks were distributed to students in all grades

A large house, utilizing paper book covers, was built by five students. A list of favorite books will be distributed to students following a poll

Typing classes already have typed a theme about their favorite books and English classes have required themes, brief reports and a 20-question quiz on the Newbery award winners since 1922 Usually this award goes to books of interest to junior high school age students

History classes have held discussions on how ideas recorded in books from the past are the realities for which we are striving today. Particular emphasis was placed on the Viet Nam picture today in relation to causes and principles recorded in the past

Mathematics classes utilized a library book of puzzle quizzes to interest students in the many aspects of mathematics open to them through research in the library and reading of books.

Oshkosh to Get Luxury Apartments

OSHKOSH — A citizens group has completed purchase arrangements for Legion on the Lake property to develop a luxury apartment complex

The group, headed by George C. Fause, Carl E. Steiger, William A Steiger and Charles F Nolan said Cook Fuller Post No 70 has approved an option for the property which they call one of the most desirable pieces in the Fox Valley area

A corporation will be formed to erect and manage the building

Plans call for an enclosed year-round swimming pool, elevators, indoor parking, air-conditioning, social rooms and a sun deck, developers said

Details will be announced later by the developers, pending arrangements on zoning and financing The apartments are scheduled to open in 1967.

'Course Critique' Sells Out in Hour

SEATTLE, Wash (AP) — Students at the University of Washington graded their 600 professors Monday Only 34 of them got "A"s

The first 1,000 copies of the "Course Critique," published by the associated students, sold out in less than an hour The students plan to publish 7,500 copies of the survey, which was compiled from about 6,000 questionnaires

History professor Giovanni Costigan, who received an "A," called the critique a "symptom of student disquietude with a number of aspects of university life."

Another professor, who got a "D minus," declined comment.

Mortar Board Lecture Set On Production

Italian dramatist Ugo Betti and his play "The Queen and the Rebels" will be the topic of a public lecture at 7 p m Thursday in the Colman Hall lounge at Lawrence University. The program is first on the season's Mortar Board series entitled "The Play's the Thing."

Speakers are Delmar Karlen, Garrison, N. Y., a university senior, and Fred Fett, technical director for Lawrence University Theatre.

The program concerns the background for the theater's first production of the season, which will run Nov. 10-13 in Stansbury Theatre.

Karlen, a history major, will discuss the play's hypothetical revolutionary setting in relation to historical revolutions of the 20th century.

Fett, a 1965 Lawrence graduate, is scenic designer and technical head of the upcoming production. He is acting as assistant to director F. Theodore Cloak in the absence of Joseph Hopfensperger, assistant professor of theater and drama, who is on a study leave from the university.

Lectures in the Mortar Board series will be presented before each of the three major productions in the Lawrence Theatre season.

Early Battle Won in War of Peanut Butter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruth Desmond scents victory in her crusade for more peanuts in peanut butter

"We are hopeful," Mrs Desmond said after she and her Federation of Homemakers won a preliminary round before a Food and Drug Administration examiner Monday.

The industry is battling hard It says stabilizers derived from vegetable oils and other materials have vastly improved the product and led to skyrocketing sales to satisfied consumers.

Examiner William E. Brennan is conducting a hearing on a proposed FDA rule that peanut butter be composed 90 per cent of peanuts

Mrs Desmond wants the FDA to go further She says peanut butter should consist 95 per cent of peanuts, and anything less should be labeled "peanut spread."

The industry balked at the introduction of the word "spread" into the hearings

Examiner Brennan ruled it could be discussed but he did not commit himself on the basic issues The struggle is scheduled to continue for weeks

Road Commissioners In Capital to Learn About Beautification

MADISON (AP)—Three representatives of the Wisconsin Highway Commission were in Washington, D C, today to learn what steps need to be taken for participation in the National Highway Beautification Act.

The Bureau of Public Roads will hold hearings later in each state to explain regulations

Representing Wisconsin in Washington are G H Bakke, commission chairman, C. E Aten, the commission's chief maintenance engineer; and Richard E. Barrett, assistant attorney general

$204,900 Budget for '66

Aviation Group Seeks Bonding Resolution

OSHKOSH — Budgeting $204,900 for 1966 airport development expenses and bonding at a later date for an amount not to exceed $650,000 was requested by the Winnebago County Board's aviation committee this morning

The request was signed by four members of the committee Supv Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, committee chairman, did not sign the resolution request

The resolution indicated the $204,900 would be added to the $112,100 provided in this year's budget to take care of planning fees for expansion

This $317,000 total would be for land acquisition, soil investigation, a master plan and plans and specifications for the extension of the north-south runway and construction of taxiways and aprons

Joseph M. Abernathy, chief airport engineer, the Wisconsin State Aeronautics commission, outlined contemplated work He said estimated costs for the entire project is $1,914,730

He said the federal government may not participate in the total project since other counties have large expenditures. The federal government may cut back the land to a bare minimum width and cut off the instrument approach. Since this land can be reimbursed at a later date, we ask you to acquire all of the land now, Abernathy said

Supv Oliver Thomsen, Neenah, said he understood the type of DC-9 aircraft being acquired by North Central Airlines was different than the regular DC-9 jet which would take less runway.

Abernathy replied that "North Central started out with a 77,500 pound aircraft but then increased it through longer wing area and larger engines to about 98,000 pounds Abernathy said this was one reason the state had to change runway strength plans from a 77,000 pound load to a 110,000 pound load

Abernathy said with the type of jet aircraft contemplated, a 15 per cent longer runway is needed for wet or icy runway conditions. This is not needed by regular planes that can reverse propellers for a braking action.

Thomas K Jordan, state aeronautics department director, said the longer runway change was to meet FAA safety requirements and not because of the type of plane.

Thomsen asked whether the shorter east-west runway could be used in case conditions did not permit north-south runway landings by new jet aircraft.

Abernathy said the wind velocity would enable use of the east-west runway at times when the wind direction would not allow use of the north-south runway. He felt the east-west runway would be adequate for such landings because of the wind velocity factor.

'Thing That Happens'

Jordan said North Central Airlines isn't crowding anyone. "This is just the impact of progress on our lives and our economy. The fact that the decision was made," referring to North Central's jet plane purchase plans, "relatively late for ease of planning is just one of the things that happens in progress," Jordan added

"The basic facility is the public's responsibility. Do we provide it or not?" Jordan asked.

He said the Winnebago County Airport is a key airport in the state system What happens here affects Milwaukee and Eau Claire.

The John Birch Society sign along U. S. 10 between Weyauwega and Waupaca continues to be plagued with bad luck. The sign has been splattered with paint and cut down. It was up again Thursday, reinforced by steel pipes, but a strong west wind Saturday night toppled it again. The sign has attracted state-wide attention and will be rebuilt according to Robert Bales, Weyauwega society president. (Post-Crescent Photo)

First Vandals, Then Nature

Weyauwega Birch Billboard Down Again; Wind Is Culprit

WEYAUWEGA — First vandals and now Mother Nature struck Waupaca County's most controversial road sign located between here and Waupaca on U.S. 10.

Put up by the Weyauwega chapter of the John Birch Society, the sign denounces Justice Earl Warren on one side and the other side calls for the U.S. to get out of the United Nations.

Lately the sign has been down more than it is up but the chapter president, Robert Bales said Monday the society will not give up in their efforts to have a sign.

The sign, which drew a considerable amount of criticism, first appeared May 31. At that time both sides of the 8 by 20 foot sign said "Impeach Earl Warren." For two months the sign went unmolested and then on Aug. 3, one side of the sign was splattered with green farm implement paint. Just 10 days after the paint throwing incident the three large posts which supported the sign were cut off, dropping the sign into a field.

Sign Rebuilt

To avoid a recurence of the chopping incident and to put the sign further out of reach of any paint throwers, the sign was rebuilt, on five steel pipes filled with concrete. This time the bottom of the sign was 10 feet off the ground. However the steel pipes did not prove sturdy enough and just 48 hours after the sign boards were attached to the pipes last Thursday, the wind came along and blew it down, bending the pipes at more than a 45 degree angle.

Bales said an error was made in the size of pipe used. Not giving up, Bales said larger pipes wil be used and the sign put up again.

Instead of repainting the paint-spattered side of the board with the original Warren slogan, Bales said, the "Help get the U.S. Out of the United Nations" slogan was used on the side of the sign which can be seen by east bound traffic.

Milwaukee Man Fined $35 for Intoxication

Orson L. Ozmun, 50, Milwaukee, was fined $35 and costs when he pleaded guilty this morning to an intoxication charge filed by Appleton police.

Ozmun, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, was arrested near the Chicago and North Western Railroad depot Monday.

Iola Resident Charged With Rare Coin Theft

Associate Editor Of Firm Held Under Bond of $15,000

WAUPACA — The associate editor of a magazine for coin collectors was charged Monday with taking $13,800 in silver dollars and rare coins from the publishing firm.

Jack W. Nannery, 39, Iola, was held in lieu of $15,000 bond after being bound over for trial on charges of burglary and theft.

A cache of coins was recovered from beneath a stack of wooden ties along an abandoned railroad through a cow pasture near Iola. Waupaca County Sheriff Loran Frazier said authorities were still checking the coins at the State Crime Laboratory in Madison Monday night to determine if any were missing.

Employed Since April

Nannery, formerly of New York City, joined the Numismatic News as associated editor in April. The money was taken from the office safe of Krause Publications, Inc., Oct. 14 and the coins found by a farmer Oct 20.

Authorities kept the pasture under surveillance more than a week without sighting anyone. They arrested Nannery at the publishing firm in Iola Friday.

Sheriff Frazier said Nannery admitted orally that he took the money.

The money included $4,500 in U.S. silver dollars and $1,000 in Canadian silver dollars which the magazine was using in a subscription drive. Also taken were approximately $8,300 in rare coins belonging to the publisher.

Nannery was not represented by legal counsel at the arraignment Monday and requested a preliminary hearing. He later retained Edward Hart, Waupaca attorney, as his counsel. An appearance date in County Court will be set after Hart has had an opportunity to confer with Nannery, Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson said.

Value of the coins taken, first estimated at $10,000, now has been increased to $13,000, according to Chester Krause, owner of the publishing firm. Krause and Undersheriff William Mork went to Madison Monday to make a complete inventory of the recovered coins. Before leaving Waupaca they said they think all or almost all of the coins have been recovered.

Former Detective

Prior to coming to Wisconsin Nannery was a resident of Brooklyn, N.Y. On his job application he listed his occupation as a detective on the New York Metropolitan Police Department.

Krause said he met Nannery through mutual friends in the coin collecting field and that Nannery had been the security officer at several New York coin shows which Krause attended. Listed as an authority on military currency, Nannery was also an officer of at least one New York Coin Club, Krause said.

While employed by Krause Publications, Nannery represented the firm at coin shows in Chicago and Canada, Krause said. Another of his duties with the firm was to answer inquiries about coins, he added.

Nannery is married and has three children.

For Better Service

Request Made for Third Health Nurse

NEENAH — A request for an additional public nurse was made to the health and welfare department Monday evening.

Mary Ann Werner, public health nurse supervisor, said the additional nurse wouldn't be to expand the nursing program, but to adequately serve the present program.

In the last 25 years the school population has tripled. Since 1957, when the second nurse was put on the staff, the enrollments have doubled, Miss Werner said.

The city population has increased with annexation and with the proposed annexation of the Tullar School in the next 60 to 90 days the nursing load will again be increased, she said.

October Report

Both federal and state agencies suggest one public health nurse for each 5,000 population, Miss Werner said. The present population for the city is past the requirement for three nurses.

Miss Werner's report showed the department made 289 contacts during the month of October.

The contacts include home visits and related services. The nurses had a total of 13 tuberculosis cases both active, inactive and suspects. Health promotions totaled 65. A total of 26 calls were made in regard to cardiovascular, diabetes, hearing, mental retardation, neurological, orthopedic, rheumatic fever, and vision.

Twenty seven referrals were made to the department, Miss Werner said. These referrals were made by schools, families, friends and the welfare department, Miss Werner said.

Administrative work including in-service meetings, conferences with school officials, parent teacher associations, industries and others totaled 153. A total of 13 educational talks to 188 persons concluded the month's activities.

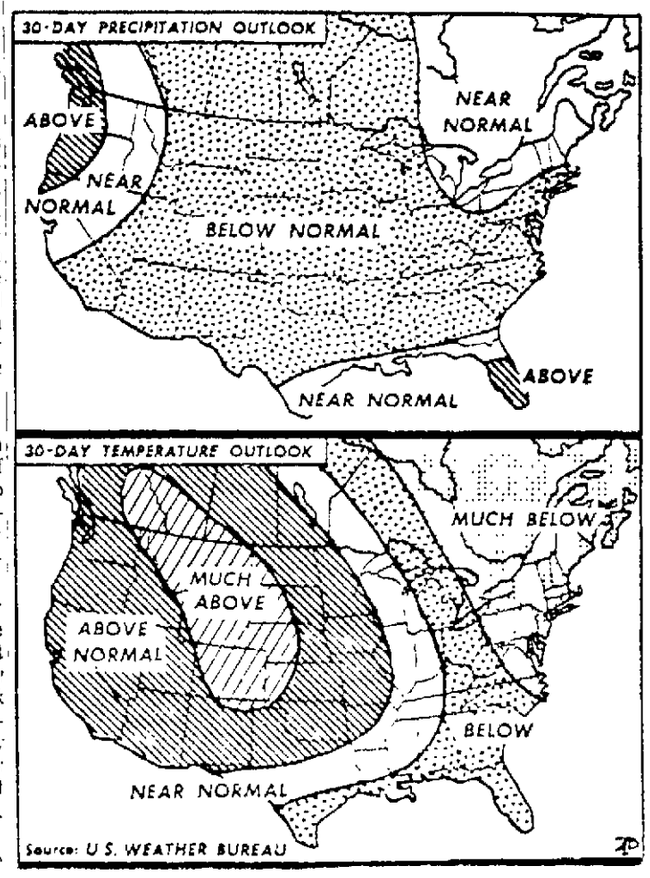

The nursing program in the schools during the month included vision screening of all elementary grades. Instructions were given volunteer mothers on vision screening and criteria. Students failing the screening were rechecked by the nurses. If a child is recommended for a check by a professional examiner, the nurse holds conferences with the parent and teacher, Miss Werner said.

Canadian Educators Study Heat System At Kimberly High

KIMBERLY — Twenty-seven educators and architects from Toronto, Ont., are touring school facilities today at Kimberly High School, particularly studying the concept of using electric power to heat the building.

The group is part of a continuing stream of persons viewing the school since its construction two years ago. The school was the first to use a new concept involving use of the same flow of air to heat the building.

Representatives from Cleveland toured the school last week and representatives from Detroit are scheduled next week.

Reciprocal Student Exchange Approved by UW Regent's Board

Plan Would Open Marinette Center to Residents of Upper Michigan Peninsula

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A reciprocal student exchange program that may open the doors of the University of Wisconsin Marinette freshman-sophomore center to students from Michigan's upper peninsula at tuition rates now paid by state residents has been approved by the UW board of regents.

Wisconsin students in the Huley and Niagara regions would in return be allowed to enroll at the Gogebic Junior College at Ironwood and the planned Iron Mountain Junior College, if the latter is constructed.

State authorities in Michigan have not yet acted on the proposal, approved by the spring session of the Wisconsin legislature but university officials are hopeful that their Michigan counterparts will view the program favorably. Tentative plans were approved by the board of regents at its last meeting. The final plans will be submitted to the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and the legislative Joint Committee on Finance or the board on government operations for approval.

Lower Cost

Michigan students would be able to attend the Marinette center at Wisconsin resident tuition rates, $210 per year. Out-of-state tuition is $550 a year. The center tuition costs are substantially below similar charges at the Madison and Milwaukee campuses of the state university.

The agreements would be limited to permitting Wisconsin residents from the Hurley region to attend Gogebic Junior College, and state students from the area of Niagara, near the Marinette and Florence county border and the Michigan state line, attend the Iron Mountain school.

Students would not be admitted under the plan into the Wisconsin and Michigan schools on a one-to-one ratio, but as applications are received. It is expected by UW officials that more Michigan students would attend the Marinette center than state residents would attend college in the upper peninsula.

Established Faculty

The greater attraction of the Wisconsin center is expected due to its existence as an established facility with functioning programs tied to the UW.

Present enrollment at the Marinette center is 232, and the added students from Michigan might increase the enrollment by as much as one third, according to Lorentz Adolfson, chancellor of the UW center system.

"In this way we will be able to make a substantial center out of the Marinette institution, much to the advantage of the Wisconsin students," he said.

Southern Area

Adolfson and university president Fred Harvey Harrington also said that similar programs might be developed in the future in the southern area of the state where the center system now operates sites in Kenosha and in Rock County at the southern edge of Janesville.

There are now some Illinois students attending the Kenosha center and it is felt that if tuitions were reduced for Illinois residents, substantial numbers might attend the Rock County center from South Beloit, just over the Illinois state line.

It is doubtful that many Wisconsin students would attend school in northern Illinois in the near future, although a reciprocal arrangement could be worked out with Northern Illinois, a four-year state university in Dekalb, Adolfson said.

The last Illinois legislature required the establishment of junior college districts throughout that state by 1970. "Then Wisconsin students could attend Illinois schools for their freshman and sophomore years," Adolfson said. "But that is really too far in the future to make any definite plans right now."

Badgers Put Through Stiff Drill by Bruhn

No Offensive or Defensive Awards Given Out This Week

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin football team held a stiff workout Monday which Coach Milt Bruhn said was intended "to make an impression on the boys."

Bruhn is trying to whip the Badgers into shape after they suffered a humiliating 50-14 defeat at the hands of Michigan last Saturday. Wisconsin faces rugged Purdue Saturday in Madison.

Usually on Mondays the coaching staff selects outstanding players from the preceding game for awards as the top defensive and offensive players. This week there were no awards.

"I have a hunch the opponents should have the awards this week," said Bruhn.

Sprained Ankle

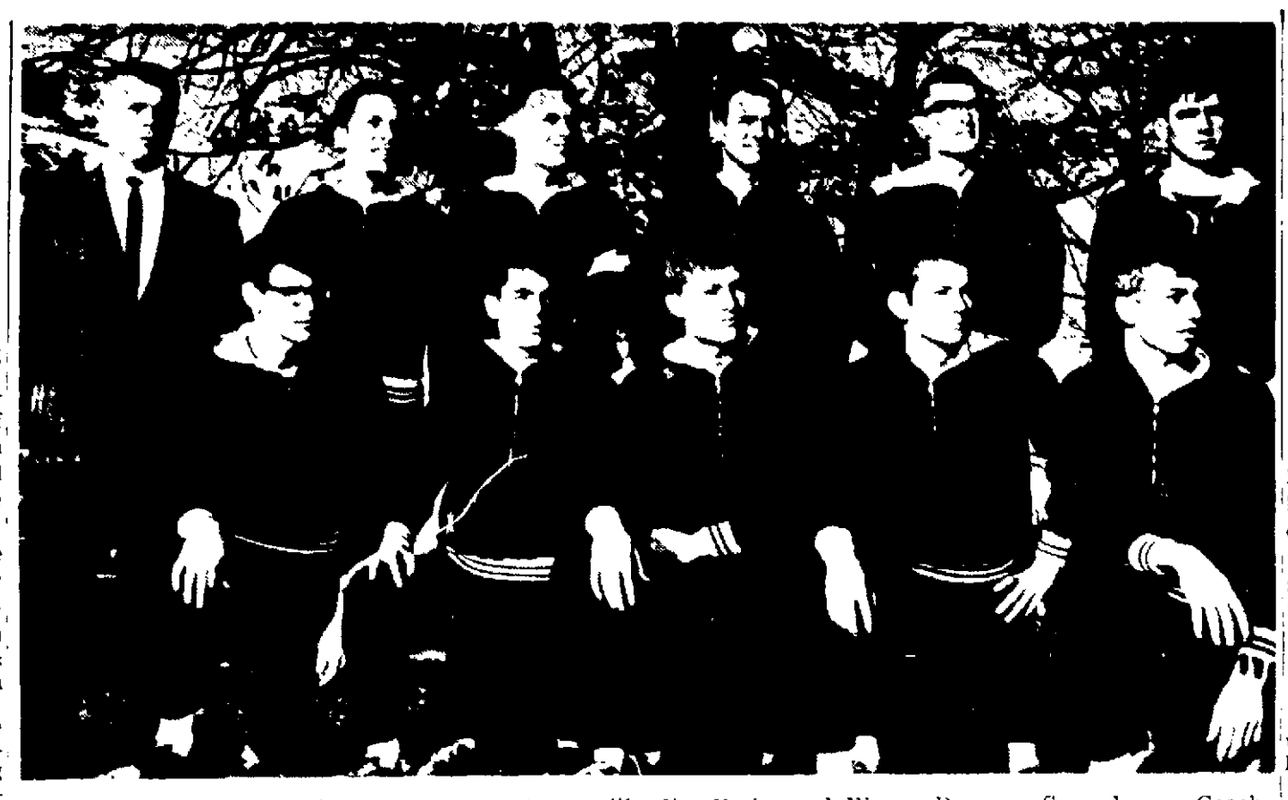

Jankowski suffered a concussion against the Wolverines and is still bothered by headaches. Sobocinski sprained an ankle. With Jankowski sidelined and Gale Bucciarelli hobbled with a charley horse, Ron Lewandowsky is the Badgers' top available fullback.

In an effort to shore up the defense, Bruhn moved Don Bliss to right tackle ahead of Nate Jenkins and made Steve Goodman the top reserve at an end position. Veterans Mike London and Rodger Alberts were demoted.

The Boilermakers may be without the services of two key players when they invade Madison. End Bob Hadrick and fullback Randy Minnear, both offensive starters, are expected to watch the game from the sidelines.

Hadrick, who has set a season record of 47 catches, has a knee injury described as hyper extension and was placed in a cast until Friday. Minniear suffered a foot injury and will be on crutches for a few days.

Wisconsin's freshman football team will wind up the season tonight with the annual intra-squad game at Warner Park. The team features an unusually talented crop of offensive backs.

Lombardi Says He'll Settle For 6-1 Mark Rest of Way

'Our Defense Was Stuck, but We'll Come Back, Vince Affirms

GREEN BAY (AP) — Green Bay's decisive 31-10 defeat administered by Chicago Sunday may have disappointed Packer fans but Coach Vince Lombardi says he'll take a record for the second half of the season exactly like the first half.

"First of all," he said, "I'll settle for that (6-1) the rest of the way."

The Packers still have a share of first place in the power-packed Western Division and with that in mind are preparing for Detroit's invasion Sunday.

Lombardi said he didn't know Monday if quarterback Bart Starr would be ready for the Lions game. "I'll have to wait and see how he does in practice," he said.

Starr was racked up by a shattering block thrown by Roosevelt Taylor at Wrigley Field Sunday. Starr was dazed but came back the next time the Packers had the ball despite a shoulder injury.

"There's no doubt that the injury affected Bart's passing," said Lombardi. "He was very sharp when he started but could not retain this edge, thereafter."

Starr shrugged off the injury Monday and said he felt fine. He said he did not go to a hospital for precautionary X-rays upon the team's return to Green Bay. And he saw no reason why he shouldn't be ready for the Lions.

After checking the game films Lombardi said the Packers committed too many errors, but added, "I'm not taking anything away from the Bears. They were a good football team."

Lombardi said he was disappointed with the tackling of the Packers. "Our tackling was very poor," he said. "In fact we played on defense like we were stuck in the mud."

Outside of Starr, Green Bay came through the hard-fought Chicago clash without serious injuries, according to Lombardi.

"Nobody likes to lose but maybe this was a good thing for us," Lombardi said. "We'll come back."

Olympic Medal Winner Barrett Missing at Sea

Mequon Native, 5 Crew Members Object of Search

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Olympic silver medal winner Peter J. Barrett of Mequon, Wis., and five other crew members of a Long Beach yacht were reported missing at sea today off the coast of Mexico.

The U. S. Coast Guard launched a search for the 35-foot sloop Al Viento after it failed to respond to radio messages.

The Al Viento was one of 14 vessels entered in the 960-mile International Yacht Race from Long Beach to La Paz, Mexico.

Barrett won the silver medal in the Finn sailing class for the United States in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

The Coast Guard said Monday the craft answered a radio roll call Saturday night but had not responded to further messages.

Cmdr. Charles Blaha of the Coast Guard, which was escorting the yachts, ordered his cutter, Dexter, and other vessels to launch the search.

The yacht's crew of six included the owner, Bill Dalessi of Long Beach. Barrett was navigator.

The other 13 yachts were strung out over more than 100 miles. The leader, Serena, an 83 - foot schooner out of San Francisco, was at the south end of Cedros Island off the Mexico Coast 354 miles south of Long Beach. It led second place Astor by 18 miles. The last place yacht was 114 miles back.

Spartans Get 36 Out of 50 Votes in Poll

Arkansas Retains Second Ranking; Nebraska Third

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan State is more firmly entrenched today as the No. 1 college football team in the country, and it looks as if the position will remain comfortable until at least Nov. 20.

That's the day that the Spartans, closing their regular season, take on the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who have some designs on the national football title themselves.

The Spartans have had rare success against the Irish during the past decade, but last year Notre Dame atoned for a lot of past beatings by smashing the Big Ten power 34-7.

Since losing to Purdue in the second game of the campaign, Ara Parseghian's South Benders have come fast, winning impressively over Northwestern, Army, Southern California and Navy.

Move to Fourth

They have the sort of running strength and defense that could give the leaders a run for it. They have moved to fourth in the standings.

The next two opponents for Michigan State look like breathers although Spartan Coach Duffy Daughtery cautions: "They're always trying to knock off No. 1."

Iowa, the State foe Saturday, has lost six games and won only one. Indiana, to be met Nov. 13, has won two and lost five.

The Spartans, crushing Northwestern 49-7 last week for their seventh straight victory, so impressed the spcial panel of sports writers and broadcasters that they collected 36 of the 50 first place votes.

This was enough to give them 481 points — a comfortable lead over Arkansas, which got 11 votes after drubbing Texas A&M 31-0. Nebraska, also unbeaten, got the remaining three first place mentions on narrow 16-14 squeak over Missouri and clung to third place.

1. Michigan State (36)	7-0	481
2. Arkansas (11)	7-0	457
3. Nebraska (3)	7-0	392
4. Notre Dame	5-1	362

Brodie May See Action

Christiansen Says Shoulder Injury Is Slight Separation

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) —Coach Jack Christiansen says that quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers may be sufficiently recovered from his slight shoulder separation to play against Dallas on Sunday.

Christiansen said Monday, "We'll play it by ear. It's a very slight separation. There's even a possibility he may not even miss this week."

Brodie suffered the injury to his left shoulder in the final quarter of the 49ers' 34-28 loss to Baltimore last Sunday. It was initially believed he would be out for at least 10 days.

QB Club Meets Tonight at AHS

Films from both the Appleton High School varsity and junior varsity games last weekend will be shown at tonight's (7:30 p.m.) meeting of the Appleton Quarterback Club in the Early American Room of the senior high school.

Officers have requested that members having booster buttons turn them in at tonight's meeting. The session will be followed by a coffee hour.

Lions' Barr May be Out For 3 Weeks

DETROIT (AP) — Flanker back Terry Barr, the Detroit Lions top pass receiver, may be lost to the National Football League club for two or three weeks because of a knee injury.

Barr twisted his right knee in the Las Angeles game Sunday and club physician, Dr. Richard A. Thompson, said he suffered a moderately severe sprain.

Dr. Thompson said there was no fracture or dislocation and surgery was not indicated, but added that Barr could be lost for as much as the next three games.

Coach Harry Gilmer said Pat Studstill, the Lions' punter, would be given Barr's flanker back job.

Neenah, Kaukauna Head All-ME Units

4 Bulldogs Are Picked On Offense

KIMBERLY — Champion Neenah and co-third place Kaukauna each placed five players on the 22-man all-Mid-Eastern Conference football squad selected by the circuit's coaches here Monday.

Both clubs landed two men on the offensive unit and three on the defensive squad.

None of the players selected were moved to both squads. Repeaters were Mark Nussbaum, end, and Bob Promer, halfback, both of Kaukauna, on the offensive squad and the Ghosts' Gene Huss, tackle on defense.

Neenah's selections were tackle Tim Meyer and halfback Mike Milliken on offense and tackle Jim Zeinert, guard Gary Muttart and halfback Mike Malone, on defense.

Other Kaukauna selections were Tom Beise, end, and linebacker Bob Main on defense.

4 Bulldogs Named

New London dominated the offensive team by taking four positions — end Tom Brown, tackle Stan Teschke, center Bruce Krueger and fullback Henry Linke of the Bulldog players were named on defense.

Clintonville placed guard Mike Pasch and quarterback Tom Richardson on offense and safety Jerron Dieck and linebacker Tom Werner on defense.

Menasha's lone selection was defensive end Jim Reinke while Kimberly is represented by linebacker Dan Biesterveld. Two Rivers didn't place anyone among the 22.

Terrell Keeps WBA Title, Beats Chuvalo

Victory Puts Him in Line to Meet Clay-Patterson Winner

TORONTO (AP) — Ernie Terrell still is a champion today, but the crown which sits atop his 6-foot-6 frame still doesn't make him the big man in the world of heavyweight boxing. He knows this.

Terrell won a unanimous 15-round decision over George Chuvalo Monday night to remain champion. But he still is only champion of the World Boxing Association, not of the world.

The man recognized by everyone but the WBA as king of the heavyweights — Cassius Clay — puts his share of the title on the line against Floyd Patterson Nov. 22 in Las Vegas.

Terrell was not a picture of jubilation in his dressing room after making the first defense of the title he won by outpointing Eddie Machen in Chicago last March 5.

Laughing Image

"Everyone has always made fun of me, mostly because I'm a singer as well as a fighter," said the champion, who also is head of a musical combo. "I don't know why people get this laughing image of me."

His victory over Chuvalo probably won't change Terrell's public image immediately, but it could do so indirectly because it puts him in line for a shot at the winner of the Clay-Patterson fight — a fight which would give boxing a single heavyweight champion again.

The WBA threw the heavyweight division into its present Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde state by stripping Clay of his crown for signing a return bout contract with Sonny Liston before their first fight in 1964.

The Chicagoan, who had a seven-inch advantage in reach, threw stinging left hand punches to Chuvalo's face almost from the opening bell until the final gong.

Although there were no knockdowns, Terrell, who weighed 206, drew blood from Chuvalo's nose and cut him about both eyes.

Referee Sammy Luftspring scored it 72-65, judge Fred Nobert called it 73-65, and judge Jackie Burke made it 69-65 for Terrell.

The fight was scored under the five-point-must system, in which the winner of a round receives five points and the loser four or less.

The action didn't end with the fight.

Terrell accused Chuvalo of repeated fouling. He pointed to an inch-long gash in his left eyebrow and he said it was caused by butting. He also said Chuvalo kept stepping on his feet.

The referee warned Chuvalo for butting and Terrell for thumbing in the eighth round.

Chuvalo was bitter about the outcome and said he was "willing to go to the Supreme Court (of Canada)" to protect the decision.

A crowd of 12,500 at Maple Leaf Gardens paid $124,456.50 to see Terrell win his 14th straight fight. His record is 38-4. Chuvalo's record is 44-10-4.

No Word on Whether Svare Was Fined

NFL Television Deal May be Shocker

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rozelle has been talking to the television networks about that new contract for the National Football League. The current deal with Columbia Broadcasting System ends with the 1965 season and championship game.

The next one may be a shocker.

Although the National Broadcasting Co. has a five-year pact with the American Football League and the colleges recently signed with the American Broadcasting Co., Rozelle will talk to all interested parties.

The current contract brings the NFL clubs a total of $14.1 million a year for regular season plus $1.8 for the championship game. Everybody expects the price to go higher.

The NFL already has accepted Atlanta as a 15th team for 1966 and will operate on a 15-week schedule with each team having one open date. This will increase the television potential. In 1967 the league will have 16 teams and each of the eight-team conferences will be split into two four club divisions.

Extra Week

This new format for 1967 will result in an extra week of playoff games, one on Saturday and one on Sunday, following the close of the regular schedule. Then the two winners will meet the following week for the league crown.

It is conceivable that the package will amount to more than $20 million a year for the 16 clubs when the deal finally is signed and sealed.

The NFL is researching about six cities for its 16th member. New Orleans and Seattle are believed to be the two most likely candidates but others are included.

Did Swede Svare draw a fine for his comments last week about the officials' calls against the visiting teams in Baltimore and Chicago?

The league won't say and Svare hasn't. However, it is known that Commissioner Pete Rozelle takes a dim view of public criticism of his officials.

Incidentally, the NFL office checked the statistics up to last weekend and found that the home team has been penalized more often than the visitors this year.

That Colt-49er game Sunday was a real air war. Baltimore threw for 310 yards and San Francisco 329 yards. No less than 13 different receivers caught passes — Raymond Berry, Jimmy Orr, John Mackey, Jerry Hill, Tony Lorick, Tom Matte and Lenny Moore for the Colts and Dave Parks, Bernie Casey, Monty Stickles, Ken Willard, John David Crow and Kay McFarland for the 49ers.

Place kicker Lou Groza threw a pass Sunday for the Cleveland Browns. It was his third, and he didn't connect. Pres Carpenter caught eight of Sonny Jurgensen's passes but he missed the one that would have kept Sonny's streak alive after 10 straight.

Redskins are running ex-Lion Dan Lewis with Charley Taylor in their first string backfield and using a lot of double wing and flood formations with three receivers on the same side.

First Day's Experiences

Apostle Islands Hunt Proves Rugged Test For 4 Deer Stalkers

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

BAYFIELD—There was a crackling in the underbrush perhaps 50 to 75 yards away, but it was impossible to tell what caused it.

It might have been one of those pesty red squirrels, a snowshoe rabbit or a deer. Eager eyes searched the thick wall of hardwoods that surrounded this hunter, but the woods remained silent. Whatever had caused the crackling was either standing perfectly still or else had bedded down for a snooze in the sun.

This was Oak Island, one of a group of 22 disc-like jewels known as the Apostle Islands which are set in Lake Superior off the northern-most tip of Wisconsin.

We arrived on Oak Island late in the afternoon on Monday of last week and hurried into the business of setting up camp because the sun had already run its course for the day and was beginning to sneak down behind a ridge in the west.

Four Hunters

Our party of four hunters had left the dock at Bayfield about 4 p.m. and it's nearly an hour's ride out to Oak. The islands are scattered off the tip of the mainland, some ranging as far as 25 miles out in the lake. Our skipper on the way out was Bob Weber and his 38-foot cruiser is known as the Scottie.

Weber took us to within 50 yards of the Oak Island shore and we used a 16-foot boat owned by Bert Carlson, of Solon Springs, to transfer camping gear, food and other equipment to the campsite along shore. James Taylor, Madison, and this writer went at the task of setting up the tent we were to call home for the next three nights while Carlson and George Bachay, outdoor writer from Janesville, unloaded gear from the boat and gathered some firewood.

That evening, after steaks had been devoured in the light of a lantern, we mapped plans for the start of hunting early in the morning. We knew the south shore of the island had been heavily hunted on opening weekend and the early days of the season, so we planned to take Carlson's boat and head around for the north shore.

Lake Too Rough

Originally, we wanted the cruiser to drop us off on the north side so we could camp there, but Weber said the lake gets too rough, and it might be impossible for him to pick us up again on Thursday when we planned to leave.

We woke up early Tuesday morning to the smell of hot coffee which Carlson had brewing. After breakfast we donned our red hunting gear and the four of us climbed into Carlson's boat for a trip around the east side of the island. When we turned the southeast corner we could see that the lake was going to give us trouble as already the wind was picking up and rollers were beginning whitecap ahead of us.

Because of the rough water, we were unable to get around to the north side, but decided to work our way in from the east shore across the island and then southward toward camp later in the day.

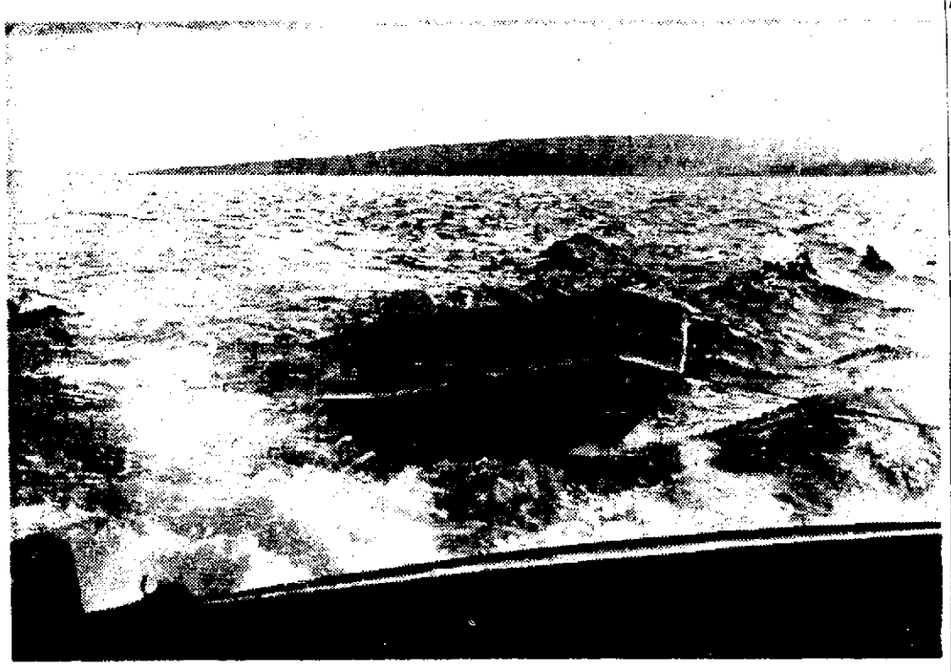

Put on Stands

Bachay and this writer were put on stands back in from the shore while Taylor and Carlson headed to the north and planned to work down toward us. The first sounds of crackling in the brush came from behind me and I still do not know what it was. It could have been a deer, but the underbrush was so thick visibility was limited to less than 30 yards in some places.

We hunted the island hard all morning and failed to boot out a deer. Early in the afternoon we decided to spread out and do some stalking on the way back to camp.

Better than three hours later it was a weary quartet of hunters that arrived back on the south shore. The ridges, hills, windfalls and thick underbrush had proved to be a rugged test. Oak Island could have had 100 deer on it and unless you stepped right on one, the deer would have been pretty safe just standing still.

Tuesday night we talked about the possibility of going to another island, trying the far north shore of Oak or going around to the west side. No matter what—it depended on how the wind would treat us, so we crawled in the sleeping bags to wait for another sunrise.

The Special Early Deer hunting season on the Apostle Islands offers hunters a chance to take in some beautiful scenery, camp out in a wilderness area and hunt deer well before the regular gun season opens. In the top picture, Lake Superior can be seen off the back of a cruiser towing the hunter's boat to an island. Below, is a typical camp site with a tent pitched among the trees along the shore of one of the islands. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Doubles Team Rips Record 587 Game

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doubles partners Tom Dern and Ron Spohn set an American Bowling Congress record Monday night when they combined for a 587 game. Dern rolling a perfect 300 and Spohn a 287.

The world record for a two-man team, bettering the former 586 mark, came in the duo's third game of their match in a Columbus league. Dern and Spohn, each 29 years old, finished with series of 700 and 702, respectively.

'Happy Birthday' Sung To Gary Player in 7,000-Mile Phone Call

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Gary Player's five children sang "Happy Birthday" to their father Monday during a 7,000-mile telephone call from Johannesburg to Sydney, Australia.

His wife, Vivienne, reported Gary was thrilled to hear from the family, adding, "We have a very special welcome planned for him when he returns home at the end of the month.

'Somebody Wants Me'

Knicks Get Bellamy In 4-Player Trade

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The newest member of the New York Knickerbockers' basketball team, Walt Bellamy, says, "its nice to know that somebody wants me."

The 6-foot-11 center was acquired by the Knicks Monday in a four-player National Basketball Association trade with the Baltimore Bullets.

The Bullets acquired forwards Johnny Green and Jim (Bad News) Barnes and guard Johnny Egan, plus an undisclosed amount of cash in the interdivision trade.

"I knew it was coming," said Bellamy, as he packed to leave. "You know in this business that you are sort of on reserve no matter where you're playing."

Cellar Dwellers

Bellamy will be going from the frying pan to the fire — both teams are cellar dwellers, the Knicks in the Eastern and the Bullets in the Western Division.

But he said, "I'm looking forward to a change of scene."

He said he did not mean that he was exactly unwanted in Baltimore, or that he had not tried his hardest for the Bullets. He denied that he had let his average sag to force a trade.

Bellamy, 26, was the man the Bullets hoped would spark a contending team, but he had been dropped from starting lineups in recent games.

The 245-pound Bellamy is a former star for Indiana University. His 24.8 average last season was sixth highest in the NBA.

His professional career average is 27.8. He played for the U.S. Olympic team in 1960. But during the current season Bellamy's average had dropped to 20.3.

Averaged 11 Points

Green, 6-foot-5 and 30 years old, averaged 11 points in games last year. The former Michigan State star has a pro average of 13.0.

Barnes, 24, was the Knicks first 1964 draft choice, a 6-foot-8 NBA All-Rookie player last year. He played college ball at Texas Western.

Egan, 6 foot, is 24 years old and a one-time Providence star. He came to the Knicks from the Detroit Pistons in 1963. His average last year was 9.2.

"Even if we had been winning," said a Bullet spokesman, "Coach Paul Seymour said he would have made the deal."

Mrs. Loyal Weisshoff Has National Honor Count

Clintonville Woman Hits 621 Series

Mrs. Loyal (Donna) Weisshoff, route 3, Clintonville, blasted a 621 national honor count in the Sunday Night Couples Bowling League at Donaldson's Lanes, Clintonville.

Mrs. Weishoff's series was the best recorded in the Fox Cities area so far this season. The previous high was a 609 recorded by Pat Lutz in Appleton's Hahn's Women's League Sept. 23.

Donna started with a 212 game, followed with a 175 count and then unloaded a big 234 singleton in her last line. She had a total of 16 strikes in the three games, including six in the final effort.

Mrs. Weishoff has been league bowling about 10 years and her previous series was "around the 550 mark." The highest single game she can remember hitting was a 219 some years ago in open bowling. Donna carries an average around the 151 mark in the couples league and also in the Ladies Commercial League. The national honor count was the first this season at the Clintonville establishment.

The Cigarette Couples League at Hahn's Lanes saw Ed Flood set the pace with a 235 game and 572 series. For the women, Ann Hahn hit a 192 game and Susie Lundberg had a 191 singleton and 534 series.

Willis Johnson had a 564 series and Bill Schultz recorded a 234 game and 553 series for other honor scores in the Cigarette loop.

Lone honor score in the Rare Gems League at Sabre Lanes was a 207 game by Lois Buss.

Lombardi Rumor Continues

Brown Denies Reports He's Headed for Atlanta as Coach

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Former Cleveland Browns' Coach Paul Brown has flatly denied printed reports that he would be named head coach of the Atlanta Falcons, who make their National Football League debut next season.

Contacted at his La Jolla, Calif., home Monday, Brown said the story he will coach the Falcons is "absolutely false." Brown said his discussions with Falcon owner Rankin Smith last summer were "more exploratory and social than anything else."

Brown said he met with Smith at that time to offer advice on the operation of a professional football team. He said he has not seen Smith since that time.

Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner, reported that Brown would join the Falcons within two weeks. He said Brown, who still draws about $80,000 annually from the Browns on a long- term contract, is eager to return to football.

Smith said he plans to stand by an earlier decision not to name a coach until the current NFL season has ended. "Putting Brown's name in the rumor mill is all right with me. The more the merrier," Smith said. He said a coach probably will be hired in December.

Bud Erickson, Smith's assistant, said if Brown is named "it would be a big surprise to me." He said the Falcons do not expect to have a coach when the NFL drafts college players in late November or early December, but the team will have a coach by February.

A Browns' spokesman said he knew nothing of Brown planning to take the Atlanta job and he quoted Brown as saying he will not go to Atlanta.

State Contends Suit Against Braves Belongs in Circuit Court

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are trying to argue that baseball is above the law, Wisconsin authorities said Monday in pursuing their anti-trust suit against the team's announced move to Atlanta.

In a 29-page brief, the state contended the U.S. District Court should return its suit to the Milwaukee County Circuit Court where it was filed. It said a 1922 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that baseball at that time was not engaged in interstate commerce does not prevent a state itself from acting to eliminate economic violations within its boundaries.

Wisconsin said the Braves' attempt to keep the state suit in federal court, where it was subsequently shifted, "was devoted to the proposition that baseball is truly above the law . . ."

The state brief said the Braves took the position "that a sovereign state, public spirited citizens, or for that matter, anyone who says they are not (above the law), is evil, a conspirator, can't possibly be serious, and in general, is out of their mind."

No Monroe Doctrine

It added, "There is no Monroe doctrine of baseball. It is a pathetic and exalted hallucination . . . to protect their private domain and insulate them from compliance with all the principles of economic behavior and ethics which others must observe."

Also pending in federal court here are a county-filed antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League and a suit by the Braves asking for a court ruling that they are legally free to move to Atlanta next year.

The Braves' suit, the first filed, asked a court injunction against what it termed "harassment" through possible anti-trust action. In opposing Monday a Milwaukee motion for dismissal of the team's suit, the Braves called the other suits "frivolous on their face" and said, "The prophecy of harassment . . . now is demonstrated."

Four Wisconsin Cage Tilts to be Telecast

MADISON (AP) — State-operated WHA-TV in Madison will telecast at least four University of Wisconsin home basketball games on a live basis this season, it was announced today. Hockey, swimming and other events will be taped for later telecasting.

'Run to Daylight' Will be Shown

LITTLE CHUTE — The film, "Run to Daylight," which is narrated by Vince Lombardi, head coach of the Green Bay Packers, will be shown at the meeting of the St. John Athletic Association at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the grade school social room.

Finals plans will be made for the Nov. 10 football banquet, which the association is sponsoring.

St. Pius Grade Team Downs Alumni, 15-11

The eighth grade Falcons of St. Pius School scored a 15-11 basketball victory over an alumni squad in an exhibition game played at Huntley School Monday evening.

Pat Wickesberg paced the winners with 10 of the team's 15 points. High scorers for the alumni were John LeCaptaine and Chuck Maass with five points each.

Delores Bylewski Slams 550 In Lucky Bowling League

Delores Bylewski thumped a 211 singleton en route to a 550 finish to highlight action in the Lucky Bowling League at Sabre Lanes Monday night. "Curley" Hayes fashioned a 529 for runnerup laurels.

Ruth Wiese authored a 529 series, including a 208 game, to set the pace in the Kitchen Cheaters League at Hahn's Lanes. Elda Schmidt uncorked a 219 solo and a 520 set.

LaVerne Van Handel's 211 and 521 were the top efforts in the 41 Bowl circuit.

Mexican Gridder Dies of Injuries

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jose Ruiz Tapaia, 25, fullback for the Chapingo team, died Monday of injuries received in an American-style football game played Friday against the Politecnico Maroons.

He had remained unconscious in a hospital since he was taken from the playing field, suffering from head injuries.

Known as El Paloma, Tapaia was said to be one of the best football players in Mexico. He had been playing for about five years, and was injured Friday night with just four minutes remaining in the game. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Exiles From Cuba Will be Resettled Throughout Nation

Federal Government Promises Florida Won't Have Entire Job

BY GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The federal government has pledged that the nation — and not Florida alone — will help resettle refugees from Cuba.

More than 300 arrived at Key West Monday and 11 more boats were on their way.

"The President and federal departments are particularly concerned that the whole country take up this problem," said John Gardner, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He told a news conference: "The citizens of Florida have made tremendous contributions and Florida must not be asked to carry the burden alone."

In Washington, an informed source said a U. S.-Cuban agreement on a plan to fly refugees to Florida probably would be announced today.

Fly Out Refugees

Gardner said plans are to fly out between 3,000 and 4,000 refugees monthly.

Gardner and Buford Ellington, representing President Johnson, met Monday with Florida political and civic leaders, including congressmen, mayors and a representative of Gov. Haydon Burns.

Gardner said the refugees would be quickly resettled in other parts of the United States.

He said the new influx would not be comparable "to the first flood" in 1959.

He reported that refugees brought to Miami after clearing customs would "be on their way in 48 hours" if they can be resettled.

Unemployment Rate

"The Miami rate of unemployment is below the average but Negro unemployment is far too high and we must cope with it," said Gardner.

Some refugees arriving at Key West said they had heard they were resented in this country.

"I am told that Americans resent our presence here," said Senora Mercedes Muniz de Capote. "If they knew what we go through they might understand."

Her husband, Marceline, said Castro confiscated seven farms owned by his father.

"We lost everything in Cuba," he said. "We are starting over here."

An 86-year-old woman said on arrival, "Thank God, I step on free soil." She was unable to walk because of emotion and seasickness and was carried ashore.

The 38-foot sailboat Spray sprang a leak when it struck driftwood less than a mile off the Cuban coast but reached Key West under its own power with a crew of five. Refugees on board were transferred to a Coast Guard cutter.

"We don't know how many Cubans we had aboard," said Barbara Benz, wife of the captain. "In Camarioca (the Cuban exit port), they shoved people into the boat and insisted we leave immediately."

In Media, Pa., Silvio Sanabria, former president of the Havana Bar Association, said an organization known as the Friends of Democratic Cuba, Inc., had been formed to help refugees adjust to life in the United States.

The Cuban government official organ Granma called Castro's open-door policy "one of the greatest political defeats ever suffered by Yankee imperialism."

Status of Relatives

Castro, in an interview published today by the New York Times, said he does not expect a general improvement of relations with the United States to follow the negotiations over the refugees.

"There can be no general improvement until U.S. relations with other parts of the world improve," Castro told a Times correspondent in Havana

The prime minister cited U.S. actions in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam and what he described as "a more aggressive, more interventionist policy against national liberation movements."

All that the negotiations showed, Castro said, "is that there are concrete problems that can be solved." He did not specify what other problems might be solved, and he indicated that he did not think there were many, the Times said.

Police Find Stolen Money By Accident

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The chance pickup of a runaway boy led to the recovery here of $116,064 stolen after the owner's death from an empty Seattle house, police say.

Two men, accused by the FBI of burglarizing $200,000 cached by restaurant owner Ray L. Smyser, surrendered in an attorney's office Monday and were arrested.

A third man has been in custody in Seattle since September.

Smyser, 78 when he died last July, owned several Seattle apartment houses. He lived alone and his wealth was unknown until bank officials found $175,000 in his home while settling his estate.

Another $200,000, police estimate, was overlooked then and subsequently found by thieves.

Authorities identified the last two men arrested as Donald W. Switzer, 25, a finance company collector from Kennewick, Wash., and Byron W. Harker, 22 a library assistant in Seattle. Attorney Vander C. Smith, in whose office they surrendered, indicated they would seek transfer to Seattle before entering a plea.

They had been sought on a federal warrant since September, but FBI agents said the search had centered in Pennsylvania, where Switzer had once attended the University of Pennsylvania.

Police picked up a 15-year-old boy early Saturday on Market Street. He was taken to headquarters for questioning, and identified as a runaway from Seattle.

He told officers he was staying with two men named Switzer and Harker. Sunday, police obtained permission from the landlord to search their rooms in a Sutter Street hotel.

Officers found the $116,064 and alerted the FBI.

She Will Not be 'Beholden'

Sen. Neuberger Won't Run Again; Slaps at Financing of Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., has dropped out of contention for reelection with a blast against the way she said senatorial campaigns are financed.

Mrs. Neuberger, who is really clear in a statement Monday that one other principal reason for quitting was that she didn't want "to be beholden to some group for campaign money and to go begging from friends and relatives."

The Senate seat she occupies will be at stake in next year's election. Oregon Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, a Republican, is expected to bid strongly for it. Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., might seek the Democratic nomination.

The decision of the 58-year-old Oregon member not to run again probably will not be duplicated by her only woman colleague, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. Mrs. Smith, who is 67, has not disclosed her plans but friends expect her to bid for a fourth six-year term next year.

Recovered from Cancer

Mrs. Neuberger said that since she had an operation for cancer four years ago she has known she probably would not run again. She said she made "a wonderful recovery," that her health is excellent and that she has been able to carry on the heavy workload of a senator.

She said she wants to travel and to have time to work on her husband's papers. She was married to Dr. Philip Solomon, a Boston psychiatrist, in 1964.

"I wanted to be free from the rigors of public life and the obligations of a campaign, especially campaign financing," she said. "I welcome the freedom to spend my last year in office working just as vigorously as I have in the past and not to have to pay homage to some organization just because it might mean a contribution."

She did not specify any particular organization she had in mind.

She quoted her late husband, Richard L. Neuberger, whom she succeeded in the Senate, as writing in a book about their experiences in politics: "In fact why should a politician ever take a bribe when a donation to his next race for office is so much simpler — and so much more legal?"

One Still at Large

Nab Man, Cannon in $40,000 Brinks Holdup

NEW YORK (AP) — In swift developments, the FBI arrested one man in the $400,000 Brinks burglary in Syracuse, N.Y., charged another still at large and recovered the cannon used to blast open the vault.

Jack Frank, 33, of Freeport, N.Y., taken into custody by federal agents, was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn.

His nephew, Joel Singer, 22, of Chomedy, Quebec, is being sought in the burglary 10 days ago.

They were charged in Albany, N.Y., with conspiracy to violate the statute on interstate transportation of stolen property. The FBI also charged Singer with a violation of the federal firearms act in connection with the transportation of a 20mm antitank gun from Quebec to Syracuse.

The FBI said that it had recovered, with the aid of the Navy and Coast Guard, the antitank gun used in the burglary from waters near the Meadowbrook Parkway bridge to Jones Beach on Long Island.

The developments were announced Monday night in Washington, D.C., by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who said laboratory experts positively identified the cannon as the one used in the burglary.

Police said the Brinks building in Syracuse was broken into the weekend of Oct. 23-24 and thieves fired at least 30 rounds from a 20mm cannon to blast open the vault.

The thieves made off with $416,028 from the vault, including $160,774 in cash and $255,254 in checks.

Parents Claim Children Are Not Taught

SHERWOOD, Ore. (AP) — Twelve parents of Cipole school pupils are back in the classroom this week, but they don't expect to learn anything.

"They're not teaching the kids anything," said Mrs. Lou Saleen, mother of two pupils.

"We're going to keep a parent watch on the classes until they throw us out or improve the education for our kids."

The eight-grade, two-room school serves 52 children from the community of Sherwood, 10 miles southwest of Portland. Proposals of consolidation with nearby districts have been rejected four times.

"There are just too many people out here who don't have children in school," said Mrs. Twila Reid. "They beat the merger proposal every time we vote on it."

Another mother, Mrs. Ronald Sims, told why she is participating in the education watch, which keeps one parent in each classroom during all school hours.

"I don't plan for my two boys to lead any dropout parade in the future," said Mrs. Sims.

Cyrus Balser, principal-teacher at the school, defended its curriculum.

"The students are getting a good education at Cipole," he said. "They hold their own very well when they are graduated and begin attending Sherwood High.

Gasoline Truck Drivers On Strike in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 3,500 gasoline truck drivers remained on strike today and supplies dwindled at 5,000 service stations in portions of northern Illinois and Lake County, Ind.

The strike, called Monday by Local 705 of the Teamsters Union, cut off deliveries of gasoline completely in Cook, McHenry, Will, and Du Page counties and in parts of Kane and Kankakee counties and Lake County, Ind.

Astronaut May Walk From One Spaceship to Other

Crews Explore Plans for Unique Doubleheader in 'Spirit of '76'

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 6 and 7 spaceships may maneuver to within inches of each other. Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford may leave No. 6 and walk over to No. 7 during the double orbital flight scheduled next month.

These possibilities came up Monday as the Gemini 7 astronauts discussed the flight with newsmen.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell also disclosed they plan to circle the earth for 10 of their 14 days wearing only long underwear.

The original Gemini 6 flight, with astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Stafford, was postponed Oct. 25 when the Agena rocket they were supposed to link up with failed to reach orbit.

"Spirit of '76"

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided to try the unique doubleheader, which has been dubbed the "Spirit of '76." It calls for Gemini 7 to be launched Dec. 8, with Gemini 6 to follow about eight days later. Gemini 6 is to stay aloft two or three days.

Asked how close the two spaceships might come, Borman said:

"We really feel we could get to within a matter of inches. I'm not saying that we will. But all our simulations show that once you are within 50 to 60 feet, it should be easy to go the rest of the way."

Prove Objective

Lovell said he would be pleased if the two Geminis came close enough to prove the basic objective of space rendezvous — "the ability to transfer personnel and materials between two space stations. That would be 25 feet, 50 feet or 100 feet, depending on the method of operation and the length of the tether line used."

According to a plan being studied by the space agency, Stafford would open the hatch of Gemini 6, step out and stroll over to Gemini 7, posing for pictures and perhaps rapping on the window.

A decision is expected within a few days.

Borman said a space walk definitely was out on his ship because of new lightweight space suits he and Lovell plan to wear.

"We plan," he said, "to take this suit off during flight and fly in a shirtsleeve environment for up to, we hope, 10 days."

Jewish Klan Head Cremated After Suicide

Grand Dragon of New York Died as Parentage Revealed

READING, Pa. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader who shot himself to death when his Jewish background became public is being cremated and buried today.

Daniel Burros, 28, the grand dragon of the New York Klan, shot himself twice Sunday in the apartment of a Pennsylvania Klan leader after reading a newspaper story revealing his Jewish origin.

Dr. Michael Austin, assistant Berks County coroner, ruled the death a suicide after an autopsy.

Police said the parents, George Burros, 71, and his wife, Esther, 62, returned to New York after identifying the body. They declined all comment to newsmen.

Fomer Nazi

Police said they told them their son had been away from home for more than a year and they had been unaware of his connection with what they called "un-American" organizations until July 1964. This apparently referred to Burros' reported membership in the American Nazi party and the National Renaissance party, a New York right wing group.

They told police they did not approve of his involvement with such groups, but could do nothing about it.

Police said they knew of no religious services planned and said the body would be buried in a nonsectarian cemetery which they declined to identify.

Shot Twice

Lt. Walter A. Nawoczenski of the homicide department said the autopsy showed that one bullet entered Burros' chest and penetrated a lung, causing a hemorrhage. The second bullet entered the right side of the temple and was the fatal one.

Police said Burros' death occurred in the apartment of Roy E. Frankhouser Jr., 25, named by the House Committee on un-American Activities as grand dragon of the Klan in Pennsylvania. Present besides Frankhouser, said the police, was Frank Rotella, 28, of New York City, identified as a New Jersey Klan leader, and Regina Kupiszewski, 21, described by police as Frankhouser's girl friend.

NOTES and NOTIONS

John L. Paustian

Other than a 5-for-5 performance in the Fox River Valley Conference, we ran into trouble almost everywhere last weekend. Most damaging to the percentage in the other circuits was the dismal 2-for-7 in the National Football League. With last week's pace a mere 63 9 per cent (26 right, 13 wrong) and the season average standing at .722 (197 hits, 76 misses, 9 ties), it might be fortunate that my predictions season is almost over.

Packers over Lions—I hope Packer fans won't have to hold their breath much longer waiting for the next outbreak of that once-fearsome offense. The return to Lambeau Field might very well be the tonic the Packers need for a top all-around effort such as they showed against the 49ers in Green Bay.

Purdue over Wisconsin—It could be another rout if the Badger defense runs for cover when Bob Griese starts unloading. However, the Boilermakers have had some of the steam taken out of them lately, and they'll probably have to work harder than Michigan did to subdue the Badgers.

Lawrence over Monmouth—The Vikes are overdue for a touchdown splurge, and their final home appearance could put them back on the comeback trail.

Appleton over Green Bay West— This has all the earmarks of a top offensive duel. The Terrors are at their peak, while West may be down a bit after bowing successively to unbeaten Oshkosh and East.

Oshkosh over East—The Indians, dripping with power and depth, haven't been pushed hard all season. The Red Devils, on the other hand, have had a few close calls, including a 14-13 decision over Appleton.

Other FRVC games — Manitowoc over Preble, Southwest over South, Fond du Lac over North.

Rozelle Urges Chicago to Build Stadium

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle urged Chicagoans Monday to put on an all-out effort for a new football stadium.

Discussing some dozen cities which have or will have new facilities by next year, Rozelle said the Chicago Bears in 1966 will be playing in the smallest and most antiquated arena in the country.

Rozelle also said that the NFL, which will add Atlanta to its schedule in 1966, will have a 16th team by 1967. He said cities being considered were Boston, New Orleans, Houston, Portland, Phoenix and Cincinnati.

Sports Car Club's Halloween Rally Won by VanEgren

Harold Van Egren, Green Bay, took first place in the Fox Valley Sports Car Club's annual Halloween rally Saturday night.

John Sramek, Racine, finished second. Dave Schmidt, Fond du Lac, was third. Clark Jorgenson, of Fond du Lac, was fourth and Thomas Frank, Kaukauna, was fifth.

Last place in the event went to Ralph Peterman, Appleton.

A total of 50 cars participated in the rally, according to Jim Vandenboom, of the club, who set the course. Three check points were set up over the course, which was a distance of 61.4 miles.

Fights Last Night

BOSTON—Ted Whitfield 145, Amherst, Mass., outpointed Doug MacLeod, 146, Grand Rapids, Mich., 10. Lennis Sparks, 149, Halifax, N.S. and Dick French, 149, Providence, R.I., drew, 10.

Little 9 Title To be Decided Wednesday

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Denmark	6	1	1
Freedom	6	1	1
Winneconne	6	1	1
Wrightstown	6	2	0
Reedsville	5	3	0
Brillion	3	4	1
Omro	3	4	1
Hortonville	2	5	1
Hilbert	0	8	0
Shiocton	0	8	0

The day of decision in the Little Nine Conference football scramble is Wednesday.

After eight weeks of rigorous competition, three teams—Freedom, Denmark and Winneconne share the top spot with 6-1-1 marks.

A full slate of five games concludes the 1965 campaign Wednesday with the feature attraction billed for the Winneconne High School gridiron.

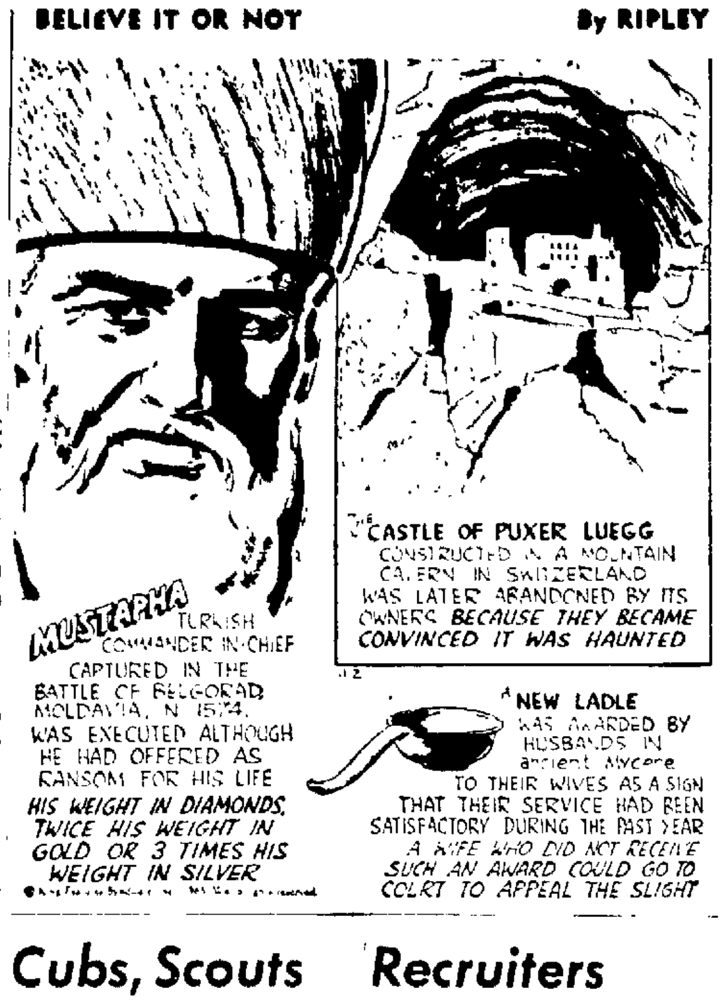

Winneconne's Wolves, coached by Frank Crispigna, tangle with Denmark. The Freedom Irish invade Brillion. Freedom, despite an apparently rejuvenated Lion offense, will be favored to notch its seventh triumph. The John Van Egeren-coached unit is the defending titlist.

Other games send Wrightstown to Omro, Shiocton to Hilbert in a battle of winless teams and Reedsville to Hortonville.

Faint hopes of a possible championship remain in the Tigers' den at Wrightstown. Coach Doug Davidson's crew will be favored to pick up win No. 7 against Omro, but for title purposes, the Tigers need a tie in the Winneconne-Denmark tilt and an upset of Freedom.

Winneconne eliminated Reedsville from contention on a 6-0 verdict last Friday.

Cubs, Scouts Set Program For November

The Cub Scout achievement plan and Paul Bunyan's skills for Boy Scouts share the program spotlight during November in 61 Cub Scout packs and 68 Boy Scouts of the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"Achievement Parade is the theme for Cub Scouts,' Richard Loescher, the council Scout commissioner, reports, "with the object to acquaint boys and their parents with the many opportunities for personal growth offered through the Cub Scout advancement plan."

Dens in each Cub Scout pack will prepare skits to dramatize parts of the achievement story, Loescher explained, and dad-and-son exhibits will be developed in one or more elective areas available to the 8-, 9-, 10-year-old boys. The monthly Cub Scout pack meeting will feature opportunities for parents to try out the Bobcat requirements which a boy must meet when he becomes a Cub Scout and the 12 requirements for the Wolf rank which 8-year-old boys achieve.

Honor Court Plans

Most of the Boy Scout troops in the Valley Council will include a court of honor during November along with the program highlight, "Loggers' Hoe-down," as a part of the Paul Bunyan theme. The outdoor activity will include competitive events based on the skills of ropework, lashings, and safe use of knife, ax, and bow saw.

Explorer posts and their high school-age members will select from a variety of suggested activities. Many of the Explorer posts will be conducting the first of four sessions to qualify Explorers for the "Ready" program of emergency preparedness. The first session covers training in mobilization and communication.

Recruiters For Army Plan Annual Parley

OSHKOSH —To more closely coordinate recruiting activities in the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan, more than 500 U.S. Army recruiters will meet in Oshkosh Thursday for their annual conference.

SFC Al Nieft, Oshkosh recruiter, in charge of arrangements, said there will be 10 conference during the day during which staff members from the recruiting main station in Milwaukee and Fifth Army Headquarter in Chicago will pars on information as to available publicity and anticipated changes in Army regulations concerning recruiting in the area.

Recruiters also will discuss changes in the enlistment regulations for regular army nurses, Women's Army Corps, warrant officer's flight program and other phases of enlistments in the Army.

Guest speaker at the evening dinner will be Joseph Schmitt, Manitowoc, who will speak on the techniques of counseling.

The recruiters will discuss the stepped up techniques to help meet demands of the Viet Nam crisis.

Waukesha Suit Attacks Basis Of Redistricting

Town Asks Court To Throw Out Plan Cutting Supervisors

WAUKESHA (AP) — A court suit attacking redistricting of county boards of supervisors on a population basis was filed Monday in Waukesha County, the same county involved in the Wisconsin Supreme Court's historic decision overturning the unit rule system.

The Town of Waukesha asked the Circuit Court to throw out a reapportionment plan reducing the number of the county's supervisors from 74 to 35. The suit also challenged the constitutionality of the new state law requiring 70 of the 72 counties to redistrict on a population basis.

The law was passed as a result of the 1963 Supreme Court decision holding unconstitutional the 115-year-old unit rule method of county board districting. The ruling was handed down on a suit filed originally in Waukesha County by two Milwaukee Sentinel editors.

The Town of Waukesha's suit asked a temporary restraining order against the redistricting adopted by the county Oct. 12. Circuit Judge Clair Voss scheduled a hearing 9 a.m. next Monday.

Data Processing Managers' Unit Sets Seminars

The Wisconsin Data Processing Management Association has scheduled two seminars from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at Waukesha and West Allis.

Inventory control, production order statues, a brief discussion of cobol, and a short tour of the computer center of the Waukesha Motor Co. is planned for the seminar at the Waukesha firm.

The seminar at Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., West Allis, will discuss the use of production control method in a data processing center, documentation, scheduling, standards and cost distribution.

K. Beckley, assistant manager, will give a lecture and a tour of the corporate computer center will be available.

A social hour is planned from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Tyrolean Towne House; dinner is scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. with R. I. Johnson, director, data processing, Cater-Pillar Tractor Co., as speaker.

UW Law Professor To Address Planners At Fond du Lac Meeting

Prof. Jacob Beuscher of the University of Wisconsin Law School will speak on "Protecting Highway and Watercourse Corridors" to the Association of Wisconsin Planners Thursday night at Fond du Lac. The public is invited.

Beuscher, a nationally-known expert on land planning law and zoning, is a member of the advisory committee to the State Department of Resource Development. The speech will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Colony Restaurant, 1517 W. Division St.

Falcons Receive 3,500 to 4,000 Ticket Requests

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The owner of the Atlanta Falcons, newest team in the National Football League, says he is delighted by the demand for reservations for 1966 season tickets.

Rankin Smith said the Falcons' office received between 3,500 and 4,000 reservations accompanied by a $5 deposit Monday in "a thrilling response."

The owner said the response was so heavy that emergency huddles with post office personnel were needed to assure delivery of all the reservation requests.

Smith said actual seat assignments for the upper and lower deck at Atlanta Stadium will not be made until February. He said the assignments would be made on a first come-first served basis.

Gogolak Has AFL Scoring Lead With 64

Chargers' Lowe Top Rusher; Hadl Sets Passing Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — The sophomore class is making its presence known in the American Football League with such second-year men as W. K. Hicks of Houston, Pete Gogolak of Buffalo, Les Duncan of San Diego and Matt Snell of New York figuring prominently.

Hicks intercepted three passes against Buffalo Sunday and took over the lead in that department with seven for 115 yards, according to AFL statistics released today.

Gogolak continues to pace the scorers with 64 points on 15 field goals and 19 conversions. Duncan tops the league in punt returns with a 16.2-yard average and Snell ranks No. 3 in the rushing department with 428 yards.

Paul Lowe of San Diego remains atop the pile in rushing with 690 yards. John Hadl of San Diego still leads the passers in the involved standings based on six categories. Lionel Taylor of Denver is first in pass receptions with 44 for 556 yards.

PSC to Consider Phone Rate Hikes At Black Creek

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Public Service Commission wil consider an application by the General Telephone Co of Wisconsin for permission to increase rates in the company's Black Creek exchange.

A public hearing is set for 2 p.m. Nov. 9 at the commission headquarters.

The company cited past and planned improvements in the exchange as explanation for the requested increase. In November, 1962, the company replaced central office equipment with more modern dial facilities, and late in December the company plans to establish toll-free service to Seymour and add direct distance dialing to the exchange services. The Black Creek exchange now has toll-free service to Appleton and Nichols.

2 Delegates to Tavern Parley

New London Man In Running for National Award

NEW LONDON — Arnold Kohl, president of the Tavern League of Waupaca County, and William Sohrweide, league secretary, will represent Wisconsin and Waupaca County at the 16th annual convention of the National Licensed Beverage Association Nov. 7-10 at Atlantic City, N. J.

Both men are owners of taverns in New London.

The association is one of the largest trade groups in the country, representing 40,000 bar, tavern and restaurant owners in 31 states and the District of Columbia.

Civil Defense Job Filled by Native Of New London

NEW LONDON — Capt James A. Gruentzel, of the state patrol, a New London native now living in Madison, Monday was appointed to the post of deputy state director of Civil Defense.

Gruentzel, 36, succeeds John W. Fitzpatrick and will begin his new duties Nov. 15.

Gruentzel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Gruentzel, 1305 S. Pearl St. He was a 1948 graduate of Washington High School here and served with the army military police. He married the former Elizabeth Brieco, Bear Creek, and has three children.

Before joining the state patrol in 1954, Gruentzel attended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and since has studied at Northwestern University. He was promoted to captain in 1963 when he was assigned as District One commander.

Woman Killed At Bonduel in Farm Accident

Post-Crescent News Service

BONDUEL — Mrs. Gust Drage, 35, was killed here Monday afternoon when the tractor she was driving overturned and she was trapped beneath it.

Dr. Clyde J. Heagle, Shawano County coroner, said Mrs. Drage was driving the lead tractor in a chain of vehicles. Her tractor was followed by one driven by her husband. The two vehicles hitched in tandem were pulling a chopper and a wagon on a farm owned by Mrs. Drage's brother-in-law, Albert Drage.

The two farms are on adjacent property on route 2, Bonduel, in the Town of Hartland.

One of the vehicles in the train apparently slipped on wet ground and Drage called to his wife to stop her tractor. As she attempted to stop the vehicle it overturned. She was killed instantly.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Drage is survived by a son, 11, and a daughter, 6.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church at Zachow. The Wendt Funeral Home, Bonduel, is in charge of arrangements.

REPORT OF THE PARKING COMMISSION MEETING —
October 12, 1965

The Parking Commission reports and recommends that

1 The Parking Commission accepts the proposed budget for 1966 and forwards said budget to the Finance Committee for review

2 The re-surfacing of Lot 10 (City Hall) at an estimated cost of $1,800.00 be carried over to the 1966 construction season If the work cannot be completed during the remainder of 1965

3 Lot 3 (Washington & Division) be surfaced with a hot sheet during the 1965 construction season and that a guard rail together with a coin operated gate be installed for parking control The estimated cost of this project is $9,600.00

4 Lot 8 (Congregational Church) be surfaced with a turnover seal coat and a guard rail together with a coin-operated gate be installed for parking control The estimated cost of this project is $5,800.00

5 The Common Council extend the three month test period for the Special Parking Permits contracted for by the Conway Hotel through December 31, 1965

There are strong indications that this parking permit is a satisfactory arrangement for use of space in the East Ramp during the off-peak hours, however, more information is needed to confirm that seasonal variations in the usage of these permits do not cause conflicts

Your Money's Worth

Stock Losses Can be Advantage on Taxes

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Millions of you have taken both profits and losses during 1965's sharply fluctuating stock and bond market. While investment considerations should dominate your policies, there are tax angles to weigh too. This column touches only actions you might take between now and yearend and cut your tax bill for 1965.

First, list all sales consummated so far this year, broken down between short-term and long-term capital gains and losses. hort-term refers to stocks or bonds you held for six months or less when you sold them. Long-term refers to those you held more than six months.

Also list any capital losses from earlier years which you couldn't deduct in those years and which you are properly allowed to carry over—and note that not all carryovers from prior years are automatically carried over as short-term losses. S h o r t - t e r m refers to and carried over from 1964 have the same character (long-term or short-term) as they had when realized in 1964.

Potential Profits

Next, list all your potential paper profits and losses on securities you now own, and the date of each purchase. This tells you what additional gains or losses you might realize this year.

You are now set to do your tax planning.

Your key tax goal is to realize enough losses, if possible, to offset any short-term capital gains, which you already have taken, for these gains are treated as fully taxable ordinary income. The guiding rule here is that both s h o r t and l o n g - term capital losses can reduce short-term capital gains in full. But long-term capital losses must first be used to reduce any long-term capital gains and only the amount above the long-term gains can be used to cut your short-term capital gains. From a strictly tax viewpoint, though, even if your capital losses can be used only to reduce long-term capital gains you already have, it generally still will be advisable to sell securities and realize any paper losses you have.

While taking losses may be desirable for tax purposes, many of you understandably do not want to disturb your portfolio by selling now, because you figure the stock you sell for a tax loss in 1965 may rise sharply in price in 1966. You can't solve this dilemma by selling the stock and immediately buying it back, for that's a "wash" sale which would bar you from deducting the loss. Also, losses on direct or indirect sales to your wife, parent, child, brother or sister will be barred.

There is one way around this, though, which has received court approval but not Treasury acceptance. Tell your broker to sell the loss shares, say 100 s h a r e s of XYZ C o r p., "short' and simultaneously to buy 100 shares of the same XYZ Corp. This leaves you in the same securities position. You still own "net" your original 100 shares of XYZ. After 30 days, have the broker cover your short sale with your original shares. Result: you have a deductible capital loss while you still retain an unbroken ownership of 100 shares of XYZ Corp. stock.

The big drawback to this method is that the Treasury has yet to announce whether it acepts the view that the short sale can be used to avoid the wash sale provision. If you prefer only Treasury-accepted methods, you can use any of the following. E a c h , though, involves some economic risk:

Treasury Methods

(1) Switch into similar securities. The thinking behind this suggestion is that the economic risk will be minor, because the prices of stocks of top companies in each industry generally move together.

(2) Take an economic risk for only 30 days. Do this by (a) either selling your shares, say 100, waiting more than 30 days and repurchasing 100 shares of the same corporation; or (b) by buying an additional 100 shares of the same corporation, waiting more than 30 days and then selling the original 100 shares.

You use (a) if you think the stock will drop and you can repurchase cheaper. You use (b) if you think the stock will go up and you can make a profit on the second 100 shares.

450 Take Part In Parade at Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Approximately 450 children participated in the annual Halloween party which is co-sponsored by the Commercial Club and American Legion. A parade led by the Hortonville Community Schools juniors band, directed by Ernest Broeniman, led the costumed children to the high school where they received bags of candy, trinkets and milk. Costumes were judged and cartoons shown.

Receiving prizes from the band were Jeff Utke, Mark Everts, Robin Pankow, Ron Steudel and Mark Paschke.

Judges were Mrs. Joe Keller, Mrs. Kelland Lathrop, Ernest Broeniman, and Leslie Ellis.

Drives After Losing License, Gets Term

A guilty plea on a charge of operating a motor vehicle after revocation of driver's license brought a 15 day jail sentence for Archie B. Stevens, 19, route 1, Oneida, in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon.

Stevens was arrested by Outagamie County Undersheriff Norbert Marx, in the Town of Oneida, Saturday.

Rural Shiocton Driver Fined for Hit and Run

CLINTONVILLE — Jack M. Hillsberg, 24, route 1, Shiocton, signed a stipulation of guilt and paid $52 on a charge of hit and run driving following his arrest Saturday night by Clintonville police.

Hillsberg's car sideswiped the car of Rolland C. Finger, 21, 48 West St., Clintonville, which was parked at the curb on Eighth Street, and he failed to stop, police said. Damages were estimated at $40 to the Finger car and $50 to the Hillsberg car. The accident occurred at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Employment In Outagamie Unchanged

14,549 Workers Is 6 Per Cent Higher Than September '64

No significant change in employment in Outagamie County period was reported this week by the Wisconsin State Employ- Fifty-eight reporting establishment Service.

lishments listed a total of 14,549 employes, only 36 above the mid-July figure. The current total, however, is about 6 per cent above that reported in September, 1964.

A slight increase in total employment is anticipated for the mid-November report, the service said, with machinery and paper firms expected to show moderate gains.

Experienced Workers

The near-full employment status of the county, coupled with a shrinking labor supply, will continue to produce above normal replacement demands. At present, the demand for experienced workers in all fields is greater than the qualified supply.

The supply of workers available, as indicated by the number of applicants registered with the WSES, is only 659. Fifteen per cent are seeking employment in clerical or sales fields and about 6 per cent are skilled workers with qualifications limited to definite fields.

All indications point to a continued shortage of workers in general, the WSES said.

Demand and supply for year-round workers is well balanced, although some shortage is being experienced in maintaining an adequate in-plant work force in some food procsesing plants.

Phone Firm at Sherwood Adds To Toll Free Area

SHERWOOD — Toll free service to Kaukauna will be available Nov. 16 for Sherwood and Forest Junction subscribers of the Stockbridge and Sherwood Telephone Co.

Other toll free exchanges are Stockbridge, Hilbert, Appleton and Greenville.

In June the Sherwood based company converted the Forest Junction magneto exchange to dial, allowing toll free service between Forest Junction and Sherwood.

Since Sept. 1, Stockbridge subscribers have had toll free service between Stockbridge and Chilton in addition to Sherwood. A petition to add Appleton to the Stockbridge list failed to meet approval of the Public Service Commission.

State Official Discusses Roads

SUPERIOR — Some form of accelerated highway construction program was predicted for the state by the Secretary of the State Highway Commission, at the 24th annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Highway Superintendents' and foremen's Association last week.

V. L Fiedler stressed that "Maximum statewide progress depend upon safe, adequate modern highways where they are needed," and said constant attempts to provide the roads would be made.

The meeting here was attended by 218 representatives of 45 counties. A. P. Meixensperger, Fond du Lac County, was named president, with Andrew Treiber, Racine County, vice president, and Arthur Rautio, Douglas County, secretary-treasurer.

Next year's silver anniversary meeting will be at Racine.

Seymour Livestock

Cattle 50 cents lower, canners and cutters 10-13, utility 13-14½, heifers 14-19, bulls 14-19, fat cattle 18-24.

Calves Strong, choice to prime 26-32, good to choice 25-28, standard to good 19-25, throw outs 18 cents down.

Seniors Encouraged To Join Naval Reserve

High school seniors are being encouraged to inquire at the Appleton Naval Reserve, 1824 Ballard Road, concerning affiliation with the local unit, according to Commander Robert E. Bodoh. Many inquiries have been received recently by the Naval Reserve from anxious parents who are concerned about military committments for their sons.

Under the high school senior training program, Bodoh stated, a young man assures himself of deferment from the draft for at least one year. When he later enters active duty for two years, it is for the same length of time as a draftee, but in the meantime, the reservist has an opportunity to be promoted in the Naval Reserve. He then does not enter active military service as a recruit, but instead, has one or two promotions in his record.

Further information may be obtained by calling 733-4593.

Profit Nears $45 Billion for Corporations

After-Tax Income Running 17 Per Cent Above 1964 Period

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. corporations have pushed their profits close to the $45-billion mark. After-tax income in the third quarter of 1965 ran about 17 per cent above the 1964 period, early reports indicate.

Almost all major industries share in this year's gains, although steel makers show a mixed pattern, so do tobacco companies. In the oil, motors, electronics, rail, airline, and utility fields, report record earnings from record sales volume. Most chemical firms, drug makers, nonferrous metals, glass, and heavy equipment makers are on the upside.

The golden flood is one of the reasons the stock market has been pushed to new highs, although a profit increase was expected. The record gross earnings also mean record tax payments, despite lower rates. This is one reason the U.S. Treasury is doing better than it first had hoped.

GM Booming

In motors, GM pushed its July-August-September net profit up 18.6 per cent above a year ago to a record $263.8 million. Ford's 28 per cent gain put it at $102 million.

In oils, a 42 per cent spurt is reported by Sinclair at $19 million. Indiana Standard at $60 million is ahead by 17 per cent. A 11 per cent surge by Gulf brings it to $102 million. Continental has record profits of $24 million, and Atlantic Refining a record $15 million. Socony Mobil has $79 million third quarter profits, against $70 million a year ago. Union Oil has $33 million against $23 million. Cities Service reports $25 million against $18 million. Sun Oil made $24 million.

Railroads have chugged ahead this year after a long period of hard times. Pennsylvania has $18 million profit in the third quarter, against $16 million a year ago; Norfolk & Western $22 million against $20 million; New York Central $8 million against $6 million, Great Northern $11 million against $7 million; Baltimore & Ohio reports $5 million this year against $1.5 million last. And Missouri Pacific has risen to $6.3 million from $5.9 million.

U.S. Steel

U.S. Steel profits rose 30 per cent in the third quarter from a year ago, and Armco profits are up 29 per cent. But Republic did only slightly better this year than last. And the same is true of Kaiser Steel and Colorado Fuel & Iron. Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National, Allegheny Ludlum, Crucible and Granite City Steel trailed the year ago results. Most steel companies reported increased sales volume but rising costs that squeezed profits.

In other metals the picture is mostly bright. Kennecott Copper made a whopping jump from $3.7 million last year to $24 million this; Alcoa was up from $14 million to $17 million and Reynolds Metals jumped from $7 million to $11 million.

Big upward strides are reported by industrial giants in many other industries. General Electric made $84 million this third quarter against $69 million last year. IBM rose to $117 million from $101 million. Du Pont cleared $98 million, although GM dividends last year let the chemical giant report $102 million. Union Carbide rose 23 per cent to $57.8 million.

Air Lines Earnings

United Air Lines reports earnings up 77 per cent. Pan Am rose to $36 million from $23 million and American Airlines to $16 million from $14 million, while Trans World Airlines was rising to $27 million from $19 million.

Aircraft makers are profiting from increased sales of commercial planes and military and aerospace equipment. Boeing third quarter profit rose to $23 million from $11 million, and Lockheed's was up 20 per cent to $13 million.

Utilities mostly had their customary steady but moderate rise. But Pacific Gas & Electric reports $34 million profit this year against $30 million last.

Two tobacco companies set records this time, American and R.J. Reynolds. But Lorillard, Liggett & Myers and U.S. Tobacco all slipped below last year's figures.

The profits reports will continue to pour in for a few more weeks. And they will add up to insurance that 1965 will prove the most profitable year American business has ever known.

Schlitz Buys Interest In Spanish Brewery

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. announced Wednesday it has entered the brewing industry in Spain, with acquisition of a minority interest in La Cruz del Campo S.A. of Seville.

Schlitz president Robert A. Uihlein Jr. also said that the two firms have jointly formed Cervecerias Nacionales S.A., which soon will begin construction of a new brewery in Barcelona. George M. Shay, vice president of Schlitz International, has been named managing director of Cervecerias Nacionales.

Uihlein did not specify the extent of Schlitz's interest in La Cruz, but said his firm would be the majority partner in the Barcelona operation.

State Share of Service Trade Income Lags

Average Trails in Comparison With Population, Income

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state Department of Resource Development is concerned that the state does not have a normal share of the service industry income of the country.

A bulletin of the agency says it is "surprising" that a state which has about 2.15 per cent of the population of the country and 2.1 of the nation's gross income has only 1.4 per cent of service industry receipts of the nation as a whole. The department cited the most recent data of the U.S. Census.

Growth Area

But there is also a powerful suggestion in the figures that the service trades and industries represent one of the most promising of the growth areas within the state, officials said.

Moreover, those service industries in which Wisconsin shows a comparative lag are those with the most attractive practitioners who would be the most desirable residents of the state.

Many of the persons involved "can be discriminating regarding their business location and their residence. If they are especially capable, the world will beat a path to their doors. Wisconsin should have great natural appeal for such people," the department observed.

Study of Lag

The agency suggested special study of the factors involved in the lag in the Wisconsin receipts of those businesses providing lodging for travelers. The situation is fair to good in smaller hotels, and seasonal facilities associated with recreation, but the states' lodging enterprise on the whole has lost its relative standing during the last decade, it was found.

The department also said that recreational services on the whole could be more productive and profitable "if they had a more capital-intensive character." In the service trades as a whole, the market is not fixed and limited. They compete for a larger and larger share of the consumer's dollars, it was pointed out.

Soo Line Sets Earnings Record

A new nine-month earnings record for the Soo Line Railroad Co. was announced Thursday by Leonard H. Murray president.

Net income for the period was $4,746,616, an increase of nearly 10 per cent over the first nine months of last year. The nine-month income also exceeded the total net income of all of 1964.

Personnel Changes at Coated Paper Firm

Lloyd E. Mielke, Menasha, Named Senior Industrial Engineer of Appleton Firm

Appointment of a senior industrial engineer at Appleton Coated Paper Co., along with several appointments within the new production and inventory planning areas, was announced today.

Mielke

Lloyd E. Mielke has joined the staff as senior industrial engineer, working on production standards, materials flow, inspection methods, profit improvement projects and other industrial engineering functions to improve manufacturing methods, according to Roy Bartz, manager of the industrial engineering department.

At American Can

Prior to joining Appleton Coated, Mielke was employed by American Can Co. in the firm's New York office and Neenah plants. He was born and raised in Menasha and graduated from St. Mary's High School before getting his mechanical engineering degree in 1961 from the University of Wisconsin. The Mielkes live in Menasha.

Hinz VanGeffen

Four appointments have been announced by Reg N. Reinke, production and inventory control manager. Rodney A. Hinz has joined the department's production planning area as scheduling and expediting supervisor. A 1960 business administration graduate the University of Wisconsin. Hinz for the last 5½ years was employed as systems and methods manager and manager of the Racine plant of Elm Tree Bakery. Mr. and Mrs. Hinz live in Neenah.

Three Promotions

Adrian VanGeffen, former shipping expeditor, has been promoted to supervisor of central receiving, material handling and raw material warehousing in the production planning section. He has been with the firm for 10 years, starting in the rewinder department in 1955. He was made a laboratory inspector in 1963 and shipping expediter last year.

Langman

Roche

Harry Langman, former traffic department head, has been promoted to traffic, shipping and finished goods warehousing supervisor in production planning area. He also has been with the firm for 10 years, starting in the sample room in 1955. He was transferred to traffic clerk in 1959 and was made head of the traffic section earlier this year.

Pat Roche has been promoted to supervisor of specialty, solvent and merchant inventory and order control in the firm's inventory planning section. He has been with the firm 18 years, starting in the reel department in 1947. He transferred to the mill office in 1952.

Adjustment Firm Starts Business

K. O. Mackey, former claims adjuster with General Adjustment Bureau in the Fox Cities for 19 years has established the Mackey Adjustment Service to represent insurance companies. The firm, at 20 Westwood Ct., Appleton, will provide multiple line service to facilitate investigation and processing of insurance claims.

Corporate Earnings Reports

An increase in net sales of $2.5 million for the first nine months of the year was reported to stockholders of SW Industries, Inc., Co. of Newton, Mass., by D. W. Stapleton, board chairman and president. Net sales for the first nine months of 1965 were $8,182,248 compared with $5,614,195 for the same period of 1964.

Net profits showed an increase of $192,000, reaching $513,656 for the first three quarters of 1965, compared to $321,754 for same period of 1964. Earnings per share currently are $1.21 compared with 71 cents. A cash dividend of 17½ cents per share on common stock will be paid Dec. 10, an increase in the quarterly dividend rate of 15 cents a share.

Total sales exceed 1964 by 45.7 per cent and total earnings by 49.6 per cent, Stapleton said. Stowe-Woodward Co., a division of SW Industries, roll covering sales maintained the pace set in the first half of 1965, reflecting improvement in both phases of business, machine builder sales and direct sales. Roll covering volume for 1965 will surpass that of 1964, Stapleton said. Stowe-Woodward Co. operates a processing plant in the Town of Menasha.

Central Wisconsin Motor Transport Co. revenues for the first quarter ended Sept. 30, showed a 14 per cent increase over the same period last year for the Wisconsin Rapids based firm. Earnings for the first quarter were 94 cents per share, compared to 66 cents a year ago, an increase of 42 per cent.

Revenues for the quarter ending Sept. 30 were $5,659,586 compared with $4,963,769 for the same quarter of 1964 while total net income after taxes was $363,668 for the last quarter, compared with $255,853 for 1964.

Historically, the company's first quarter earnings are the highest of its fiscal year. Revenues in October are ahead of last year. The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the loan agreement with the Prudential Insurance Co. and the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, and we are in the process of finalizing the credit arrangement, Arthur W. Clark, president, reported to stockholders.

General Motors Okays Dividend Of $640 Million

NEW YORK (AP)— General Motors will distribute $640 million among its 1,275,000 stockholders for a yearend dividend of $2.25.

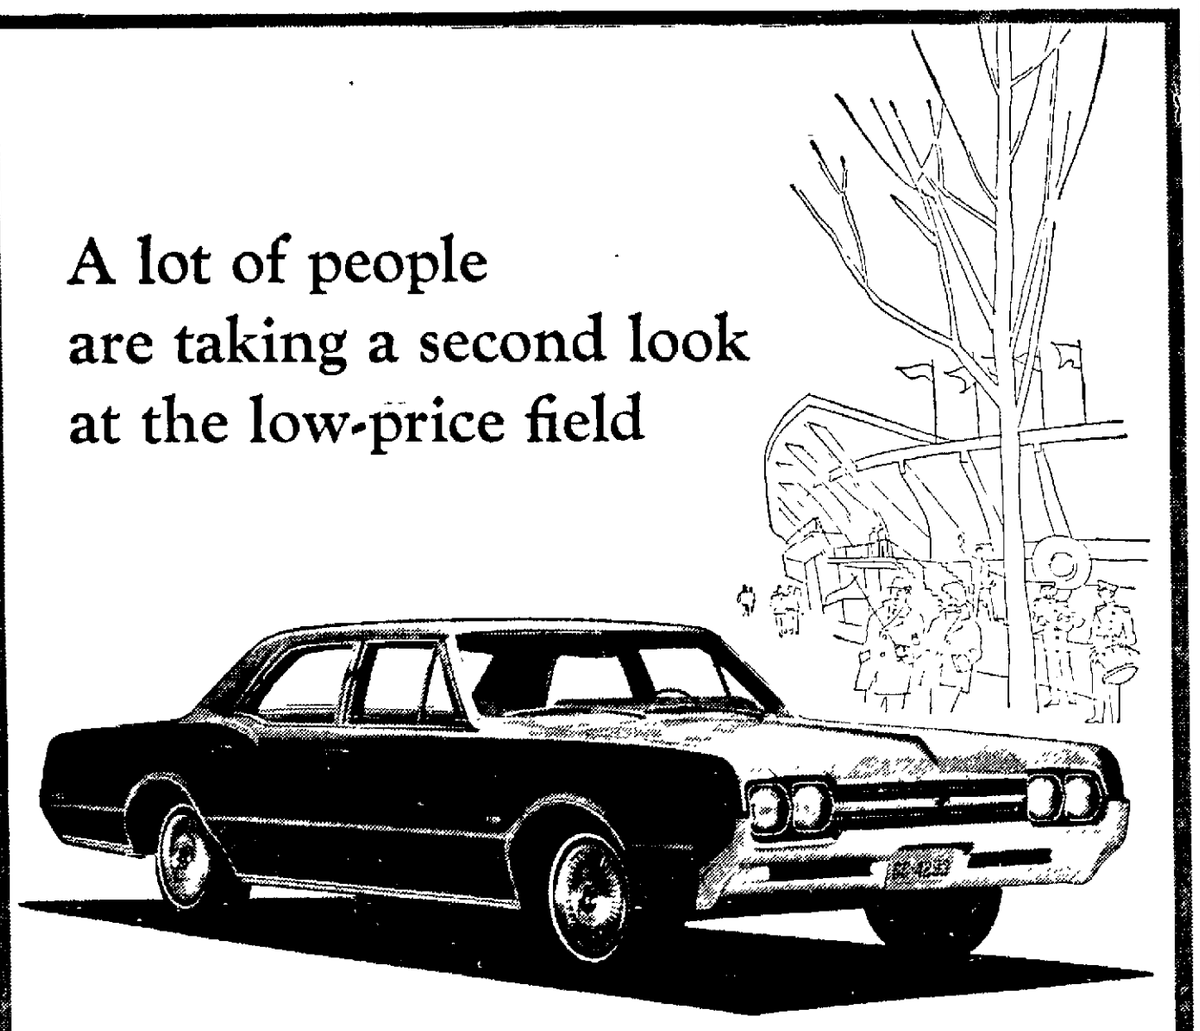

The world's No. 1 manufacturer and automobile maker said Monday it was raising the 1965 payout to $5.25 a share. The total outlay for the year will be $1,495,000,000 to stockholders, the largest amount paid in the company's history.

The dividend will be paid Dec. 10 to stockholders of record Nov. 10.

It had been rumored on Wall Street that the board of directors would split the stock, but they didn't.

$32 Million Appleton Program Is Proposed

Six-Year Improvement Schedule Presented by St. Louis Planning Firm

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A custom, $32 million, six-year, capital improvement program was recommended for the City of Appleton Monday.

Starting in 1966, it is geared to have a heavy physical impact on the city, including a $4 million urban renewal project in the College Avenue business district.

The sweeping plan, complete with recommendations for financing improvements "within the city's ability to pay," was formulated by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis, Mo.

Planning Recommendations

About 40 city oficials and business leaders Monday afternoon heard the capital improvement recommendations for the period 1966-1971 outlined by Malcolm Drummond, an associate partner with the nationally known St. Louis firm.

Last month a plan for rejuvenating the central business district was presented to the city, received considerable support and has since been adopted by the Appleton Council.

Drummond cautioned Appleton residents not to become alarmed by the $32 million figure, emphasizing the five-year program would not present a tax rate hardship if sound financial practices are employed to implement it.

However, Drummond indicated Appleton could not afford holding back on the several proposed projects geared to help the city progress in a sound, orderly manner in the face of rapid growth.

$32 Million Package

The $32 million package — the biggest in the city's history — calls for:

—New water supply via Lake Winnebago, $3.2 million, with construction to begin next year on the pipeline and additional water plant facilities.

—Storm sewers, $3.3 million, and new sanitary sewers, $1.2 million, starting in 1966 and continuing over the next five years.

—Construction of a bridge over the Fox River parallel to Oneida Street, plus approaches, $4.7 million, starting in 1968.

—An Appleton-Oneida Street connection, $170,000, work scheduled in 1967.

Calumet Extension

—Extension of Calumet Street from Oneida Street to Memorial Drive, $500,000, with a 1967 target date.

— General paving projects for the next five years, $3 million, the first phase covering $500,000 worth of work in 1966.

— New public library, $1.4 million, scheduled for 1971 as a start of the proposed downtown civic center.

— A new northwest side fire station, $150,000, to be built next year.

— A sludge incinerator, $250,000, in 1967.

New Pool

— Construction of a new municipal swimming pool on the city's west side, $300,000, in 1967.

LBJ Looks Fit, Keeps His Ballot Hidden From Newsmen

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was the first man to vote in his home polling place today, setting a citizenship example for millions who are casting ballots in off-year elections.

Johnson, deeply tanned and looking fit, showed up to vote a few minutes after the polls opened in this small town — population 611 — where he grew up.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, voted in a bright, flourescent-lighted demonstration kitchen at the headquarters building of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative he helped build nearly 30 years ago.

Big Issue

The big Texas-wide issue in the election was whether to back Gov. John B. Connally's proposal to add two years to the present two-year term for the governor and other state officials. The AFL-CIO campaigned strongly against the Connally proposal to amend the state constitution.

Johnson did not disclose his feelings on the matter. And he carefully shielded his ballot from a group of newsmen and photographers who were permitted to watch him vote.

Red Terrorism in Indonesia Spreads

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist terrorism spread to west Java today as the army strove to put down Red violence in the central and eastern areas of the island, Antara news agency reported.

The agency reported the Communists were attacking the homes of non-Communist organization leaders in the west Java area of Tasikmalaja and had desecrated local mosques.

This was the first reported terror activity in west Java, where several Communist party branches earlier dissolved themselves.

Antara also reported a clash in east Java between 500 members of the youth wing of the party and security forces at Dukuh Karanganjar. The agency said one soldier and four rebels were killed and 16 Communist youths were captured.

The situation was still reported serious in central Java. The newspaper Api said that at least 450 persons have been killed by terrorists in the Bojolali and Klaten areas of central Java.

President Sukarno, in the face of mounting Communist acts of terrorism, belatedly sanctioned Monday martial law that was proclaimed by the army in Java areas.

Sukarno said he decided to sanction the state of war in the two areas becuse the rebel movement that tried to overthrow him Oct. 1 still "threatens the safety of the state, nation and revolution. Immediate and firm actions were required to restore order."

Diplomatic sources said Sukarno's approval of the state of war measure does not necessarily mean that he approves the army's crackdown against the Communists. But the diplomats added Sukarno's latest stand obviously will strengthen the army's hand in suppressing the Communists.

Polaris Sub Successful In First Sea Trial

The Kamehameha is equipped to fire the most advanced Polaris missile, the A3, which has a range of 2,500 nautical miles.

Cavalrymen Battle at Plei Me, Long Besieged Viet Nam Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat troops reported 92 Communist guerrillas killed and 26 captured in fighting in central Viet Nam today and Monday.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, who arrived in Viet Nam only seven weeks ago, fought three engagements against an enemy force of between 500 and 600 men near the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me, 210 miles north of Saigon.

The airborne cavalrymen reported they killed 88 of the enemy, captured 26 others and picked up 26 suspects. A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese regulars were among those killed and captured.

There was no word on American casualties.

The Plei Me camp underwent a week-long seige before the Communists were routed last week. The cavalrymen have been hunting down Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the area since then.

The Viet Cong attacked an outpost near Qui Nhon, on the coast 260 miles north of Saigon, but a U.S. spokesman said paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division fought off the assault and killed four Viet Cong. The Americans suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

In the northernmost sea rescue of the war, Capt. Norman P. Huggins of Mullins, S.C., was picked up after his plane was hit by conventional ground fire over a Communist surface-to-air missile site 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, a military spokesman reported.

Bailed Out

Huggins headed out over the South China Sea and bailed out 57 miles east of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. He spent an hour in a life raft before he was rescued by a plane piloted by Capt. David P. Westenbarger of Fairfield, Ohio.

Soviet, Chinese Conflict Fatal To Summit Talks

ALGIERS (AP) — The second African-Asian summit conference finally fell apart today, a victim of the fierce political conflict between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Foreign ministers of the African-Asian world buried their hopes for the projected meeting and shelved it indefinitely. Already delayed twice, it was to have opened Friday.

The foreign ministers reluctantly concluded that a summit could not be held now because it would be boycotted by their most powerful member, Red China, and a number of other members.

Peking stayed away from the foreign ministers' conference and warned that it would not at this time attend any conference which included the Soviet Union.

Zealots Try To Halt Vote In Israel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Several hundred religious zealots tried in vain to halt Israel's national elections in Jerusalem today.

Members of the Naturei Karta extremist sect gathered at several polling places and handed out leaflets calling the elections treason and heresy against the Torah. A spokesman said they hoped by their presence to halt voters from entering the booths.

The bearded extremists disbanded quietly upon the arrival of police, and no violence was reported.

Most of the demonstrations took place in the Mea Shearim quarter of the capital, a stronghold of Jewish Orthodoxy. But the extremist action apparently had little effect as Orthodox voters continued to arrive at the polls.

With sunny, cool weather prevailing throughout most of Israel, a good voter turnout was reported. The Israelis were voting for a new parliament, and a political deadlock was possible as a result of veteran David Ben-Gurion's new party.

Minnesota Governor To Start Proceedings Against State Official

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag and the state attorney general, Robert Mattson, announced Monday they will institute legal proceedings to remove Insurance Commissioner Cyrun E. Magnusson from office.

Magnusson was among 17 persons indicted on fraud charges last Friday by a federal grand jury which had probed American Allied Insurance Co., St. Paul.

Joint Statement

France, Russia Call For Peace in Asia

MOSCOW (AP) — France and the Soviet Union called today for a Viet Nam peace settlement based on an end to outside interference in the internal affairs of the divided country.

The proposal — restating a position which both the French and the Soviet governments have taken previously — was made in a joint communique at the end of five days of talks between French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and top Soviet leaders.

The communique contained no joint peace formula, however, and made no specific mention of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

It said the two governments expressed "growing concern" over the "new dangers" for peace stemming from the Viet Nam war

Geneva Pact

It said the Viet Nam problem should be solved by strict application of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

These agreements, the communique said, "foresee respect for the principles of independence and sovereignty of the states of the Indochina peninsula as well as nonintervention in the internal affairs of these states."

The statement said the French-Soviet talks helped to build understanding between Eastern and Western Europe in a dialogue both sides said they hoped would continue.

The only specific agreement mentioned was a pact to be concluded later covering Soviet-French cooperation in space research. It is believed this will apply to joint work on a communications satellite system.

The talks also covered questions of German reunification and the proposed multilateral nuclear force for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Both France and the Soviet Union oppose the force, and French sources said both sides exchanged views on these points and retained their earlier positions.

The sources said Couve de Murville repeated the Western proposal for unification of Germany based on self-determination by the German people.

The Russians again called for recognition of "both German states," but French sources said the Russians had no expectations that the French would recognize Communist East Germany.

They said the status of Berlin was not brought up by the Russians.

Parishioners of Oneida Catholic Church

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ONEIDA — They came all day Sunday and Monday to church.

Members of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, the curious, and passersby, came to view what remained of once the proudest, most modern building in a community predominated by aged and weary farm homes and buildings.

"We'll build again," Donald Kleuskens, a DePere contractor, said as he stood among the debris which once was the church he supervised in building.

"It will be the same church," he said. "We'll be ready to go at it as soon as the place is clear and the insurance is settled."

Hand Labor

"Not a single machine touched the high beams," Kleuskens recalled. "They were all lifted by hand one day when most of the men in the parish came down to help."

The beams, the furnishings in the church, windows and draperies, were all destroyed in the flames, whipped by near gale force winds early Sunday morning.

Authorities suspect the fire was touched off by an arsonist's torch. Two nearby barns owned by parishioners were also burned.

The flames were driven by such force that they licked out across busy Outagamie County Trunk E and threatened to destroy the frame rectory across the road.

'Pull Together'

The "help" which built this church in nine months four years ago, will come again, Kleuskens said. "This kind of thing pulls a church parish together."

The Rev. Adrian Traeger, pastor, was busy late Monday with insurance agents who surveyed the wreckage preparatory to making adjustments. Kleuskens said the building was "well insured" and the church will not be lacking funds when construction time comes, sometime in the spring.

Even though, a strolling visitor, obviously not a member of this Catholic parish, suggested that a donation box, placed outside the church door, would be filled by other passersby.

'Built It Good'

Others, men and some women, said they would respond to a call to rebuild the church. Some, who had worked at the building the first time, four years ago, said "we built it good. We didn't feel we would have to be rebuilding it."

"When I built that doorway," Kleuskens said, pointing to a pile of brick rubble near where the alter once stood, "I planned on being buried right through the door." The door leads from the church to a small parish cemetery only a few feet away.

The parish will celebrate mass in the basement of the immaculate Conception School. Nuns have already borrowed a portable organ from a church in Freedom. A church goods supplier will provide an alter.

The parish has been offered services of the Freedom church as well as the building housing the Methodist church north of the burned out Catholic church.

Father Traeger, however, will keep the parish together for the time being, a nun said, "and we will make do in the basement."

Bells Silent

The flames damaged the bell tower rope and supports over the statue of the Blessed Mother in front of the church. The bell, Sunday, was silent for the first time since the tower construction, two years ago. Farmers in nearby fields were used to hearing the bells before services and at noon.

One parish member, pressing close to the statue was pleased to learn "that She still smiled." The statue was unharmed except for some roof tar which dripped on its shoulder. Witnesses to the fire said the flames "at her back were the hottest in the fire."

One elderly lady, holding onto the arm of her husband, stood quietly beyond the roped area, and watched.

"It was too bad," she said. "It was a hard year—first the crops—and now this. It really was too bad."

She and her husband picked their way beyond the rope and stood at what once was the magnificent glass doorway. Twisted beams which once supported the doors to the church, lay curled at their feet. They did not talk, but the older man walked ahead into the damaged building.

The woman paused for only a second—to put a covering over her head—then she followed her husband into the church.

Grandfather, 2 Children Die in Fire

SUPERIOR (AP) — A grandfather and two small children died Monday as flames engulfed an aging two-story frame house so quickly that firemen were unable to attempt a rescue.

The three victims were Thomas Podgorak, 70, and his grandchildren, Lorrie Podgorak, 3, and Peter, six months old.

The house was leveled by the blaze, and a fireman said, "I don't suppose we'll ever know the cause."

Podgorak was babysitting with the children while his wife and daughter-in-law was shopping. The children's father, Peter Podgorak, a truck driver, was at work.

Firemen said a woman turned in the alarm shortly after 2 p.m. By the time trucks reached the house in the Village of Superior, just outside the city, the dwelling was completely enveloped in flames.

Calumet Home Daily Costs Show Increase

Trustee Reports Welfare Figure Lower Than Others

CHILTON — Daily Calumet Homestead patient costs rose 54 cents the last year, according to the report of L. P. Blumberg, chairman of the board of trustees. Costs for residents of the county-operated home for the aged at New Holstein went from $5,012 last year to $5,551.

Blumberg said this still is nearly $3 per day less than most other private homes in the area and $3 per day less than welfare patients could be cared for in private institutions.

Superintendent William F. Grundman said the ratio of welfare patients is rising. There are 37 at the home, compared with 16 voluntary patients as of June 30.

Grundman said the home eventually will be occupied completely by welfare patients.

Blumberg said no appropriations are being requested, as a cash balance of $52,678 exists. He urged supervisors to continue their practice of putting an annual allotment aside for an eventaual building program.

He cited the long waiting list of welfare patients and explained that an expansion which would permit admittance of all county welfare patients would be a saving to the county.

Total expenditures for the year ending June 30 were $108,447, compared with $97,993 the previous year, an increase of $10,457.

Property Increase

Homestead properties are valued at $308,208, an increase of $10,000 in eight years despite yearly depreciation, Blumberg said.

Accounts receivable are $4,130; consumable materials and supplies, $3,006, and prepaid insurance, $995, for a total of $369,018 in assets.

Liabilities and proprietorships are $6,281 for total current liabilities; $62,027, reserves for depreciation, and $300,709, proprietary interest.

Expenditures consist of $21,751 for total administrative and general, an increase of $2,647 from last year's $19,104.

A $4,746 increase was noted in care of residents, rising from $47,831 to $52,577. This includes dietary expense, dental, medical and surgical and personal service.

Household and property rose from $20,788 to $23,325, a jump of $2,537. This category consists of housekeeping, laundry, plant operation and equipment and grounds maintenance.

Total depreciation was set at $10,793, $524 greater than last year's $10,269.

Although total expenditures reached $108,447, deducted were dietary earnings of $1,111, vending machine profit of $13 and occupational therapy sales of $196, leaving net expenses of $107,125.

The John Birch Society sign along U. S. 10 between Weyauwega and Waupaca continues to be plagued with bad luck. The sign has been splattered with paint and cut down. It was up again Thursday, reinforced by steel pipes, but a strong west wind Saturday night toppled it again. The sign has attracted state-wide attention and will be rebuilt according to Robert Bales, Weyauwega society president. (Post-Crescent Photo)

First Vandals, Then Nature

Weyauwega Birch Billboard Down Again; Wind Is Culprit

WEYAUWEGA — First vandals and now Mother Nature struck Waupaca County's most controversial road sign located between here and Waupaca on U.S. 10.

Put up by the Weyauwega chapter of the John Birch Society, the sign denounces Justice Earl Warren on one side and the other side calls for the U.S. to get out of the United Nations.

Lately the sign has been down more than it is up but the chapter president, Robert Bales said Monday the society will not give up in their efforts to have a sign.

The sign, which drew a considerable amount of criticism, first appeared May 31. At that time both sides of the 8 by 20 foot sign said "Impeach Earl Warren." For two months the sign went unmolested and then on Aug. 3, one side of the sign was splattered with green farm implement paint. Just 10 days after the paint throwing incident the three large posts which supported the sign were cut off, dropping the sign into a field.

Sign Rebuilt

To avoid a recurence of the chopping incident and to put the sign further out of reach of any paint throwers, the sign was rebuilt, on five steel pipes filled with concrete. This time the bottom of the sign was 10 feet off the ground. However the steel pipes did not prove sturdy enough and just 48 hours after the sign boards were attached to the pipes last Thursday, the wind came along and blew it down, bending the pipes at more than a 45 degree angle.

Bales said an error was made in the size of pipe used. Not giving up, Bales said larger pipes wil be used and the sign put up again.

Instead of repainting the paint-spattered side of the board with the original Warren slogan, Bales said, the "Help get the U.S. Out of the United Nations" slogan was used on the side of the sign which can be seen by east bound traffic.

Rep. Langen Lauds Plan For Rural Job Skills

Congressman Opposed Administration's Proposal to Move People Into Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., says the administration apparently bas been giving some second thoughts to moving rural farm families off the land.

"I am pleased," he said, "to see that the administration is finally beginning to take some advice given back in May when the House Republican task force on agriculture warned that 'the administration must take another look before imposing the death sentence on the nation's farming population.' "

Langen is chairman of the GOP task force on agriculture. He was referring to an administration plan for setting up in the agriculture department a program to prepare rural people lacking basic job skills for useful jobs in their rural areas rather than crowding them into city slums.

Deplored Elimination

In May of this year, the Republican task force issued a statement deploring what it called the administration's planned elimination of some 2.5 million family farms from the American scene.

At that time, Langen said, "the imagination reels" at the thought of the effect of such a migration on county and local government as well as on schools, churches and many services.

"Evidently," Langen said in regard to the new plan, "the administration has been giving some second thoughts to moving the rural inhabitants off the land.

Commends 'About Face'

"We of the agriculture task force commend them for this 'about face' and we stand eager to view those plans with which the administration might come forward to preserve rather than phase out, a large part of rural America."

He said he hoped the administration's plan was broad enough in scope to effect an improvement in bona-fide farm income.

"Rural America," he said, "can have economic vitality only if agriculture and rural industry serve as dynamic complements to each other."

Neenah Youth Burned About Side of Face by Exploding Firecracker

MENASHA — A 15-year-old Neenah youth received burns on the side of his face Sunday morning when a firecracker thrown from a passing car exploded next to his head.

Richard A. Krutz, 613 Western Ave., was taken from the playground at Chute and Lush Streets, where the firecracker was thrown, to Theda Clark Hospital. He was given emergency treatment and then released.

He told police the firecracker was thrown from a '54, '55, or '56 dark, model car filled with young men.

Pranksters Break Windows

6-Year-Old Boy Goes to Bed Crying After Youths Take Bag of Treats

Denny, 6, went to bed Hallowe-en night without his treats, his father said, because Denny, and his sister, Patti, 7, were victims of Halloween "strong-arm men" who snatched candy and in one case, money, from trick or treaters.

Denny's father, who asked that his real name not be used, said his son was about three-fourths done with trick or treats in his neighborhood, when he was attacked, he said, by older, high school age youths who took his candy.

"What could they have gained by the theft," the father told The Post-Crescent "There were only a few pieces of candy in any of the bags. It was hardly worthwhile."

Boy Cried

The father said the boy cried when he reported the theft to his father, but the father said he would not call police to report the incident. He said police were probably busy with other Halloween incidents.

They were.

A home at 714 W Fourth St. was damaged when a firecracker was thrown against a storm window on a porch. The window was blown into the storm porch by the blast.

Police later questioned three juveniles who were dropping firecrackers from the Memorial Drive bridge, but the three were not believed to have been part of the home incident.

A new home under construction on Briarcliff Drive was damaged sometime Saturday night Windows were vandalized, the contractor told police.

Burning Bag Thrown

A burning bag was thrown on a porch at 1108 W. Lorain St. There was no damage

A 13-year-old girl reported the theft of a candy bag and about $3 she had collected for a fund drive by an "older boy" dressed in a white sheet

Throw Rock at Window

A resident at a home at 2002 N Owaissa St told police she had run out of treats Sunday night and turned away several costumed callers, then looked out the window in time to see three "skeletons" throw a rock and break her window.

Authorities in Little Chute, Kimberly and Kaukauna, reported normal vandalism — minor window soaping and destruction of jack-o-lanterns. A rock was thrown through a window at the vocational school in Kaukauna.

Waupaca Has Safe, Sane Halloween

WAUPACA — The city observed a safe and sane Hallowe-en this year, according to Police Chief Fred Rasmussen

By Monday noon not a single complaint of vandalism had been received by the police department, he said The only evidence that Sunday was Halloween were a few soaped windows and a couple of streamers of tissue hanging from tree limbs, he said.

To keep order several police officers and members of the auxiliary police patrolled the city in radio cars

Fire Chief, Bob Hansen said this is the first time in recent years that the fire department was not called to extinguish a pile of burning leaves started by some pranksters

Boys' School at Waupaca Is Long Way From Reality

But State Senator Tells Farm Group That County Still Is in Running for Selection of Site

MANAWA — Waupaca County still is in the running for a new northeastern Wisconsin boys' school, State Sen. Jerris Leonard said here Monday night, but there "still is a long way to go." Leonard addressed about 250 persons at the ninth annual Farmers Night sponsored by the Manawa Lions Club.

Leonard, a Republican and member of the state building commission, said the final decision will be based on which will be the best location for all citizens of the state. Several counties already have offered free land for the school, but this will not be a determining factor in making the final site selection, he said.

Suggest Six Sites

At a recent Wausau meeting, the State Welfare Commission interviewed representatives of the counties which have submitted site possibilities. The Waupaca County delegation presented six county sites which meet state requirements.

Leonard reviewed the current legislative session and said that, under the guidance of Gov. Warren Knowles, it could be called an education session due to much educational legislation that has been passed. This is the reason for the tax hike, Leonard said.

Because of the rapid increase in number of students entering post high school schools, it has been necessary to emphasize education, and with more and better education there will be an increase in state taxes, he said. For the 1966 school year, 25,000 new students will enter post high school schools, he said.

Bigger School Loads

Although there has been a slight decrease in enrollments in Madison and Milwaukee, the state universities will have increased enrollments of 40 per cent above the number anticipated, the senator said. This is the reason for the two new four-year universities which are being planned, he added. To top it off, he said, next year there will be an increase of 40,000 new elementary students, which will mean increased future school loads.

Creation of new jobs for graduated students is another problem being faced. This year, Leonard said, 180 new plants have been established in the state, which have created 2,700 new jobs and brought $160 million into the state. Even this is not enough, he said.

Other problems facing the state are water resources and crime, Leonard said.

Just Beginning

The water problem is just beginning to come into focus, he said. "Pollution is not the only problem, but 'Do we have enough water?' is the big question," he said. Many persons think industry is creating the big pollution problem, he said, but this is not true. It is the municipalities without adequate sewage facilities. To add to the problem, many of these communities cannot afford to install adequate equipment.

Crime also is boosting taxes, he said, with the crime increase gaining more rapidly in rural areas than in cities. "If we are not careful, Waupaca County will not have to worry about having a boys' school because if crime continues to climb as it is every county in the state will have to have its own boys' school," he said.

Leonard blamed parents for failing to teach children the basic elements of citizenship. The increase in one-parent families resulting from broken homes is one of the reasons for the increase in crime, he said. The basic government unit still is the family and many of today's crime problems could be settled in the home and in the woodshed, instead of calling police or a congressman, he stated.

Oleo Situation

After his address, Leonard was questioned by farmers in the group about his stand on the oleo situation. Standing on his record in Madison, in which he supported removal of the oleo ban, Leonard said allowing oleo into the state would not be a threat to the farmer but only to the illegal traffic of oleo across the state lines from Illinois.

He also rejected allowing manufacture of a substitute which contains low butterfat content. All this would do, he said, would cheapen the image of butter.

"If oleo would be allowed in the state, it would probably mean a freer flow of Wisconsin milk to other states, which is now being hampered because of the ban", he said.

Iola Resident Charged With Rare Coin Theft

Associate Editor Of Firm Held Under Bond of $15,000

WAUPACA — The associate editor of a magazine for coin collectors was charged Monday with taking $13,800 in silver dollars and rare coins from the publishing firm.

Jack W. Nannery, 39, Iola, was held in lieu of $15,000 bond after being bound over for trial on charges of burglary and theft.

A cache of coins was recovered from beneath a stack of wooden ties along an abandoned railroad through a cow pasture near Iola. Waupaca County Sheriff Loran Frazier said authorities were still checking the coins at the State Crime Laboratory in Madison Monday night to determine if any were missing.

Employed Since April

Nannery, formerly of New York City, joined the Numismatic News as associated editor in April. The money was taken from the office safe of Krause Publications, Inc., Oct. 14 and the coins found by a farmer Oct. 20.

Authorities kept the pasture under surveillance more than a week without sighting anyone. They arrested Nannery at the publishing firm in Iola Friday.

The money included $4,500 in

$400,000 Program

Council at New London Expected to Approve Nursing Home Project

NEW LONDON — Two ordinances opening the way for the construction of a $400,000 nursing home are expected to be passed at tonight's council meeting.

Plans for the structure were presented to Ray Pelishek, public works director, about a month ago. Changes in the ordinance governing structures in the city and the official map must be made before a permit can be issued.

The planning commission has recommended changing the zoning ordinance to allow nursing or old age homes and the elimination of two planned streets.

The streets were mapped into a future development of a five-acre site in Abrahams Addition. This site, which faces east on Division Street and runs north of Beckert Road, is the site for the proposed home.

The redistricting proposal also is expected to come up for cinsideration.

Women Bartenders

The question of permitting women bartenders is expected to come before the council once again. The license and judiciary committee has split two to one on the proposal to change the rule prohibiting women bartenders. Ald. Edwin Knapstein (2nd) favors changing the 1947 ordinance. Ald. Jerome Zaug (1st) and Byron Christian (5th) favor leaving the present law in effect.

Knapstein is license committee chairman while Christian heads the judicial committee. The matter has been tabled four times by the council.

A number of tavern owners at the Oct. 19 meeting said the ordinance should be changed.

Police Chief Jack Algiers said he did not favor having women bartenders, but if the council voted to have them an ordinance requiring all persons tending bar to have an operator's license should be adopted so the city would have some control.

UCD Food Distribution Declines During October in 9-County Area

NEW LONDON — Surplus food distributions in a nine-county area by United Counties Distributors showed a small increase in total commodities delivered and a decline in persons participating. The figures are in line with the national pattern for such distributions.

August marked the sixth consecutive month of decline in participation nationally, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

During October 173,303 pounds were distributed to 10,716 low income families in the Valley area. Poundage increased by 3,245 while the number of participants dropped 25 from September.

Outagamie County had 1,678 persons taking part, down 120 from September, and distributed 25,528 pounds of commodities, up 3,396.

Winnebago Distribution

Winnebago County distributed 22,805 pounds to 1,421 persons. Participation increased by 35 and poundage by 457. Waupaca County delivered 13,427 pounds, down 1,196, to 883 persons, down 46.

UCD gave 1,075 Fond du Lac County residents 16,743 pounds of food, 46 less participants and 1,617 less pounds. Oconto County increased poundage by 2,712 to 19,583 and upped participation by 26 to 1,058.

Shawano County dropped 1,493 pounds to 18,961 and 13 persons to 1,179. Waushara County increased eight persons to 478 and 821 pounds to 7,809.

Portage County jumped 22 persons to 1,091 and 1,329 pounds to 19,113. Marathon County saw participation increase by 108 to 1,853 but poundage dropped 1,164 to 29,234.

UCD Requirements

Surplus foods are available to low income families. Families do not have to be on welfare rolls to get the commodities.

State requirements for being placed on the roll include household earnings not to exceed $115 per month for one person, $170 for two, $240 for four and $30 additional for each additional person.

Earnings do not include taxes or other mandatory withholdings from the salary.

The very low unemployment rate has been the reason for the drop in surplus food distributions, the USDA said.

WITH YOUR NEW DELUXE ELECTRIC

SPEED QUEEN CLOTHES DRYER

Bad Weather Ahead . . . RAIN, SNOW, SLEET, COLD, BITTER WINDS . . . It's no time to be hanging clothes out of doors. An electric clothes dryer will eliminate much misery from your life, and it will pay for itself in no time at all. Dryers do not cost much . . . it's the ill health and inconvenience of NOT having a dryer that is expensive.

You've Seen The Rest, Now Buy The Best At The Lowest Price Ever!

You'll save time and money with this wonderful Speed Queen clothes dryer. It allows you to damp dry clothes in 20 to 35 minutes. You can select the heat you want for normal fabrics or delicate fabrics, or use air only for fluffing blankets, pillows, etc. The air changes approximately 40 times a minute. Heated air absorbs moisture from clothes, passes through the lint screen depositing lint and then passes through outlet duct. The famous Speed Queen "In-A-Door" lint screen is a giant capacity, pull-out type, located in the loading door at the front of the dryer. It eliminates loose flying lint in working parts of the dryer and is readily accessible for easy cleaning. Safety switch stops motor and stops heat if door is opened . . . dryer will not start when door is closed until start switch is pushed. A real safety feature to protect your children.

Reciprocal Student Exchange Approved by UW Regent's Board

Plan Would Open Marinette Center to Residents of Upper Michigan Peninsula

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

Wisconsin students in the Huley and Niagara regions would in return be allowed to enroll at the Gogebic Junior College at Ironwood and the planned Iron Mountain Junior College, if the latter is constructed.

State authorities in Michigan have not yet acted on the proposal, approved by the spring session of the Wisconsin legislature but university officials are hopeful that their Michigan counterparts will view the program favorably. Tentative plans were approved by the board of regents at its last meeting. The final plans will be submitted to the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and the legislative Joint Committee on Finance or the board on government operations for approval.

Lower Cost

Michigan students would be able to attend the Marinette center at Wisconsin resident tuition rates, $210 per year. Out-of-state tuition is $550 a year. The center tuition costs are substantially below similar charges at the Madison and Milwaukee campuses of the state university.

The agreements would be limited to permitting Wisconsin residents from the Hurley region to attend Gogebic Junior College, and state students from the area of Niagara, near the Marinette and Florence county border and the Michigan state line, attend the Iron Mountain school.

Students would not be admitted under the plan into the Wisconsin and Michigan schools on a one-to-one ratio, but as applications are received. It is expected by UW officials that more Michigan students would attend the Marinette center than state residents would attend college in the upper peninsula.

Established Faculty

The greater attraction of the Wisconsin center is expected due to its existence as an established facility with functioning programs tied to the UW.

Present enrollment at the Marinette center is 232, and the added students from Michigan might increase the enrollment by as much as one third, according to Lorentz Adolfson, chancellor of the UW center system.

"In this way we will be able to make a substantial center out of the Marinette institution, much to the advantage of the Wisconsin students," he said.

Southern Area

Adolfson and university president Fred Harvey Harrington also said that similar programs might be developed in the future in the southern area of the state where the center system now operates sites in Kenosha and in Rock County at the southern edge of Janesville.

There are now some Illinois students attending the Kenosha center and it is felt that if tuitions were reduced for Illinois residents, substantial numbers might attend the Rock County center from South Beloit, just over the Illinois state line.

It is doubtful that many Wisconsin students would attend school in northern Illinois in the near future, although a reciprocal arrangement could be worked out with Northern Illinois, a four-year state university in Dekalb, Adolfson said.

The last Illinois legislature required the establishment of junior college districts throughout that state by 1970. "Then Wisconsin students could attend Illinois schools for their freshman and sophomore years," Adolfson said. "But that is really too far in the future to make any definite plans right now."

Inquest Set in Traffic Deaths

Witnesses Will be Questioned About Greenville Crash

An inquest into circumstances surrounding a triple fatality traffic accident in the Town of Greenville Oct. 1 will begin at 2 p.m. Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 3, Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said today.

Three members of a Park Falls family were killed in the two-car headon crash on U.S. 45. They were Charles R. Bradle, 19, driver of one of the cars, his sister, Ruth, 10, and brother, Michael, 2.

Driver of the other car was Gregory R. Popke, 19, 604 Wallace St., New London. He was not seriously injured in the accident, which occured about 7:20 p.m.

Inspected Scene

A coroner's jury inspected the accident scene Oct. 9, and since then witnesses have been questioned, Kemps said.

Statements have been taken from Mrs. Evelyn Bradle, 40, mother of the three victims, who still is confined in Appleton Memorial Hospital, and Miss Sandra Wehrman, 16, Park Falls, who was a passenger in the Bradle car and who recently was transferred to a Park Falls hospital.

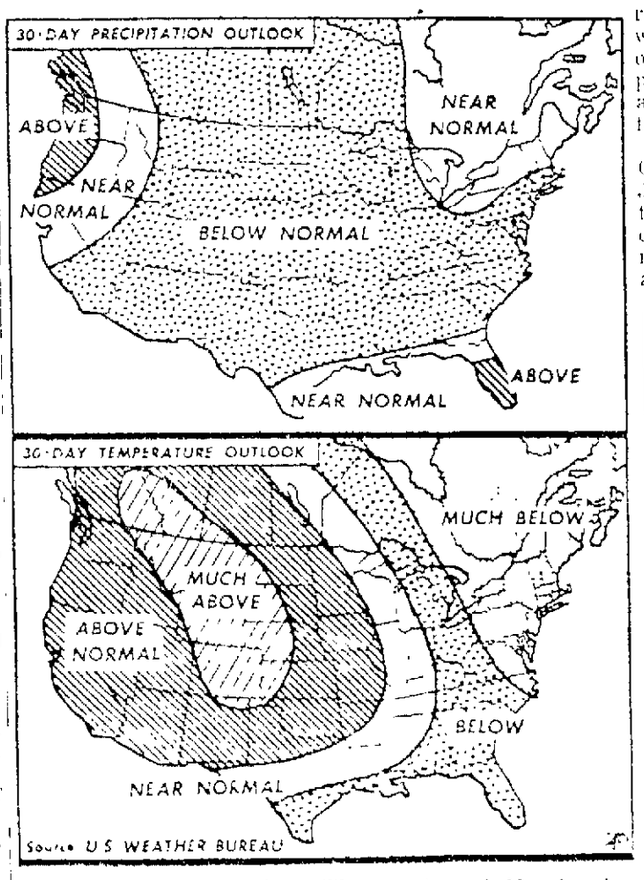

Five other witnesses have been subpoenaed and will be questioned, Kemps said.

U.S. silver dollars and $1,000 in Canadian silver dollars which the magazine was using in a subscription drive. Also taken were approximately $8,300 in rare coins belonging to the publisher.

Nannery was not represented by legal counsel at the arraignment Monday and requested a preliminary hearing. He later retained Edward Hart, Waupaca attorney, as his counsel. An appearance date in County Court will be set after Hart has had an opportunity to confer with Nannery, Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson said.

Value of the coins taken in 1 estimated at $10,000, now has been increased to $13,600, according to Chester Krause, owner of the publishing firm. Krause and Undersheriff William Mork went to Madison Monday to make a complete inventory of the recovered coins. Before leaving Waupaca they said they think all or almost all of the coins have been recovered.

Former Detective

Prior to coming to Wisconsin Nannery was a resident of Brooklyn, N.Y. On his job application he listed his occupation as a detective on the New York Metropolitan Police Department.

Krause said he met Nannery through mutual friends in the coin collecting field and that Nannery had been the security officer at several New York coin shows which Krause attended. Listed as an authority on military currency, Nannery was also an officer of at least one New York Coin Club, Krause said.

While employed by Krause Publications, Nannery represented the firm at coin shows in Chicago and Canada, Krause said. Another of his duties with the firm was to answer inquiries about coins, he added.

Nannery is married and has three children.

4-Year-Old Boy Treated At Appleton Memorial For Accident Injuries

Ty Tyrrell, 4, 529 E. Lincoln St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of bruises he received about 4 p.m. Monday when he ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Ruth B. Nass, 2306 S. Carpenter St.

Mrs. Nass told police she was driving south on Lawe Street, near Lincoln Street, when the boy ran into the right front door of her car.

New Industry May Come To Menasha

MENASHA — An Appleton industrial developer said Monday there is a "good possibility" for a new industry coming into Menasha to take over the buildings vacated by the Menasha Corp.

Joseph Engel of Joseph Engel Realty Co., agent for Menasha Corp. for the sale of the property, said much of the groundwork has been laid for bringing the new company to the island.

The name or the nature of the firm cannot be disclosed at this point, Engel said, because negotiations are still underway.

But, he said, one of the major requirements the firm imposed was a large supply of water, one million gallons a day and possibly two million gallons if an expansion of the present facilities is made.

In an Oct. 28 letter, Menasha Corp. President Richard L. Johnson assured the company that existing water leases on the canal can provide the two million gallons and are available at a nominal cost.

Jury to Hear Battery Charge Against Eichorst

Leonard E. Eichorst, 30, 725 Koehnke Road, pleaded innocent to a charge of aggravated battery when he appeared Monday morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for Nov. 22.

Eichorst was bound over for the reading of information after a preliminary hearing late Friday afternoon in County Court Branch 2.

Dr. Joseph Bonner, who treated Mrs. Pranke at St. Elizabeth Hospital, told the court she received a wound in the lower right part of the back and that the liver was penetrated. She was hospitalized for two weeks.

Bond for Eichorst was continued at $2,000.

Loitering Nets Term for Youth

Milwaukee Resident To Take Lie Test in Fire Investigation

Richard Cornelius, 19, a former rural De Pere resident now living in Milwaukee, was sentenced to 20 days in jail Monday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of loitering in a liquor tavern.

Cornelius appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a complaint signed by Undersheriff Norbert Matx, who told the court the young man was in Van's Valley Tavern, Town of Oneida, between 1:30 and 2 a.m. Sunday and again about 8 a.m. Sunday.

The Milwaukee man was taken to Madison this morning by Outagamie County authorities after he consented to take a lie detector test in connection with the fire that destroyed Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Oneida early Sunday.

Arsonist Sought

Cornelius has been questioned by authorities who believe the $110,000 church blaze and the fires that destroyed two nearby barns owned by parishioners, is the work of an arsonist.

Also taken to Madion for examination by specialists at the state crime laboratory were several items of clothing, footprint samples found near the church Sunday, blood samples and fingerprints found inside the newly constructed but not yet occupied convent on the grounds of Immaculate Conception Church.

Cornelius is one of five young men picked up by authorities after the church fire. The other four were released after questioning.

Hunter Wounds Self While Checking Gun

KAUKAUNA — Charles Schuh, 20, 211 Franklin St., Little Chute, shot himself in the right leg while checking the safety on a .38 pistol at the Richard Horn residence, 316 Taylor St., about 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Schuh was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital for treatment.

The mishap occurred as the two were preparing for a hunting trip.

Long Truck Bill By-Passed

The state senate took the only reasonable decision under the circumstances that confronted it when it sidetracked the hotly controversial proposal of the commercial truckers of the state for state approval of commercial trucks of larger dimensions.

The hope of the truck organizations is that a serious study by a legislative committee in succeeding months may open the way to a revival of legislative consideration of the proposal, perhaps in the planned legislative session next year. We are inclined to doubt that the climate of opinion will change significantly, at a time when most of the senators will be contemplating the problem of winning re-election in the fall, but the idea of an objective study of the issues involved is a good one, nevertheless.

Like most others who reviewed the matter when it was before the state assembly earlier in the year, we had profound reservations about the timing of the plan to legalize longer trucks, about the representations that were made on behalf of the proposal, and about the actual intentions of the sponsors of the legislation. To ask for authority to drive larger vehicles over the wide, expertly designed, limited access and four-laned Interstate highways and others of similar standards is one thing. To suggest, even by indirection, that such huge machines should be permitted on other and lesser roads is intolerable for anybody with the slightest appreciation of traffic problems and highway safety hazards.

The truckers have repeatedly said that their proposal is identical to legislation already in effect in other states including adjacent states. But such assertions have been as regularly disputed by their foes and critics. The debate has degenerated into a series of undocumented and feverish claims and counter-claims, charges and counter-charges. If the public has become confused, dubious and suspicious, it is not surprising.

It should be a simple matter for a legislative committee to direct an agency with experience and knowledge of the subject to collect the facts and to present them without prejudice. What are other states doing in this regard? What has been their experience? Are there other features of the Wisconsin motor freight regulations that counterbalance the possibly more generous length accommodations of other state statutes? How does the head of the state highway safety division feel? The legislature has power of subpoena. These witnesses can be summoned with ease. The argument thus far has been equivocal in many respects. The transport industry is entitled to make its case, out of deference to its demonstrated importance in the economy of Wisconsin as a whole. But the legislature has an obligation to decide on the basis of the whole issue, as it affects all the people of Wisconsin, and that responsibility it has thus far not even pretended to meet.

Urban Sprawl Invades the Towns

Towns with growing pains when it comes to population and commercial-industrial development—and there are typical examples of them here in the Fox Cities region — are rapidly becoming America's new urban frontier.

While the transformation is resulting in a broader tax base for these adolescent communities, the mass urbanization also presents added responsibilities and major capital improvement project expense which must be met.

As a result, towns growing up around the central city are gradually awakening to the economic fact of life that the Utopian dream of little or no tax rate unfortunately is a temporary mirage and doesn't really materialize over the long run.

Whether it be village, town or city—it costs money to grow as the demand for public services and conveniences pressurizes. As towns get caught in the urban sprawl they, like the city, have an obligation to plan for sound, orderly growth which should tie in with regional planning.

Surely these blossoming communities cannot expect to rely solely on the sheriff's department in their respective counties, or a part-time constable or two, for the law enforcement and protection that has to be provided the citizenry. They need full-time police and fire agencies operating on an around-the-clock basis.

Towns with visions of becoming large, separate governmental entities must also be thinking in terms of huge municipal treatment plants, storm and sanitary sewer systems, water treatment plants, accelerated garbage and trash collection programs, lighting systems, municipal buildings, boards and commissions to implement comprehensive plans, proper zoning and land use codes, along with well-trained professional personnel to plan, build and supervise operation of municipal facilities.

It would seem that existing small communities seeking to maintain their independence of the central city could utilize some of the knowledge gleaned from the past and put it to good use in the future.

While the cities in this region face a great challenge, some of the bustling townships face an even greater one. However, they have an advantage with open land left to develop and the golden opportunity to benefit from hindsight in their attempt to avoid mistakes that have been made by the older urban areas now caught in a period of unrest and change. This is how it is in the Fox Cities region and others like it across our land.

Confusion Over Cuban Exodus

As American and Cuban officials, working through a Swiss intermediary, make plans for the air lift of what will probably be several hundred thousands of Cubans who are tired of Castro, there is still confusion over why the Cuban dictator opened the ports.

Of course the new permissive policy does not apply to all Cubans. Those who can leave are the aged, the infirm and the children. All young men of military age are forbidden to leave unless their physical conditions make military participation impossible. The professional men, the doctors, lawyers and professors, also cannot simply pack up and leave. They must wait at least a year and there is serious doubt that even then they can go if their services are needed in Cuba.

Castro, faced with the usual food shortages and increasing complaining as the revolution has not answered everyone's dreams as he promised, may be trying to get rid of some of the sources of his problems. The consumers and not the producers can leave. There is some feeling, too, that faced with the possibility of leaving, others may settle down to work harder to contribute to the success of the revolution.

But this type of appraisal has not influenced other Communist countries. The Berlin wall went up after thousands of professional men and women had fled East Germany. Does Castro have some sort of idea that his refugees will so add to our problems that our economy will be injured?

Most likely he is using the open door policy as a foot in the door toward restoring some sort of relations with the United States. After all, the Soviet Union eventually became respectable, at least in the eyes of our diplomats, and we recognized its Communist government. We have not had diplomatic relations with Cuba since 1961 and the missile affair certainly did not encourage any softer look at Castro's brand of Communism. But it is quite possible that Castro may soon broach the subject of the release of political prisoners and perhaps even make a move toward some sort of token payment for American property seized by his government in exchange for trade and diplomatic contact.

Nevertheless, the effect of the long lines of Cubans waiting to get visas and permission to leave and what is expected to be several hundreds of thousands taking advantage of the opportunity must be to increase the doubts of other Cubans in their government. We must even wonder over the Russian approval of the plan and exactly what the devious Kremlin intrigue specialists think will be the result.

U.S. Votes With African States In U.N. Resolution on Rhodesia

BY MAX FREEDMAN

WASHINGTON — During the recent debate at the United Nations, the United States for the first time voted for a resolution on Rhodesia put forward by the African states. In the past the United States has opposed the various resolutions calling for the release of political prisoners in Rhodesia and an end to the denial of liberty, or has abstained. The United States gagged its conscience and stopped its mouth not because it approved of these shameful and indefensible policies in Rhodesia but because it felt that the United Nations had neither the right nor the power to deal with such internal matters.

As the urgency and danger of the Rhodesian crisis grew steadily worse, the United States quit this policy and adopted a more generous attitude. It decided for the first time to oppose immediate independence for Rhodesia on the basis of supremacy for the small white minority. It even held out a vague and general threat that the United Nations would join in sanctions against Rhodesia, while leaving the burden of any military action to fall principally on Britain. It supported the decision to have the problem of Rhodesia kept under "urgent and continuing review" for the entire length of this year's general assembly.

In fact, Ambassador Goldberg, speaking for the United States, made this declaration: "We are told that those who threaten to take illegal action in Southern Rhodesia are unyielding and determined. We must assure them here today that there are others who are equally unyielding and equally determined—unyielding in our conviction that self-determination must apply to all the people of Southern Rhodesia, and determined that the disastrous step of unconstitutional action will be vigorously opposed."

HARD TO FULFILL

This was a brave, generous and necessary pledge; but it will be an extremely hard pledge to fulfill. The pattern of racial discrimination has already been set on rigid lines in Rhodesia. How can it be unravelled?

Under the Land Apportionment Act the tiny minority of white settlers—220,000 whites—have 36 million acres while the four million Africans have only 40 million acres. The entire political structure of the country has been built, and is maintained with a pitiless contempt for equal justice between the races, in order to guarantee that the white minority will never be molested in its special privileges or will have to lose its supremacy. The civil service contains some of the most zealous and unprincipled advocates of white supremacy. Repressive measures are harshly enforced against any white person who gets out of line or who seems to be making progress in helping the African majority to achieve some of their rights. There are only two high schools which train African students to meet university standards. Students attending the University College in Salisbury on scholarship must renounce all political activity as a condition of their acceptance. It is the familiar story of tyranny. First the white minority tramples on the rights of the colored majority; then it argues that the colored people are unprepared for freedom.

U.N. IS COMMITTED

Not even Prime Minister Harold Wilson in his gallant mission to Rhodesia has tried to tear up this ugly pattern. He has tried instead to keep the Smith government from defying the British government by declaring immediate and unconditional independence that would be an act of rebellion against the British crown and an act of provocation that would set a large part o fAfrica abalze in racial fury.

In essence, the British government wants three things from Rhodesia. It wants an assurance that there will be no independence without full respect for the rights and privileges of the African majority. It wants the further assurance that these protections for the colored majority will not be withdrawn or abridged once independence has been achieved. Finally, it wants an end to white supremacy and the steady movement by agreed stages over a period of years to the creation of a multi-racial state. At present these objectives are opposed by most white settlers, although many of them dislike the wicked and oppressive measures of the Smith government.

The United Nations, with the United States in the foreground, is now committed to follow this struggle to the end, no matter how painful or how prolonged.

Tourist Gets To Yemen; Yes, It's an American

Maybe it's the ultimate proof that the world is getting smaller while its population is getting bigger. Anyway, the first tourist has finally showed up in Yemen, surely just about the last place a tourist would want to visit.

Sun-baked, backward Yemen, recently in the news only because of a rebellion which drew Egyptians and Saudi-Arabians into its desert warfare. Not a restaurant to be seen. A ramshackled hotel occupied by fierce tribesmen. A crumbling, shell-pocked palace. Hardly a tropical paradise.

Oh well, it got a tourist anyway. Naturally it would be an American. More surprisingly, perhaps, it was a woman, too. We doff our hat in admiration.—Calgary (Alta.) Herald

John Paul Jones, father of the United States Navy, established a 13-gun salute for American ships, one gun for each original state.

Great Britain's traditional 21-gun salute came about because early British men-of-war fired seven guns; while forts on shore replied with three times as many guns since powder held up better on dry land.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Nov. 9, 1865.

The immediate effect of a Democratic victory in the North this fall would be to complicate the work of reconstruction and embolden the rebellious Southern spirit.

The sentiment and ideas which carried the war through should be kept alive. To relax would be to surrender much which has cost so dearly in blood and treasure. The President looks to the loyal men of the country for support and counsel.

If, through overconfidence or any cause, these are withdrawn, the opposition—that opposition which has been in such constant sympathy with the rebels—will gain a substantial triumph and the ideas of freedom and progress will suffer a defeat.

Taking part in the training were Ensign Harold Reiss, office in charge, Harlan Sieth, Herbert Gerend, Carlton Heinritz, Ray Williams, Thorsten O. Johnson, Charles Overly and Joseph Glasheen.

Philip Pozniak, Appleton, No. 158 in the selective service lottery at Washington, was among Outagamie's first men drafted into military service. Everett Ziegenbein, Seymour, held No. 158 in the second district and Alfred E. Volz, Sugar Bush, held the same first number pulled out of the glass bowl in the nation's capital.

Wisconsin Report

State Aid to Local Governments Vital To Their Existence

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—There is no more familiar refrain in the Wisconsin legislative dialogue than "state aids."

The typical small town or rural representative learns almost as a first order of business when he arrives to take his seat in one chamber or the other that his constituents and his local government leaders regard him not as a law-maker in the interest of the whole state, but as a kind of ambassador to the ruling powers with a mission to pry from the state budget more subsidies covering a wide range of basic local government service obligations.

Wyngaard

Every legislative session, moreover, receives more propositions for new state aid programs, and it is a rare Legislature that does not add one or two new assistance programs to the list of such aid laws.

VITAL NOW

It was only about a quarter of a century ago that the most important of the state aid programs—on behalf of local schools — was begun. In the years since it has become such a vital under-pinning of local budgets that there would be chaos in local finance in wide areas of the state if such subsidies were suddenly abandoned.

The big and generous highway aid program is also relatively new, in historical terms. But it has become such a staple of local government budgeting, and especially in the rural districts, that hundreds of town chairmen would be wholly at a loss to know how to continue their road improvement program if the state assistance was cut off. Local welfare programs would probably collapse completely, without the infusion of state funds and federal funds distributed by the state.

These matters are reasonably esoteric. Few ordinary citizens have more than a casual understanding of the increasingly intimate relationship of their local government and the state treasury, and nobody should be especially surprised about it. The average politician, who has not had direct statehouse experience, has only a general notion of the system also.

Several recent governors, for example, under extreme political pressure because of the new state tax programs they were forced to advocate, complained with obvious surprise that their financial problem was not a "state" problem, but related entirely to the obligations of the state to pay for the support of the nominally independent local governments.

As an example, there would not now be the slightest need to talk about additional taxation, or bonding, for desired state highway improvements, if the state was not returning to the localities, for the local roads, such a generous share of its current state highway tax schedule.

THE POLITICS

One of the basic reasons for the ferocious resistance of many rural politicians, and especially those of the rural northland, to legislative reapportionment, was the fear that if urban districts got more power in the legislature they might be less eager to tax themselves for the succor of those rural constituencies.

The State Department of Resource Development, in a current bulletin and for the readily evident reason, publishes graphs disclosing the wide range of aid payments between the "have" districts and the "have not" districts of the state. In many communities the state aid dollar is far more important than the dollar raised in local taxes. In many communities the local tax rate has been held to tolerable limits because of the increasing flow of money from Madison. Some upper Wisconsin counties are getting up to six times as much in state aid per capita as are those of eastern and southern Wisconsin. There is no reason to doubt, moreover, that the state will increasingly accept in the future responsibility for the financing of local governments.

Strictly Personal

Comedian Is Unhappy, Discontented Person

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Reading about the "nervous breakdown" of a widely known comedian, a friend asked why, in my opinion, so many comedians and humorists seem to be unhappy or discontented men in their personal lives. "Even Mark Twain," he said, "was a bitter and pessimistic person.

The best explanation that comes to mind is that a humorist presents only one part of himself to the public—and this side is taken for the whole man. Naturally, the rest of the personality resents being "typed" for a lifetime as a mere jester.

Some years ago, after dealing with this topic in the column, I received a long letter from Groucho Marx, who had also wondered about it. His letter said, in part:

"It's a curious thing, but people expect me to be always flippant. When I'm not, they are invariably disappointed. For example, last week I was at a night club where I watched a famous comedian go through his paces. It wasn't a particularly good show, but the comic knew I was out front, so I was obliged to go backstage and visit him after the performance.

"Following the usual insincere compliments, he told me he was having a terrible time getting to sleep and that his nightly struggle with the demon insomnia was something to behold. I assured him there was a cure for this—and suggested that, in the future, he sit in the audience while his show was on, and he'd have no further trouble sleeping.

"Now I agree with you, this is not a very tactful thing to say—nor is it a very practical solution. Yet, he seemed quite delighted with this observation."

What Groucho was really saying here is that he, over the years, has conditioned people to expect a certain reaction from him — and his own personality is trapped, as it were, in this web of public expectation. In many cases—and this is true of more people than comedians—we behave in the way we think others expect us to behave, even though we may at heart feel differently.

The comedian is unhappy and discontented, I believe, because he is forced by public pressure to be less than a whole person, and to live his life as a stereotype. The trouble with being a "character" of any sort is that one's audience refuses to let one step out of "character". The great entertainer is more a slave to his public, than they to him.

$32 Million Program Proposed for Appleton

sisting of general improvements, $250,000; addition to East Ramp, $330,000; a new parking ramp in what is known as Soldiers Square, $690,000; and downtown urban renewal, $4 million.

New school construction, $6 million, the five-year program including a northwest elementary, $1.2 million; southeast elementary, $1.2; vocational school, $1 million; northeast elementary, $1.2; and central elementary, $1.2 million.

Drummond said the six-year plan, plus a list of other improvements for future years will meet the projected needs of Appleton through 1985.

"We are talking about millions of dollars but don't let that scare you," Drummond said. "It is a practical plan and can be financed without major increases in the annual tax rate."

The consultant reminded that several of the improvements will be underwritten through federal and state grants, parking and water revenue bonds, short term bonds and general obligation bonds.

Drummond said his firm made a thorough analysis of the city's financial picture and concluded the proposed new bond issues could be made within legal limitations.

By 1971, the consultants predict, Appleton's assessed valuation will have climbed to $190 million and the equalized valuation to $399.5 million. Drummond said estimates were conservative.

As of Dec. 31 of this year, the city will have $22 million in bonds outstanding, including $12 million for school debt.

The proposed capital improvement program (1966-71) will require issuance of $11.2 million in general purpose-general obligation bonds on the following schedule: 1966, $1.4 million; 1967, $2.1 million; 1968, $2.6 million; 1969, $2.4 million 1970, $1.2 million and 1971, $1.4 million.

$10 Million Downtown

The central business district facelifting and the city's first proposed urban renewal project will top the $10 million mark.

Cost of rebuilding College Avenue will be financed by an assessment against the property owners.

A 460-space ramp planned south of Soldiers Square is scheduled for construction in 1970 and would be financed by revenue bonds.

The city's share of the $4 million renewal program — termed a "must" by all the planners who have viewed downtown — would be $1 million. An area on the south side of College Avenue west of Superior Street has been most mentioned as the logical site.

Work Remains

"It should be pointed out there is a considerable amount of work to be accomplished before entering into an urban renewal project," Drummond said. He said a workable program must be submitted and approved by federal agencies before requests for aid can be submitted.

"All of this takes a great amount of time and should be initiated as soon as possible if the progress associated with such a project is to be realized in the future," Drummond advised.

"Such a project could be started after the completion of College Avenue and have a tremendous promotional effect on the entire downtown," he added.

The target year for construction of a Soldiers Square mall is 1970. It would be the specialty center in the overall central business district plan, complete with a new parking ramp.

Tax Increases

On the basis of the financial procedure to be followed in implementing the six-year, $32 million improvement program, the tax rate increases required over the present rate would be: $1.55 in 1966, $2.77 in 1967, $3.22 in 1968, $3.77 in 1969, $3.60 in 1970 and $3.50 in 1971.

Additional projects that should be completed in the next 10 years concerned underground utility construction, renovating major streets, construction of a new city hall, municipal incinerator, city home, auditorium - convention center, more parking facilities in the central business district, additional malls, plus two elementary and another junior high school.

U. S. Troops Kill 92 Reds

During the rescue, two U.S. dive bombers shot up a North Vietnamese sampan that was heading for the downed man and firing machine guns at him. Huggins was reported in good condition.

Huggins was on a photo-reconnaissance mission over three SAM launching sites which U.S. planes attacked Sunday. Pilots after the strikes said they left one site in ruins, knocked the two others out of action and destroyed a key highway bridge in the area. Small arms fire brought down a Navy jet during the raid, and the pilot was presumed captured after bailing out.

Gift Packages

A U.S. C130 Hercules dropped 5,000 gift packages and 25,000 newspapers over a 90-mile stretch along the North Vietnamese coast south of the city of Vinh. The packages contained cloth, plastics, needles, thread, notebooks, towels and undershirts.

It was the largest such drop of household goods so far and was made in connection with the observance Monday of South Viet Nam's national holiday, the second anniversary of the overthrow and assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

U.S. B52s from Guam bombed a Viet Cong stronghold in the Boi Loi forest 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

Results of the raid were not reported.

A spokesman said U.S. and Vietnamese planes destroyed or damaged nearly 500 Viet Cong structures in other raids. In one of the heaviest, a flight of F100 Supersabres smashed a communications center in the Mekong Delta 75 miles south of Saigon, the spokesman said.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's office announced that Ky would leave next Monday on a state visit of two or three days to South Korea. Since taking office in June, he has visited Formosa, Thailand and Malaysia and urged an anti-Communist alliance of Asian nations.

Cool Air Breaks Heat Wave, Smog In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Californians, blinded by a week of heavy smog, now can barely see for all that light.

For four days last week, the smog was so heavy that smog alerts were declared — meaning that, if conditions worsened, industry could be shut down and traffic could be curtailed.

The Weather Bureau said nearly two weeks of 90-plus temperatures made October the second hottest on record, with an average daily minimum of 73.1. The warmest October on record was in 1958, when the daily average high was 74.

Although temperatures have dipped, the smog is not entirely gone. Moderate eye irritation was predicted for today, with temperatures ranging from a high of 78 to a low of 56.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Peter Steitz is only 11, his rank is still a tenderfoot — but he got a mighty big serial number today.

Peter, a member of St. Bartholomew's Boy Scout Troop 177, was listed by the Boy Scouts of America as the 40 millionth boy to join the scouting movement since it began in this country on Feb. 8, 1910.

East Is Cold, West Is Hot

Twain Doesn't Meet In Midwest, Where Temperatures Drop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing temperatures and some snow hit in the Eastern third of the country today, but much of the Western two-thirds had balmy temperatures.

Temperatures soared to record highs Monday in cities from Oregon to Nebraska.

Minnemucca, Nev., had 75, equaling the record for the date. Pocatello, Idaho, had a 71, matching a record, and Casper, Wyo., recorded a 71, the highest ever for the city on Nov. 1.

In Pendleton, Ore., and Scottsbluff, Neb., record 74s were posted.

Record Heat

Snow flurries fell through the eastern Great Lakes and the New England hills.

Connecticut received its first widespread snow of the season Monday night. Flurries fell over most of the state, but in Norfolk — Connecticut's traditional icebox — two inches accumulated.

Temperatures plunged into the 20s early Monday night through much of the Northeast and freezing weather moved into the Carolinas. The Midwest had a combination of the two extremes.

Plunges to 20s

Falling leaves, frost-killed vegetation and lack of rainfall have raised the danger of forest fires in Tennessee. There is no appreciable rainfall in sight before the weekend.

Early morning readings ranged from 19 at Montpelier, Vt., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Rogers

18-Year-Old Son Of Western Stars Chokes to Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Western entertainers Roy Rogers and Dale Evans have been notified that their adopted son, Pfc John David (Sandy) Rogers, died Sunday in a U.S. Army dispensary at Frankfurt, Germany.

A spokesman for the couple said John, 18, became ill after dining with friends Saturday evening and later choked to death during a vomiting spasm.

He was the third Rogers' child to die. Roy and Dale in 1952 lost a 2-year-old daughter born to them, Robin Elizabeth, of complications following mumps. Last year another daughter, Debbie, 12, a Korean orphan they adopted in 1955, died in a bus crash.

The couple now live in Apple Valley, Calif., where they operate an inn. They have six other children, ranging in age from 13 to 22.

Television Personality In Critical Condition After Fall From House

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television and newspaper personality Tom Duggan, 49, remains in serious condition after a fall in which he suffered extensive head injuries, a hospital spokesman said.

Klansmen Had Arsenal, Says HUAC Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Georgia police chief testified today he arrested five Ku Klux Klansmen after a cross burning and found an arsenal in their auto.

Chief Leo Blackwell, 53, Griffin, Ga., told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that the incident occurred Apr. 24, 1964.

The committee was looking also into the activities of Nacirema, Inc., which investigator Philip Manuel described as a Klan offshoot for those who wanted "more violent action." The word is a reverse spelling of American.

Witnesses refused Monday to answer any committee questions about Nacirema, schools on how to handle explosives, or parties at a klavern headquarters near Atlanta. The parties led to the arrest of five Klans-

Negro Won't Be Extradited To Alabama

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A Negro youth whom a judge refused to extradite to Alabama will be allowed to remain here, his attorney said Monday.

The attorney, Milton Bordow, confirmed a telephoned statement by Montgomery County (Ala.) Circuit Solicitor David Crosland that the youth would plead guilty to a misdemeanor embezzlement charge and return $120 taken from a Montgomery druggist.

Albert Robinson, 20, told Milwaukee County Judge Christ T. Seraphim last week he took the money because the druggist owed him three weeks pay. Seraphim appointed Bordow to represent the youth and said, "I don't know what would happen to a Negro boy if he were returned to (Gov.) George Wallace's Alabama."

Crosland said the youth would pay a court fine and costs totaling $26 on the embezzlement charge. He said it would have cost $400 to carry out extradition proceedings.

The Milwaukee Sentinel said Crosland added Wisconsin was welcome to keep persons charged with criminal violations. "If Judge Seraphim wants any more ... we'll ship them up to him C.O.D.," Crosland was quoted as saying.

Knowles Thanks Supporters of Housing Measure

MANITOWOC (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles gave a pat on the back Monday to bipartisan supporters of the Senate-passed open housing bill.

"There was a great deal of soul-searching on the part of the bill's supporters and its opponents, and by members of both parties," the governor told a meeting of Manitowoc Republicans.

"Partisan considerations were set aside, as they were during consideration of my recommendations on higher education, and the best interests of all the people of Wisconsin were served."

The housing bill, which would prohibit discrimination in the sale, rental of financing of homes or apartments, was passed Saturday by the Senate.

Waukesha Newspaper Appeal

Not All Public Papers Accessible, Court Rules

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled today that the right to inspect public documents and records is not absolute.

The decision reversed a ruling by Circuit Judge Clair H. Voss of Waukesha County, who last January ordered the Waukesha city attorney to open for public inspection an investigation report of alleged police brutality.

The Waukesha Freeman brought the court action and in the city's appeal to the high court was joined by the Milwaukee Journal company.

The Freeman argued that the report should be made public because the investigation was financed with public funds.

In a unanimous decision written by Chief Justice George Currie, the Supreme Court said that a "proper determination as to whether inspection should be granted" had not been made.

"Public Interest"

"There may be situations where the harm done to the public interest may outweigh right of a member of the public to have access to particular public records or documents," the court said.

"Thus, the one must be balanced against the other."

The Supreme Court said it was the duty of the public officer in charge of public reports to make the determination.

"If he determines," the court said, "that permitting inspection would result in harm to the public interest which outweighs any benefit that would result from granting inspection, it is incumbent upon him to refuse the demand and state specifically the reason for his refusal."

Waukesha City Attorney John P. Buckley prepared the contested report in the summer of 1963 after an investigation into charges of brutality and irregularities by the Waukesha police department.

Report Limited

Buckley submitted copies of his 257-page report to Mayor Harold T. Owens and the police chief. He also permitted fire and police commissioners and city aldermen to read it but refused access to anyone else.

Henry A. Youmans, publisher of the Waukesha Freeman, brought a mandamus action against Owens after the mayor refused the newspaper permission to examine a copy of the report.

The Supreme Court noted that city officials had not given "a valid reason" for refusing the examination.

The high court referred the case to the Circuit Court for for what it called a "proper determination as to whether inspection should be granted under the guidelines herein laid down."

Nov. 10 Latest For Yule Box For Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless they're traveling by air, Christmas packages headed overseas should be mailed no later than Nov. 10.

Within the United States, postal officials recommended mailing no later than Dec. 5 for parcels intended for distant states, Dec. 14 for those being mailed locally or to nearby states.

Christmas cards being mailed great distances should be mailed by Dec. 10, while those being sent locally should go by Dec. 15.

The Post Office Department is recommending this year that all parcels contain a card with the names and addresses of both sender and addressee. This precaution will ensure that parcels that lose their wrappers can still reach their destination upon being inspected in the dead-parcel office.

Change in Social Security Law Allows Payments at 60

BY FRANK M. DONNICK
Social Security District Manager

Many Appleton area widows will be directly affected by one of the changes made in the social security law this year.

The new provision allows a widow, if she wishes, to start getting monthly benefits beginning when she is 60. Up to now, a widow had to be 62 before she could start getting monthly payments, unless she had in her care a child of her deceased husband eligible for child's insurance benefits.

If a woman decides to start her benefits at age 60, she will receive a smaller monthly benefit than if she waited until she was 62, because she will be getting monthly payments over a longer period.

As an example of how the new provision works, let us take the case of a widow whose husband would have received a retirement benefit of $106. She will receive $87.50 a month if she decides to wait until she is 62. If she wants to start getting benefits when she is 60, her monthly payment will be $75.90. If she waits until she is 61, she will get $81.70 a month.

Once a widow receives a reduced benefit payment, she will always get a reduced payment. This will be true even if she later becomes eligible to receive payment based on her own earnings.

If anyone has a question about his rights or responsibilities under social security, he should not hesitate to write or phone the Appleton district office, 401 S. Elm St. the telephone number is RE 4-8793.

City's State Tax Share $1,250 Less

Appleton will receive about $1,250 less than its expected income tax shares from the state this fall as result of allocation errors involving a J. C. Penney Co. acquisition.

The state deppartment of taxation informed city officials today that 50 municipalities would have readjustments arising out of the firm's purchase of General Merchandising Co.

City Employes To Receive Flu Immunization

Appleton's municipal employes will participate in a mass flu immunization clinic at the city hall Thursday afternoon.

Dr. James Laird, city health commissioner, said all employes were being encouraged to get shots.

"The vaccine will be administered in smaller doses than normally recommended," Dr. Laird said, "so as to reduce the possibility of any reactions to the recipient."

He said anyone allergic to egg serum will not be administered the vaccine. Appleton has between 350 and 400 city employes, not including those on the public school system payroll.

Big Talk, but No Issues in Voting Today

Outcome Probably Won't Show Whether GOP Can Recover

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's off-year elections for the most part, dull, and particularly in the governorship races in New Jersey and Virginia. The New York City mayoralty race is a little perkier.

In all three big talk but few real issues. The outcome isn't likely to show whether the Republicans can bounce back from their 1964 catastrophe with Barry Goldwater.

Still, there's an echo of Goldwater conservatism in New York and Virginia where Conservative party candidates are running without any hope of winning. Their only aim seems to be a show of force.

In New York, where the Democrats have run the city two decades but got all split up in choosing Abraham D. Beame as their candidate, the Liberal-Republican candidate, Rep. John V. Lindsay, didn't even make a purely Republican try.

'Non-Partisan' Campaign

With a Liberal and Democrat as running mates, the lively, Yale-bred Lindsay has been making a "non-partisan" campaign against Beame, an accountant who rose through Democratic ranks to be city comptroller.

On issues there's little to choose between them. The third candidate in this contest, also Yale-bred, is the very conservative William F. Buckley Jr., author and publisher, whose role has been more heckler than candidate.

From the start he didn't have illusions about winning. If he did win, he said, he'd ask for a recount. He has concentrated upon picking on Lindsay who refused to back Goldwater last year.

Conservative Power

If the Lindsay-Beame contest is close, the votes one or the other loses to Buckley may make the difference, thus giving the Conservative group the balance of power and hope for more of the same in future races.

If the active, hand-shaking Lindsay wins it will probably be more of a triumph of personality than support for Republicanism.

President Johnson backed Beame last week but he delayed his blessing so long he gave the impression of wondering whether he ought to.

In New Jersey the candidates are really at a loss for ideas.

There, where Gov. Richard J. Hughes, Democrat, is seeking re-election over Republican State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., the principal issue has been a college professor and Democrats expect a landslide.

Dumont made a big thing of attacking Rutgers University's Prof. Eugene D. Genovese, who said last spring he welcomes a Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. Dumont wants him fired. But Hughes, while disagreeing with Genovese, says firing him would violate academic freedom. Rutgers is a state university.

Virginia Complacent

The Republican candidate, whose party hasn't won the governorship since 1886, is A. Linwood Holton. In Virginia both parties seem tired and complacent but the Democrats have a machine and the Republicans don't.

Even more conservative than Godwin and Holton, William J. Story of the Conservative party has been making his main pitch at the national government. He talked of freeing Virginia from dependency on Washington and made no predictions about winning.

In their final campaign statements Godwin cited the virtues of experience in elective office and Holton called for a fresh approach. And if that doesn't sound tired out, what does?

Clarinetist Featured in Recital Event

Pamela Sabol, Lawrence Conservatory junior clarinetist, will be the featured performer on a program on instrumental music planned for 2:30 p.m. Friday in Harper Hall, Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Miss Sabol, Cobbleskill, N. Y., is from the studio of Dan C. Sparks, assistant professor of music. She will be heard in the Sonata for Clarinet and Piano (1939) by Paul Hindemith, and the Concerto for Clarinet by Aaron Copland.

Assisting on the program are flutists Cathy Gehrke, Ripon, and Linda Neau, Kenosha, both freshmen, and accompanists Rudolph Matas, teaching specialist in music, and Alice Haselden, Evanston, Ill., a senior.

Bach, Ibert

Miss Gehrke will play the Sonata in C Major, by J. S. Bach, and Miss Neau will be heard in Piece pour Flute seule, by Jacques Ibert.

Miss Sabol has been a member of the Lawrence Wind Ensemble and Symphony Orchestra since entering college. As a freshman she also played with the Little Symphony.

In the past two years she has assisted three Lawrence upperclassmen on their recitals, and has appeared on a number of general student programs.

She has been named to the school's Deans' list four times in the last six academic terms. She currently is president of the Lawrence People-to-People organization. During her first two years at college she was president of a Christian Science student group. She is serving as campus membership chairman of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's professional music sorority.

Oleo Fight Mostly Psychological; Not Much at Stake Economicaly

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The most penetrating observation on the perennial issue of repealing the state's anti-oleo laws, which has brought about geysers of oratory in the legislature, was probably made by Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Clark County.

Nikolay is the leader of the Assembly Democratic majority, which is mostly consumer oriented and conscious of the urban pressures on the subject. But he is also a representative of a rural district in which farmers remain a powerful force in elections and has given his own vote to the supporters of the embargo against margarine.

The farmer is no longer persuaded that the oleo issue is of direct or measurable economic importance to himself, said the Democratic leader. What is involved is a psychological question. The farmer sees the legislature doing very little for him today, as contrasted with earlier times, and taking some actions hostile to his local interests. The pressure for the repeal of the margarine tax and other restrictions upon the sale of a dairy food substitute is the final aggravation, as Nikolay explained it, and as a consequence the milk producer is adamant on the question.

Ed Johnson, the vigilant agent of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities on the sidelines of the Wisconsin legislature, got some chuckles from a friendly audience when he protested at a hearing the idea of diverting from the state highway fund the money represented in unrefunded motor fuel taxes paid by boat owners.

If such an act is adopted by the legislature, he suggested tartly, somebody should ask for the appropriation of the equivalent of unrefunded taxes paid on account of powered lawn-mowers to finance a fund for crab-grass research.

The preliminary speculation that the complete removal of the University of Wisconsin Medical School and hospital complex to a new and more convenient location west of the campus would cost $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 is probably conservative. One informed guess is that it may run into $100,000,000 in expenditure, which is one of the reasons why it will probably remain a hope rather than a practical plan, in the present condition of the state treasury and the present political attitude toward state bonding.

Nothing has upset the internal administration of the state Conservation Department quite as much in years as the Supreme Court decision challenging the procedure used recently for the selection of a new chief of its law enforcement section.

All of the aspirants for the top enforcement job were veteran subordinate employes of the department. The Supreme Court has now told them, in effect, that they lost in an illegal examination. Meanwhile Walter Zellezke, the man who got the job, has been told that he must undergo a new examination, with the possibility of changed results. All of which is not helpful for morale in the key enforcement division, according to some close observers.

The Wisconsin Judicial Council is organizing a comprehensive study on Wisconsin criminal court procedure, hoping that it may get some financial support from outside sources. A special committee of specialists is being formed to handle it.

The council, meanwhile, continues to show a more conservative attitude toward demands for new local courts than does the legislature to which its advice is directed. Most observers believe the legislature would be less eager to accept the proposals of local lawyer groups if there were not so many lawyers in the legislature and in so many of the key legislative leadership positions.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, one of the champions of outdoor recreation and nature's delights, will soon suit action to the word and buy a sylvan retreat for his family in a remote section of upper Wisconsin. He is negotiating for a woodland tract upon which he hopes to build a vacation cottage. Nelson grew up in rural Polk County, but spent most of his adult life in Madison.

The early announcement by Jack Olson, the former lieutenant governor, of the appointment of some widely-known Republican figures as his financial committee helpers in preparation for his new campaign for the office next year is being read in several ways. It may mean that he intends to run for the Republican nomination even if he loses the endorsement of the Republican state convention. Or it may mean that he expects a rival for the nomination in the primary if he gets the endorsement. A third possibility is that he expects a hard fight from a Democratic rival and intends to make an early canvass for funds, realizing that the competition for political fund-raising next year will be more fierce than ever.

Wisconsin food distributor representatives, agents of the major coffee companies, and officials of the State Department of Agriculture met without publicity recently to discuss questions about the legality of some of the current coffee pricing and sales promotions under the state fair trade laws. A stricter enforcement effort is likely, the trade was told.

* * *

The Wisconsin County Boards Association has notified legislators of its intention to push for a change in the state law which limits state aid grants to counties for the purchase and development of recreational lands to those counties with 90,000 population or more. It wants more counties eligible for such assistance under the Outdoors Recreation Act.

Gabriel to Lure Philatelists To Silver Bell

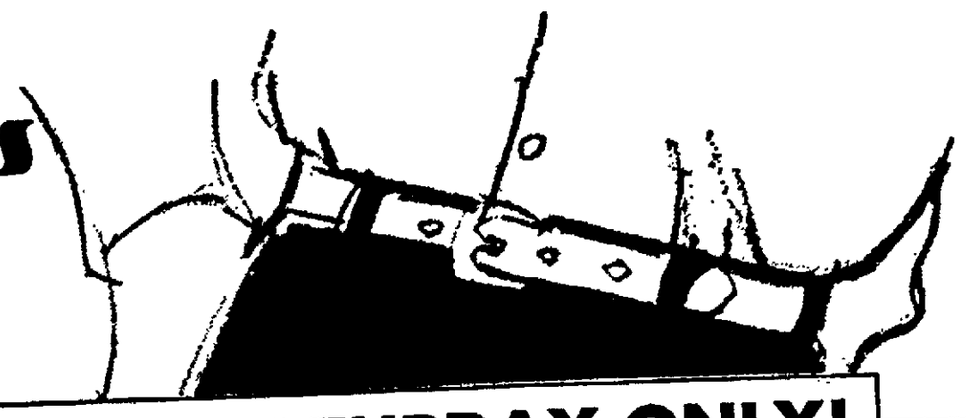

SILVER BELL, Ariz. (AP) — Stamp collectors are expected to throng tiny Silver Bell today for the first issues of the 1965 Christmas stamp.

Normally, a single postal employe staffs the Silver Bell post office. Today 50 extra postal clerks will handle the flood of requests which have been received.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here Is a New Game to Play With Inflated Toy Balloons

BY CAPPY DICK

Here is a game that can be played by five or more players. It requires no equipment except some inflated toy balloons and a rope for a dividing line or net. It can be played on the grassy

Keep them flying

If the scene is your yard, an old blanket may be thrown over a clothesline for the net. In the park a rope may be tied between two trees. Still another way is to lay the rope on the ground, or draw a chalk line on a concrete play area and let that serve as the dividing line of the game court.

Equal Number

There must be an equal number of players on the two teams. An extra person, with pencil and paper, is needed to serve as the scorekeeper who stands at the net or rope so he can see exactly what happens as the game is played.

After the toy balloons have been inflated and tied, the scorekeeper tosses them into the air, one at a time. The players immediately bat the balloons with their hands, aiming to get them over the net or dividing line into the opposing teams territory.

Whenever a balloon touches the ground, 16 points are charged against the team on that side of the court. When one team has 100 points charged against it, it loses the game and the other side, having less points against it, is the winner.

The more balloons that are used, the more fun the game is. Wednesday: Word-Square puzzle contest! Prizes to win!

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

The 35-year-old. A recent report finds that fully 82 per cent of our elderly families owe no installment debts. This contrasts with less than half of all families under the age of 55. In general, the younger the man, the more likely he is to be in debt. Less than one in five of our 65-plus families owe mortgage money, for instance, in comparison with one in two of all home-owning, younger families in the U.S.A.

Mothers work in order to escape their family responsibilities.

True—— False——

False. It is not possible for a mother to run away from her family's need of her. When she gets a job, she continues to be concerned about their welfare. A recent study finds most of them plagued with "the guilt complex of a working mother." They worry about being away when a child is sick. They worry about leaving their children with baby sitters. They find the most difficult thing to bear is "not being there when your children are growing up." Studies show that most mothers work to help their children have the good life — otherwise they couldn't stand the strain.

'Spare the rod. . .' How does this apply today? Are you puzzled about disciplining your child? If so, send for the valuable booklet, "How to Discipline Your Children." In it, you'll find helpful advice to aid you when disciplinary action is necessary in your household. Send 25 cents, along with your name and address (including ZIP Code) to: "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of The Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis., 54910.

Jingo Finds News Area Coverage Is Overdone

Space Program, President's Operation Examples of Too Much Too Often

BY JINGO

The coverage of news and sporting events is about the only a pect of television that is handled adequately, in fact, sometimes it is overdone

The first three installments of this six-part series of "The State of Television" looked at the weak and strong of TV series and the situation of local stations This article will deal mainly with special news coverage, rather than the daily news programs, which are handled well

The coverage of special events entered a new frontier when the United States began its manned space flight program

Previously, network newscasters rarely had to work overtime on the air except for the political conventions every four years. With the advent of the Mercury Program, however, ultra-comprehensive coverage bordering on the ridiculous began.

At first it was like a child with a new toy, playing with it at every opportunity Unlike a child, who usually gets tired of the toy before long, the networks played with it more and more as time passed

Produces Groans

It has now reached the point where an upcoming space flight strikes fear in the hearts of loyal television viewers

All they have to look forward to are countless hours of Gemini, Gemini, Gemini — with coverage ranging from live pictures of the launch (and that's the only part of the flight anyone can see) to interviews with the often ill-at-ease astronauts' families to highly-technical explanations of what is happening, complete with expensive full-scale models of the space capsule. This scientific shop talk, to top it off, is not understood by one in a thousand.

It seems to Jingo, who is as hopeful as anyone that our space program succeeds, that this coverage should be cut drastically After all, the viewing public should have an opportunity to choose what it wants to watch, especially when one considers that the event will be covered at length in the newspapers and magazines

Who Cares?

Much less tedious would be an hour of coverage at the launch and five-minute reports each hour. This would give viewers the news they want and yet would not restrict their TV watching for considerable periods of several days.

The space program is not the only aspect of news coverage overdone When Pope Paul VI visited New York, the poor newscasters were not even allowed a minute off every now and then to answer the call of nature

Too Much

Jingo is of the opinion that when we are treated at our dinner tables to pictures of President Johnson's gall bladder and films of his operation scar the situation is out of hand

Sports coverage, on the other hand, has taken a turn for the better. Sports fans are given plenty of chances to see baseball, football and basketball games and quality shows such as "Wide World of Sports," but the days when nothing but sports could be found on the various channels each weekend have ended. Sports is now given adequate, but not overdone, coverage News events, on the other hand, often leave viewers exhausted.

'F Troop' Has Amusing Show on ABC

BY TV SCOUT

8 8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — F Troop, one of the few comedy surprises of the year, has an especially amusing episode with Old Ironpants " After a brief schoolin' session, Captain Parmenter (Ken Berry) returns to Fort Courage a much different and meaner officer, aghast that he commands a ragged group of soldiers who can't even shoot a cannon When there are threats of sending them all to the firing squad, Sergeant O'Rourke again enlists Wild Eagle and his Indian braves to stage a $20 warpath, with lots of "war paint, yelling and screaming " There is also some funny business about "mail order brides" — beauties who look like Marjorie Main

6 30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Combat's war-weary Sergeant Saunders growls a little bit too loud and certainly too much to turn "Crossfire" into anything more than a routine episode on how to keep a hero in his place He is out to court martial a much honored private (Don Gordon), who (he thinks) goes after medals by endangering his fellow soldiers

8 10 — Channels 4-5 — 'Little Boy Lost" on Tuesday Night at the Movies packs plenty of sentiment into a slim tale starring Bing Crosby in a heavy dramatic role Refusing to believe his wife has been executed by the Nazis he sets out to find his son whom he hasn't seen in years A 1953 Paramount release

9 9 30 — Channel 2 — Time-bomb in Rhodesia a CBS News special report, is a timely look at one of the British Commonwealth's latest threats Charles Collingwood and Frank Kearns report on Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian D Smith's threat to declare his country an independent nation — one in which 220 000 whites would rule over 4 million blacks
